AND AVENUE,

OBITUARY.

—Died of smallpox at his home
Clawson near Troy, Tuesday, Nov.
1894, Mr. Frank Bean, aged 19.
Perhaps no other young man in the city was more loved by his acquaintances than this young man who was killed in the early years and in a sad manner that all of his friends and fellows feel in deep sympathy for his bereaved relatives. He was popular in the social games of his neighborhood and was the second pitcher of the club to die this season. Asher

The day: "He was also a member of the K. O. T. M., had taken out a benefit but on account of not being satisfied his surviving relative will oblige."

The evening of his death he called others to his bedside and said he wanted to die and asked that she say he had been a good boy. He said he was buried asleep at night and his mother the fact, that they could tell his funeral.

A striking coincidence in this young man's death is that he and Aher were the two best ball players in line and the two that all the players best, and that they both died at 12 in the night ten weeks apart.

Surviving members of the afflicted have the heartfelt sympathy of their neighbors.
