We regret to announce that owing to his continued ill health Mr. S. V. O. Trowbridge has resigned his office of attorney general of the state of Michigan. Now then, relieved of all official care and responsibility, and living a farmer's life, we predict for Steve his former good and happy activity.

Don't forget the last of the National ball to-night. It is the last one of the season and should be patronized by all, both young and old. The ball has been placed at the end of health love and happiness. The gathering was in honor of the 17th anniversary of their wedding day and a beautiful antique oak chair was presented to the couple.

We received a brief call on Saturday from Mr. Bell of Southfield, who has been ill nearly all winter. The bluff, hearty man is sadly deficient, and his face shows the effects of his long sickness, but we are in hopes that the balmy zephyrs of a warm spring will bring him around again all right.

We neglected last week, in our account of the Simons-Worth musical, to mention the instrumental piece performed by Miss Lottie Hall, one of our leading pupils of the professor, who, when the short time she has taken lessons is considered, proves a rapid learner and who really shows the art of fingering.

What makes Birmingham so attractive to Detroit people? One thing is ever mentioned—it's trees and its shade. If you want to make your place agreeable and attractive, plant some trees. No one is too poor for this, and you want help the village improvement society are ready to help you. You have only to make your wants known to the boys and girls.

And still they come! Having sold my farm I will sell on the premises 2 1/2 miles south and one mile east of Birmingham, near the first church on Friday April 4, 1890, to the school m. s. 1, brood sows, a fine lot of farming tools, all plow, hay, etc. Of course Martin Blunt will be the judge. Sam Martin the clerk and Wm. White is promoter.

Mrs. Eliza Keyes has received the sad news of the sudden death of her nephew, Jerry W. Walton, at Peabody, Kas. He was crossing a small creek with a horse and buggy, and as he fell, he is supposed to have fallen into the water, and being stunned by the post striking him, he was drowned in the shallow water before recovering consciousness, where he was found a short time afterwards by the hired man. He was a highly respected citizen and his death is deeply mourned by the community in which he lived.

Good news of the sale of the Rev. Thomas Middlemiss place on Maple avenue to Rev. Mr. Orr, the U. P. minister, for an even $2000. We are glad to have Mr. Orr buy a home in our midst, and this shows that property is worth more with the waterworks than without them. For Mr. Orr would not have purchased here but for the coming waterworks.

One evening last week the Detroit Evening News contained a cartoon of Hon. T. W. Palmer, illustrating in a most forcible manner the gubernatorial ambition of the shortly to be elected governor of Michigan. The picture is worthy material of Spain. The picture is the creation of Waseley Paint of the village, and gives evidence of an artistic genius and a sense of humor. There was a master stroke of the same peculiar talent that made those Nast world famous.

Five hundred children will slug on the afternoon and evening of the opening day (April 22) of the Detroit Floral and Musical Show. These children are being trained by Mrs. Emma A. Thomas, director of music for the Detroit public schools. The songs will be from popular operas and the national airs of various countries. Columbia will be the opening number of 500 little flags, and everybody will have an opportunity to sing with the choir.

We all remember Bert Collier. What a bright, gentlemanly little boy he was! He moved away from here with his parents some three years ago, apparently to meet his death, as he seemed to be faded from time before the children got to see him. He died of the measles by the bursting of a gun, and for days his life hung in the balance, but he finally recovered. One day last week after a long absence he was seen to move in from here. Bert went into a room of a circular saw and his head and shoulders were severed from his body. It is a sad story to the family who have the heartfelt sympathy of all their Birmingham relatives and friends.

Serling's Magazine for April has for its frontispiece an admirable engraving of a traveling circus. The engraving is by the English artist, J. R. Wagon, to illustrate an article of Horace (L. I.). Other Horatian odds will be illustrated by the same artist in succeeding numbers of the magazine. The engraving is a notable series on "The Rights of Citizens" the last of the electric series (begun in June, 1889), on the railway of Jagan, an unconventional article of travel, and the journey across the Syrian desert; the sword and scolding papers on Charles Lamb's house and haunts; the end of Octave Thane's four-part story of Arkansas, and a number of other articles which should be perused by the general public.

party one evening last week. The surprise was complete, even Pinder was somewhat overcome when he went home after his day's work and found his house occupied by a hilarious crew; even Cutie was affected. In a short time the lively managers, Mrs. N. Camp and Miss Mand Rainey, had a table full of good things to eat and all in due time enjoyed themselves hugely. Music and social conversation passed the time away rapidly, and soon all left wishing the good couple a continuation of health love and happiness. The gathering was in honor of the 17th anniversary of their wedding day and a beautiful antique oak chair was presented to the couple.

On Wednesday the Presbytery met and after reading communications and reports from committees, Rev. A. H. Orr presented a fraternal certificate of dismission from the Presbytery of Manassah to the Detroit Presbytery. Mr. Orr was received and his name was added to the roll of the Presbytery.
