1000 Meals for Five Cents

Each person eats on the average of 1,000 meals per year. Every poorly flavor these would require 50 pounds worth of Diamond Crystal Salt. This is a trifle greater than 5 cents per meal. Could you save most, but a cent would more than cover the difference and pay for the luxury of having

Diamond Crystal Salt

instead of the other kinds. Not the important thing about it is the finer flavor your food will have and the better appetite you'll have to receive when you use the salt that's all pure and "just right." Ask for DIAMOND CRYSTAL. If its hard not get it, write and you shall have some, investigate our dairy salt. Diamond Crystal Salt Co., St. Clair, Mich.

MARRIED THE FOUR SISTERS.

A Tennessean Divorced From Three But Now Happily Mated.

Living in the mountains near Murfreesboro, Tenn., says a correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, is a family which has a singular history in a matrimonial way. The father owns a little farm and four daughters, or did own the latter, who named Phillips, about fifteen years ago, married the eldest of these daughters, and after a few years of married life the lady ran away with the husband's sworn enemy. He procured a divorce from her and wooed the second sister and took her home, but the next day the woman turned up at home and said she wouldn't live with Phillips, and after a time succeeded in getting legally free from him. Then the third sister, undaunted by what had gone before, married the husband of her two sisters. Soon after this the fellow was sent to the penitentiary for an offense that kept him there three years, and when he came out he found that his wife's fickle fancy had strayed while he was absent and had fixed itself upon a neighbor, John Callahan. By law she was entitled to a divorce from her husband, as he was a convicted felon, so getting is she married her lover. In the meantime the first wife had found that the man with whom she had eloped would not marry her after Phillips had divorced her, and returned home. Then Mrs. Callahan wandered back to her father, for her husband No. 2 could not or would not support her. So in this way the old man had once more his four daughters on his hands, and Phillips was still free.

The youngest daughter was now about 18 and she also fell a victim to the fascination the villan Phillips appears to have exerted over them all at first, and becoming infatuated with him consented to marry him. Phillips went to the father for the fourth time to ask for a daughter's hand and was told that he might have her on condition that he kept her. Phillips promised, and the ceremony was to take place the following night, when the sweet, growing jealous, armed themselves and swore that the marriage should never take place. Then they left the town and swore out a warrant against the sisters, telling of their threats. The women were then sworn to keep the peace, but Phillips thought it prudent, however, to run away with his bride to Kentucky and marry her there. This time his matrimonial venture seems to have terminated happily, for he has three children and is prospering.

Why Hair Turns Gray.

Hundreds of queer theories have been advanced to account for the phenomenon of hair turning gray in the genus homo, the latest being this: Each hair is a hollow tube filled with granules of pigment and air bubbles. As old age approaches the pigment diminishes both in quantity and quality, the air bubbles enlarging and expanding to take the place formerly occupied by the coloring matter. The hair which is filled with these bubbles of air is for the same reason that the crystals of white sugar appear of that color, the phenomenon being due to the reflection and refraction of light. Why hair sometimes turns white in a single night" has never been explained. True, a microscopic examination of such hairs show that the granules of pigment have either been abolished or forced out by the air bubbles, but exactly how or why is a mystery.

Something New in the Moon.

Late photographs of the moon developed by the Paris photographer at the Pesth academy exhibit some unaccountable peculiarities. The plate shows hundreds of walls or embankments varying about 200 feet high and from 125 to 900 yards in width on top. They run parallel to each other and appear to be from 1,000 to 1,500 yards apart.

In Tennessee.

Tennessee produces annually 80,000,000 bushels of corn, 3,000,000 of wheat, 8,000,000 of oats and 350,000 bales of cotton. The tobacco crop has reached 40,000,000 pounds a year, the peanut crops 300,000 bushels. The coal fields cover 5,000 square miles and produce 2,000,000 tons a year. Over fifty different kinds of marble are found in the state.

PAY FOR RETIRED WARRIORS.

Military and Naval Officers Well Treated by the United States Government.

It costs Uncle Sam $1,000,000 a year to pension the naval officers who have grown old or who have become disabled in his service. Every officer of the army or navy who has been in the service a given number of years or who has become disabled from any cause, in or out of the line of duty, can, says the Detroit Free Press, retire from service with his assured income. This is one feature which makes service in the army or navy attractive. There is no other occupation, except that of federal judge, which makes provision for a man's declining years. There are sporadic cases of business men who provide for old employes. In these instances are rare, and the ordinary business man is expected to lay by something for his own rainy day. The officer in the army or navy knows that he can keep on drawing money from Uncle Sam until he dies provided he does not misbehave. He is working for fixed pay, goes a long way toward reconciling men to the ambitionless life of the service. Temptations are often put in the way of army and navy officers to resign and go into business. Positions with bankers and brokers, with railroads and shipbuilders are offered to them. They hesitate a long time before accepting, and usually they obtain, through the grace of the head of the department under which they are serving, a long leave of absence in which they can make a trial trip in the new business. They do not care to risk their standing in the service for anything uncertain. It was not for the retired list a great many officers would resign and enter upon some active pursuit.

The "half-pay" of a United States naval officer is usually three-quarters pay. The law provides that "the pay of all officers of the navy who have been retired after forty-five years of service, after reaching the age of 62, or who have been or may be retired after forty years' service upon their own application to the president, or on attaining the age of 62, or on account of incapacity resulting from long and faithful service, from wounds or injuries received in the line of duty or from sickness or exposure therein, shall, when not on the active list, be equal to seventy-five per cent of the sea pay provided for the grade or rank which they may at the time of their retirement." The sea pay of a rear admiral is $6,000 a year, of a commodore $5,000, of a captain $4,500, of a commander $3,500, of a lieutenant commander $2,800, according to the length of active service. Thus the pay of the retired rear admiral is $4,500 a year, of a commodore $3,750, of a captain $3,375, and so on. An income of $4,500 is a very neat sum to live on in idleness, even in Washington, and most of the retired officers of the navy make their home in Washington. The number of naval officers on the retired list at this time is 390.

THE LAWYER WAS DISGUSTED

The Counterfeiter He Had Saved Paid Him in Bad Money.

Several years ago, when Judge Francis J. Reinhard, the well-known German lawyer of the city, was a young but enthusiastic attorney practicing at Crown Point, he was called in to defend a man charged with circulating counterfeit money. He talked with the accused, several times in jail and became impressed with the idea that the man was honest, and was litterally being "roasted by the authorities, says the Indianapolis Sentinel. Mr. Reinhard entered into the case with characteristic earnestness and prepared himself thoroughly for the defense. When the case came to preliminary hearing the lawyer made a terrific fight and secured the discharge of his client. Outside the court room, after the trial, the client buttonholed Lawyer Reinhard, and leading him into an alley out of sight of the gaping crowd, paid him his fee with ten silver dollars. Then, with tears in his eyes, he thanked the lawyer and went his way.

Mr. Reinhard immediately proceeded to the office of a friend to whom he owed a debt of sixty-five cents, and tendered one of his newly-made dollars.

"Say, Frank," said the friend, after an inspection of the money, "this dollar is counterfeit."

"You're certainly mistaken," replied Lawyer Reinhard. "I just took it as part of a fee from a man whom I am confident is honest and reliable. I am not easily mistaken in my estimate of the character of my clients."

"That may all be so," replied the friend, "but this money is spurious, just the same, and to prove it we will go over to the bank."

Thereupon the gentleman went to the bank, not far away, and laid down the dollar, asking for change. The teller, an elderly and conservative man, put his spectacles to his eye, gazed long and earnestly at the coin, and then shoved it back through the window with the remark:

"Gentlemen, we don't take such money as that here. It is rank counterfeit."

Judge Reinhard at that time, as now, was very gentlemanly in diction and manner, but he couldn't help himself, and with the one expression, "Well, I'll be d—d," turned on his heel and went out on the street. Every last one of the silver dollars he had worked so hard to earn was a counterfeit, and within a short time thereafter his honest client was sent to the prison south for five years for making and circulating crooked money.

QUEER KINDS OF TAXES.

REVENUES DERIVED FROM MANY ODD IMPOSTS.

Even Bread and Meat Have Been Taxed, and Peter the Great Levied a Tax on Beards—Eggs Are Taxed in Russia and Advertisements in France.

In times past it was deemed warrantable to tax salt, candles, leather, brick, soap, starch, paper and in fact pretty much all meat. Peters the Great of Russia levied a tax on beards, with the laudable object of making his subjects wash their faces and shave. Brass tokens are still to be bought in that country bearing the words, "Borodo pignala tiagola," which means "the beard tax has been paid." Mr. J. Ewing Ritchie, in "The Fiscal Philatelist," gives particulars of the British hat tax of 1784, requiring hatters to take out licenses and imprinted on every hat sold. In many duty on every hat sold. In those days revenue officials meeting a man with an unlicensed hat used to inquire, in the words of the comic song, "Where did you get that hat?" In old times, too, the Scotch sacramental certificates used to bear a sixpenny stamp; a tax on religious almanacs, glass, stone bottles and advertisements were among the fiscal duties of the past.

In some parts of China a tax is imposed on all women entering the bonds of matrimony. Travelers to those parts are obliged to take a wife, and when they leave the ladies take fresh husbands, to the benefit of the revenue.

It has been stated that in Weimar the authorities levied a duty on musical parties. The regulations were not given, but doubtless, soli, duets, trios and quartettes are subject to proportionate rates. Violins, cornets and the flute should incur special charges. Quite lately an annual tax of 10 francs has been imposed on pianos in France. Music has paid tribute to taxation in other ways. A musical troupe recently crossing the frontier of Saxony came in for a heavy crown of laurels awarded them at a triumphal performance. The custom house officers taxed the laurels as spikes. Masses, Te Deums, litanies and the like are licensed and regulated as to hours in France. A certificate of character, a distinctive badge and limitation of hours is insisted upon. No licenses for street musicians have been issued for nine years in Germany.

In St. Petersburg no outdoor musical performers are permitted, but in romantic Italy they are under practical regulation excluding those under 18 years of age from obtaining a license. In New York wandering minstrels contribute to the revenue $1 each, and prohibited from playing within a certain distance of specified buildings or dwellings, and outside fixed hours. Barrel musicin this city is not allowed. In sunny Spain, but legally the troubadour twangs his guitar, for which, however, a license is required.

The state finances in Indiana are recruited by a graduated income tax, commencing at one per cent on incomes between 1,000 and 2,000 rubles (a ruble equals 38 2-5ds, and increasing at the rate of one per cent more on every additional 1,000 or fraction of 1,000 rubles. A duty of a quarter kopeck (about one-tenth of a penny) is also imposed on the use of all kinds of poultry, which tax on food realizes several million of rubles. Cycles are subject to a tax of 8s. in France and of a similar amount in Brandenburg.

"They do these things better in France"—or worse. Advertisements in the form of posters and placards are required to be stamped in France, which is distinctly a tax on trade and publicity. In Italy, where the people complain that the taxes are exorbitant, the voluntary taxes paid by the poorer classes in the form of lottery amounts in a year to over £5,000,000. At Palermo, the Italians recently rioted in open revolt against the municipality which had increased the hearth tax, and took the civic buildings by assault, wounding the syndic, but they do not appear to have got the better of it. "In old Madrid" last year there was terrible and fatal rioting among the men and women who hawk vegetables, fruit and other articles in the streets and markets, owing to the imposition of a tax on Spanish hawkers.

In Sweden commercial travelers visiting that country have to pay 100 kroner (about £5 11s) for every month, or part thereof, they may remain for the privilege of transacting their business.

Rhode Island's Mills and Factories.

Rhode Island has 2,240 factories, employing 38,000 men 22,000 women and 4,400 children. The combined capital of the mills is $76,000,000 and the annual output $104,000,000.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says Henry Hudson, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines for purifying cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 16 years, I had a bad case of scrofula on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do

"SONG OF THE INDIAN RIVER."

Kissed by sunshine, lulled by breezes,
Lies mine own, my native land,
With the waves from Gulf and Ocean,
Breaking on its shining sands.
Countless lakes and winding rivers,
Almost lost in depths of green;
Fairest flowers entwine to crown her,
Florida the Southern Queen.

Northern boatmen, leave your rivers
That the Frost King bridges o'er,
Here he rules but I am ready,
Waiting for your guiding oar.
And the life within my waters,
Glittering with rainbow hues,
Far exceeds your wildest fancy—
All I offer—yours to choose.

Warmer grows my heart, and warmer,
Glad days and full of mirth,
Till, at last, my journey ended—
In the arms of fair Lake Worth
Do I lie, her shores caressing
Through the fair Enchanted hours—
Let the Indian River bear you
To this dream-like Land of Flowers.

THE BEE-HIVE, PONTIAC, MICH.

Pontiac's Great Carpet, Oil Cloth, Linoleum, Matting and Rug Emporium.

To parties furnishing and all Carpet Buyers in Oakland County.

Whole Rolls of CARPET and a great many of them to select from at the Bee-Hive, second store south of Court House, Pontiac.

Many thousands of yards of New Ingrain and other Carpets just placed on our carpet floor received direct from the mills this week. The patterns and designs are really elegant, and the prices never so moderate as now.

Having purchased the flaming advertisements, the Bee-Hive has the stock and interests to dispose of them at an exceedingly moderate margin and during the many years, we never have owned them at as low prices as now. We have also added a full assortment of stock in this line was never in better order nor ever excelled either in quality or quantity. The favor of an early spring call respectfully solicited.

THE FISHERMAN'S OUTFIT.

FOR SALE.

The property which was owned and occupied by the late Dr. O. W. Hewitt as a family residence. Situated on the corner of Townsend and Pierce streets, and is one of the most desirable for a nice home. There are six lots with a good house and barn; city water; all kinds of fruit trees. Will sell all together, or in lots separately, to suit purchasers. This property must be sold soon. My price is low; no speculation. See the owner, corner of Townsend and Pierce streets.

A Complete Angling Outfit for only 50 Cents! There are two remarkable things about this Champion Outfit. It has never been attempted before to put a complete outfit in a pocket. No fisherman can afford to pass this offer by, because nowhere can he get such an outfit for double the money.

Read the descriptions carefully.

No. 1. One Linen Braided Brass Reel. This is a perfect, riveted brass reel, which works admirably, and when attached to the pole will not fall to the ground with the fish. The reel alone is worth the price we ask for the entire outfit.

No. 2. One Linen Lined Trout Line, the very first-class, made in the most perfect manner, and the strongest trout line made, guaranteed to safely land the largest trout or fish of equal size.

No. 3. One Low Cotton Line, dark colored, nicely cross-wound on a block, and good for bass, pickerel, pike, perch, catfish, sunfish, rock bass, etc.

No. 4. One Linen Lined Snelled Hook, with Hook, Bob and Sinker. This is a whole outfit in itself, comprising a long and strong line, with medium size hook attached and neat, movable bob and sinker. With bait in hand and this line in his pocket, the fisherman can start right in and try his luck.

No. 5. One Dozen Best Steel-Ringed Snelled Hooks, assorted sizes. These are best grade of hooks, warranted strong, sharp in points and barbs, and will not rust, so long being able to tie their line into the ring of the hook. With this set of hooks the fisherman can try his luck any day, and if fish, from minnows to weak fish.

No. 6. Two Improved Trout Flies. These are the improved style of fly. They will draw trout from deep pools when other flies fail. They are natural, hand made, and strongly fastened around the hooks, and will give excellent satisfaction.

No. 8. One Improved Bass Fly. This is the best approved fly for black bass fishing, and is made in the natural colors and in the sizes of material and artistic position.

No. 9. One Improved Salmon Fly also accompanies the outfit, and is of the best pattern and perfect shape and color, sure to raise and hook salmon.

No. 10. Two Snell Hooks and Gut. These hooks are set on fine gut, and where fish cut the lines, one of these snell hooks can be satisfyingly tied, the gut cannot be severed, and lands the big fish every time.

Here, then, is a complete fisherman's outfit at the nominal price of half a dollar. We cannot now—the poorest boy or man can afford this complete assortment, and ought to keep his family supplied with fish, which are now being sold. As much sport can be had with this outfit as with a fine one, and the quality of everything is as represented.

Price of the complete outfit, including every thing herein described, and many more, only 50 cents, postpaid. Send to
