Come and hear the other side.

Scribner's Magazine for April opens with the second of Octave Thanet's sketches of American Types, suggested by her observations among the State buildings during the World's Fair. In this article she describes "The Farmer in the South," whom she knows very well at home, as it is her custom to spend every winter on a plantation in Arkansas. The illustrations by A. B. Frost are in his very best manner. A very different type of character is described by H. C. Bunner in his "Bowery and Bohemia." His great familiarity with the phases of New York life enables Mr. Bunner to describe a type "the real Bohemian," who is very little known and imperfectly understood by the general public. It is fully illustrated with sketches by Chlaedinat.

At the auction sale held at Frank Allen's, on Pierce street last week, H. A. Jenks again demonstrated his ability to get fancy prices and being ably assisted by Will J. Boyde as clerk it was a grand success. Few people realize the importance of an expert clerk at an auction, one person pays for his article immediately when bid, others crowd around at the close and ask for the amount of their bill, cash must be accounted accurately. By Mr. Boydes' method which is in part original with him, all confusion is dispelled and the proprietor and buyer are delighted.

Nearly a quarter of a century ago, in 1861, a youth of twenty years stuck out his shingle at Franklin, Mich., appraising the good people of that vicinity that his name was A. A. Rust and that he proposed to keep a general store at that place until further notice and winter and summer since that time has found "Double A" as he is familiary called, ever ready to attend to business. It was a faithful illustration of the trite old saying "Keep thy shop and thy shop will keep thee," with the invariable result that the faithfulness of Double A has been rewarded with a full measure of success and feeling the weight of years just a little, he has taken into partnership with him one of the best fellows in the world in the person of his son in-law, George Bingham, the new firm commencing business on Monday last under the name and style of A. A. Rust & Bingham, and we join with all the good folks of Franklin and vicinity in wishing the new firm the success which has been attendant upon the industry of the founder of the house of Rust.

The Democrats had a very large and enthusiastic caucus last Saturday, at Town Hall, at which time they nominated the following ticket to be voted on at election next Monday: Supervisor, Walter Fosdick; Clerk, William Jenks Treasurer, Bert McHenry; Justice of the Peace, full term, John Baldwin; Justice of the Peace, to fill vacancy, Alfred Bradton; Highway and Drain Commissioner, William H. Smith; Member Board of Review, Edwin Miller; School Inspector, George H. Mitchell; Constables, Bert McHenry, William W. Keeney William E. McClellen, and John Nye. On Monday last the republican electors of Bloomfield met in caucus at the Town Hall and placed the following candidates in nomination:—Supervisor, William Satterlee; Clerk, Albert W. Campbell; Treaurer, A. R. Parks; Justice of the Peace, full term, M. G. Jones; Justice of the Peace, to fill vacancy, James H. Rockwell; Highway Commissioner, A. C. Tibbles; School Inspector, Samuel Alexander; Drain Commissioner, Fenn Weston. Member Board of Review, 2 years, Alfred Rockwell; Member Board of Review, 1 year, Edward Fondick; Constables, George W. Fay; A. R. Parks Fenn Weston; Gavin Longmuir.

You put a dollar in our hand and we will send you 52 Eccentrics, one each week for a year for it. You get married or perhaps one of your sons or daughters do, the paper extends warm congratulations and hopes for your prosperity and happiness and starts all off right before the people, you go into business or buy a farm and locate on it and you are welcomed into the vicinity by the paper and introduced to the people through its columns; prosperity attends your efforts and the paper enters into the joys of it with you and hopes for you more success; accidents, calamities and reverses overtake you, and the paper is among the first to extend sympathy and help you if in its power to do so; when a baby is born and you are happy and laugh, the paper joins the company and smiles aloud and when cold, cruel death enters the home and calls a loved one to the spirit world the paper with you and expresses their sorrow through the paper. Who can estimate the value of a well meaning, well conducted home newspaper? Its friendship is so warm and everlasting that a copy of such a paper should visit every home of the town and the country surrounding.

CHURCH MATTERS.

EDITORS OF THE ECCENTRIC:

I noticed in a recent issue of your paper a petition signed by a part of the Young People's Bible Class of the M. E. Sunday School of Birmingham to which I deem it proper to give a little attention, under the following headings:

M. E. Church "Law and Order."

Facts of Past History, versus Current History.

Under the rules and regulations of the M. E. church the Pastor is supreme in the administration of its spiritual affairs, including all the departments of religious work. He is charged with the responsibility of nominating persons to fill the various offices of Stewards, Trustees and various committees, such as committees on Missions, Sunday Schools, Tract, Cause, etc., also the subject for election by the Quarterly Conference. These Boards and Committee are elected for one year and their term of office expires with the close of the conference year, with the exception of trustees, which by special disciplinary provision, if there is a failure to elect their successors, hold over until their successors are elected.

The Sunday School Board consists of the Sunday School Committee appointed by the Quarterly Conference, the pastor of the church, the Sunday School Superintendent, teachers and other officers of the school. The Superintendent of the school is nominated by the Sunday School Board at its annual meeting subject to approval by the Quarterly Conference. In case the Quarterly Conference fail to approve the nomination, the pastor by virtue of his pastoral office is required to superintend the school or cause it to be done until the nomination of the Superintendent is confirmed. It is the duty of the Superintendent to nominate the teachers, subject to the concurrence of the pastor (if the Superintendent be a layman). If the pastor be Superintendent his nomination carries with it his concurrence as pastor.

The office of every teacher expires at the close of the Sunday school year. At the annual meeting of each year a corps of teachers are nominated to fill the places of those whose term expires.

The failure of the Superintendent to nominate any or all of the said corps, carries with it no reflection on the ability or fidelity, or worthiness of anyone. And such a failure to re-nominate, furnishes no just grounds of complaint.

FACTS OF PAST HISTORY.

At the annual meeting of the Sunday School Board in 1890, the then acting pastor was elected as Superintendent of the Sunday School, it being the first instance of the kind (so far as this writer knows) in the history of this school. The Superintendent, as is supposed for reasons satisfactory to himself, declared his intention to certain members of the board not to re-nominate a certain long-tried teacher in the school, and one that had always been successful in his work, to a degree far above the average, and against whom no crime nor indiscretion could be shown, and such teacher was not re-nominated. He was thus dropped as a teacher, to which he made no complaint, demanded no reason why he was not re-nominated, but quietly went about his business and made no persistent effort to continue to teach his class and thus over ride church authority and order. His greatly disappointed class made no resistance, though they greatly desired him as their teacher, for he had succeeded in building the class up from three members to eighteen within a few months, yet they organized no opposition, but accepted the teacher given them.

FACTS OF CURRENT HISTORY.

As in facts of past history so in facts of current history, the pastor again becomes Superintendent. As the time of the annual meeting of the Sunday School Board for the election of officers and teachers approaches, a demand for the re-election of a certain teacher is pressed upon the attention of the pastor. As the time passes and the annual meeting draws near, the pressure increases, and becomes more and more persistent and is soon accompanied with the declaration that if said teacher is not re-nominated the class will rebel.

The annual meeting comes. Said teacher is not re-nominated, but still persists in a determined effort to teach the class. When informed that it could not be allowed, said teacher with the class as had been indicated, did rebel, and abruptly withdrew from the Sunday School room (as it had previously been declared they would do) and went to a neighboring house, in gross violation of both the law and order of the church and school. This disorderly act with others that have followed have never been apologized or atoned for. At the last monthly meeting of the Sunday School Board, the petition signed by a part of the class as it appeared in your recent issue, was handed to the secretary to be presented to the board. The same or a similar petition had previously been sent to the Presiding Elder, which he referred to the pastor to act upon as he thought best in the light of all the surrounding facts. In view of all previous threats and acts the pastor deemed the said petition unworthy of recognition.

With this statement of facts, for which the writer holds himself responsible, we submit the matter to the consideration of a candid and intelligent public.

In 1890 the failure to re-nominate caused no disturbance; why such a commotion because of a failure to re-nominate in 1893-4? And now in conclusion, what is the height of our pastor's offending? Why, he has made such nominations for teachers as it seemed to him best calculated to promote the peace and prosperity of the school. Just that and nothing more.

SCHOOL NOTES.

[Edited by the Senior Class.]

Editors for this month are Emma Grace Allen and Bert Blakeslee.

We noticed at Pontiac that the Freshmen and Sophomores caused all the tardy marks but we are happy to say no tardy marks appear as yet to spoil our record. Good for the Sophomores and Freshmen.

Fred Quarton and George Ford were absent last week with the measles.

Arthur Clemo, of Albion, visited school on Monday last.

Written lessons in chemistry and geometry last Thursday.

The Seniors are now studying solid geometry and find it requires hard study.

Mattie Campbell and Minnie Hust returned to school this week.

Gymnasium exercises will be discontinued during the spring term.

Mr. Waldo sent some "measly" compliments last week Friday, in the shape of a few written lessons with the information that he had the measles. To quote his words "very well, very well, very."

The Seniors have finished the advance work in chemistry and are now reviewing.

A club of 32 subscribers has been secured for the "Weeks Current" from among the High room pupils, this is a good school paper giving all the news and science of the day in brief and is just what is needed to put in the hands of the students.

Visitors for the week: Mollie Beardsley, Mamie Pearsall, Carrie Rainey, Emma Young and Will Boyde.

This week is "exam's" and of course welcomed by all.

Notice of Board of Registration.

The Board of Registration of the town of Bloomfield will meet: Saturday, March 31st, at the town clerk's office for the purpose of receiving names for registering and transacting all necessary business.

THE TEACHERS TAUGHT.

The local meeting of the teachers and citizens of Birmingham and surrounding vicinity was held at the school building Saturday last, March 30.

At 10 o'clock a. m. with about 40 teachers and citizens in the high room, County School Commissioner, Harry H. Snowden, called the meeting to order, stated the purposes of the meeting and asked that all join in singing which was heartily responded to.

The Rev. Mr. Orr followed with an invocation.

As the Director of the School Board Mr. Orr welcomed the audience heartily.

Then followed a paper "The Spirit of the Teacher," by Miss Jennie Hanna, a paper full of good sound truths and was heartily applauded.

Then followed an address on "Corporal Punishment," the subject so important to the teacher, by Principal Fred Hagie of Royal Oak. A discussion of the subject followed led by Principal McKee. Director Wheeler of the Royal Oak Union School took exception to the general opinion and declared that corporal punishment was useless. Mr. Orr stated that a great deal of wise judgment was needed. The discussion was closed by Mr. Snowden.

The paper by Miss Celena McBride "The Purpose of Language Work in Our Schools," showed her close application to this interesting and necessary department of our modern education.

Mr. Snowden then described the purposes and importance and progress of the Pupils' Reading Circles. God in supplementary reading.

The meeting then adjourned.

The afternoon session opened at 1:30 by singing.

The beautiful duet "In the Starlight" rendered by the Misses Lee and Houghten helped to entertain the audience.

Mr. Snowden announced that the next teachers examination would be held at the Court House at Pontiac, March 30. He then called the attention of the teachers present to the State Manual of the course of study for the district schools of the state and also a pamphlet containing an authorized list of the teachers of the county, and also the course of study followed. He then called their attention to the fact that the schools of the county would make an elaborate exhibit at the Pontiac Fair and that the school day on which the Fair would be School Day on which teachers and children would be admitted for 10 cents. Special feature would be an oratorical contest for a scholarship at Wheaton College.

Miss Harriet Ives then read a paper on the "Teaching of Reading." Mr. McKee then described the methods of teaching English in the Union School. He covered all the ground from the fourth grade up to the Seniors.

Miss Grace Kiteland gave a pleasing recitation.

The paper by Miss Inez Caswell gave a glimpse of the schools of the past, present and future, described teachers as moulders of character and paid a fitting tribute to the noble work being done by our worthy County Commissioner.

Rev. Mr. Marsh gave a scholarly address on the usefulness of the Bible in our schools and distinctly said that "the secret of American greatness as shown by our history was that our government was founded on the Bible."

Miss Minnie Hunt then pleased her teachers with the ever pleasing solo "Rock Me to Sleep Mother."

Then followed a recess of 15 minutes in which Mr. Snowden requested everybody to get acquainted with everybody. After which the announcement was made that a patrons', citizens' and teachers' meeting would be held at Royal Oak, April 6, and a cordial invitation was extended to all.

Mr. Snowden then announced that the State Teachers' Institute for 1894 would be held at Holly, beginning August 13 and ending on Saturday, August 18, covered all the ground from the fourth grade up to the Seniors.

Miss Lena Wells was under the direction of W. W. Ferris, Principal of the Big Rapids Normal School, followed by a teacher's examination at the Court House. As having a bearing on other improvements of our county schools Mr. Snowden announced that a pupils' examination for the high school courses would be held at the
