For some time the senior class of an high school have been preparing for an entertainment and social set for the date for Thursday May 30, but owing to the rain it was postponed till Monday night when a large audience attended.

The first on the program was music followed by essays and declamations by Addie Houghton, Retta Bloomberg, Millie Cooper, Daisy Sibbey, Sara Matheson and a reading by Eliza Cooper.

The dialogue by Winna Adams and Nettie Beattie and the singing by the choir were also very good.

After the literary exercises were ended the crowd turned themselves loose and had a good time on skates and cakes and motes of the class printed on shingles decorated the hall.

The grab bag and postoffice afforded no little amusement to the audience.

Preparations for memorial day had been successful, but the rain made it necessary to cancel the whole program.

Subscriptions by the business men and citizens were liberal and sufficient had been paid in to pay for the flags before the occasion.

There are about 100 flags beside one large flag and staff for the standard bearers to be carried at the head of the marching column.

It is our sacred duty to honor the memory of those fallen comrades and the citizens of this locality to unite their patriotism to hold their memory dear.

Over a quarter of a century ago this nation was torn by the civil war.

On Wednesday next week the Michigan monuments will be dedicated.

It is the request of the formal committee that you bring together and arrange them in bouquets, or as you prefer, carefully pack them in a box as they will not be shaken about, and direct them to G. B. Curtis, Detroit, Mich., Write on the box, "Flowers for Gettysburg, from —" Please put your name on the express card if you will surely arrive in Detroit by 6 o'clock on next Monday morning. Has anyone a much earlier in person? They can be sent in on Saturday evening or early Monday morning, if preferable.
