CHICAGO'S BIG SHOW.

As seen by J. Van der Kolk on his recent visit to the Windy City. About six weeks ago when Whitey and 'Yours truly' visited the World's Fair, we honestly intended to write it up and give our readers the benefit of our experience, but after justifying 'getting' for a week or so we just put up our little white hand feeling like the man who tried to follow out his lawyer's advice, couldn't, and returning said, 'Lawyer, it can't be did. That's the case, and we can read all the newspaper and magazine articles, illustrated or not, patiently peruse all guides to be had, search all avenues of information, think they know it all, build their imagination as high as they dare, compare the grounds and you are just amazed at the grand, enormous vastness of the gigantic enterprise, which shows that Chicago has proved faithful and true with it, and it will not be at all that gladdens the visitor's heart beyond description. The first question is returned by this building alone $224,000. It's in three pieces the main building being 355,160 feet and two annexes each 135 feet wide, 140 feet high, and 100 feet long with pillars. The live fish display both and fresh water is out of sight and I think with a spear or even live and look that I could beat Jack Baldwin's, could beat him, I think. The Ward's record. The supply of sea water is secured by evaporating the original water at the ocean to one fifth its bulk and weight thus reducing cost of transportation. The water is then added back and the water is then added back. The water is then added back. The water is then added back.

THE MAN IS FOOLISH.
