KEWYCK has many curious laws and one of them is a law providing for the carrying of a "spoon-pick," in the shape of a bottle of whisky, to church.

German elders are so accustomed to be treated with respect and honor, that they usually accept their share of imperial distaffs without protest or complaint.

MULTITUDE in the east believe the west give up wholly to the pursuit of money and defend in the culture and refinement of long organized and intelligent communities.

A HOTEL in the American sense, a great exchange where everybody meets and where the traveler comes and goes with entire freedom, rarely exists upon the other side.

That sweet and modest domestic pet, the parrot, will find it necessary to curb its appetite, now that a cracker trade has been formed, and it will be obliged to come down to eat cheap Kansas corn, which is the cheapest food on the market.

Dr. BROWN-SQUARD is going right along with his ether theory and is proving it by certain things that he will do nobody else. He says that a man will live with 100 years when a tonic which he uses will give him a rest from 150 to 200 years of active life.

FURNACE not eternally, but so long as there is an earth, so long as there is a human race, and so long as there are human souls, the secret of nature, the secret of the universe, the secret of the pure love of investigation and discovery abstract truths that shall benefit humanity.

The Dutch paid the Indian $2 for Michigan. The Dutch played pickney with poor Lou upon the battery and won back the money, does not impair the commercial integrity of the transaction. The money was only an object lesson to the savage upon the lines of gambling.

The coal mined each year in the United States represents in actual work more than 100 million man-hours of the total population of the world, assuming all to be strong men. Thus the substitution of a few tons of coal for power increases the total productive capacity of the human race.

A Boston man brings forward sixty-four jury decisions which were against law, equity, fact and common sense, and argues that had each case been left to the judge's fair and honest discretion, the result would have been different. He claims that the jury system is a nuisance in a word, but he is just as apt to be a crank.

It is an old saying that charity begins at home; but this is no reason why it should not go abroad. A man who moves with the world as a citizen of the world, he may have a preference for the particular quarter, or square, or street, or which he lives in, but he should have a generous feeling for the welfare of the world.

The multiplication of books about America, of essays about American republicanism, has become most numerous. Some of these books are written by men who know nothing about America, or Americans, or continents, and it will continue until the novelty of this continuing to be inebriated by words. Of these books and critical essays of the lightest sort do harm.

The war cloud which appears periodically in Europe and is viewed with apprehension by leading powers, such as France, Germany, Russia, Austria and Italy, has no terrors for the Spanish people. Spain is practically immune from the war, and she has the smallest standing army of any prominent European government.

The people are proverbially slow to act, especially an agricultural people. Farmers have neither time nor inclination to be interested in every word of politics, and consequently they are prone to lose for their own good. The management of public affairs over to the hands of professional wire-pullers of the cities and towns.

The most extensive, if not the most oppressive monopoly in the United States is the one which is controlled by the man Palace Car Company. Every person who travels is obliged to pay to the Palace Car Company, and the company on the continent has by some means been obliged to accept its terms. A carefully written history of this giant monopoly, its origin and progress would furnish some very interesting reading.

The Chicago Inter Ocean remarks that the song birds of the country are disappearing wherever the English sparrow has been introduced. It is further stated that these chattering billigent importations from John Bull's dominion do not destroy insects in the way that the native birds do. If the English sparrow does anything for a living, but fight and screech his half hour, he has done his duty, and has over reported that.

There seems to be no way of hanging a man without the possibility of awarding himself. With the gallows, the rope break gets misplaced, and the man hangs by the neck. The gallows is not a safe device, and the man who hangs himself is not a safe device.
