Why Should Go to Montana?
Green River section. Because 10,000,000 acres of free government land, with original title and equal suit for farming and stock raising, have just been opened to the homeseeker, in the Milk River Valley and near Boston and Great Falls.
Best grazing. Because the favorable climate and superior grasses of Montana make it the most natural home of herds of cattle and other domestic animals, and because winter feeding is not required, as stock ranges at large intervals, because the water is pure and of a quality for the production of fine beef and mutton.
Mining. Because Montana produces more of the products of metals than any other state or territory in the world, and because the great natural wealth of Montana is in her minerals.
Government. Because a rich soil and abundant water power are to be had in every part of the state, and because the government is not required to engage in business.
Manufacturers. Because the 120,000,000 acres of water power at Great Falls and the extensive coal veins, the wood, mineral and grain raising resources of Montana offer exceptional opportunities for the manufacture of iron, steel and other products.
Townships. Because the towns of the Green River section, the finest of the territory, the Great Falls and Continental Divide offer the most beautiful and diversified country to be found in the Northwest.
Travel. By the St. P., M. & N., and the Northern Pacific, the best of the world's great bodies of free land left for settlement. Because it reaches the Great Falls, with the largest water power in the Northwest, the most extensive body of free land left for settlement.
