1000 Meals for Five Cents

Each person eats on the average over 1,000 meals per year. To properly flavor these meals there is required 17 cents worth of Diamond Crystal Salt, which is a trifle more than 1/2 of 1 cent per meal. Why not use the best, and save over the difference, and pay for the luxury of having

Diamond Crystal Salt

instead of the other kinds. But the important thing about it is the finer flavor your food will have and the greater protection your health will receive when you use the salt that's all salt. Ask your Grocer for DIAMOND CRYSTAL. If he has not got it, write to us. If you make a note, investigate our claim. Salt, if there's money in it. Address

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Edward Bellamy's "Looking Backward" is read in eleven languages.

Charles Gounod is to have a monument in the beautiful park Moreau, Paris.

Sitvinski, the new Polish pianist, is improving his mind by reading Shakspeare.

The king of Portugal could sell the jewels in his crown for $6,500,000 in case of a financial stringency.

Grieg, the composer, is a man of short stature with a large and imposing head. He is genial and unaffected, which is a rarity in genius.

A library to the memory of Bayard Taylor is to be established at Kennett Square, Pa., where the great author and traveler was bred and lived.

By a fire that occurred recently in Brooklyn a painting representing the death of Julius Caesar, painted by Benjamin West, was entirely destroyed. The work was valued at $25,000 and was uninsured.

Of Portsmouth, the only member of the house of lords who wears patched clothes, it is said that he made a visit to Shoreham with a single shirt and two half crowns, and changed only one of them during his week's stay.

When Dr. Furness, the nonagenarian Philadelphian, reads Shakespeare, as he does in a way to charm the most critical audience, his son sits in the auditorium and prompts the venerable speaker by raising and lowering his hand, so that he may get his voice at the right pitch, for deafness prevents Dr. Furness from properly hearing his own voice.

A New York collector is claimed to have in his possession the diary of John Wilkes Booth, recording the thoughts, plans and ambitions of the assassin of Abraham Lincoln for the year preceding April 14, 1865. No hint of the contents of that little book has ever been given and the possessor declares that he will keep it inviolate until the day of his death.

The late Mrs. Mary Hemenway of Boston preserved the historic Old South church from demolition and that act alone will keep her memory green at the Hub. In many other ways she showed her great philanthropy—chiefly as the main support of the Hampton institute for the education of negroes and Indians and in equipping Frank Cushing's archaeological expedition, while she did American history a good turn in making John Fiske her protege.

The monument to Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, erected in Crown Hill cemetery, Indianapolis, is of Barre granite. Its plainness is said to be its chief charm. It is seven feet square at the base, about ten feet in height, and the only inscription which it bears is the word "Harrison," engraved in large letters directly above the base. A circle of grawn oak leaves surrounds the shaft about a foot from the top, and short Grecian columns are at each corner about two feet above the foundation stone.

MANNERS OF MEN.

No matter how welcome a guest is, the hostess always looks a little dismayed if they bring a trunk instead of a valise.

"Ebbry man's ideal woman," brother Gardner says, "is one who would believe he caught whales in de river if he told her so."

A Chicago man whose house was robbed several weeks ago, advertises that a liberal reward will be paid for the return of the goods.

Rose—I think Til say yes. It is better to marry a man you respect than one you adore. Dolly—But it is so much easier to love men than to respect them.

A sportsman who lives at New Castle, Pa., owns a tame gray squirrel which has been trained to drive rabbits out of their holes after the manner of ferrets.

At the beginning of this century dandies in the German army wore earrings, and adorned their fingers with as many rings as they could conveniently wear.

Dr. Livingston of Bennettsville, N. Y., has built up an extensive practice, notwithstanding that he had been a deaf and dumb mute from the age of three years up to three years ago.

Tommy—Maw, what is an average man? Mrs. Figg—He is a man who is pleasant and saddling downstown all day, but who comes home and gives his wife fits to make up the average.

"Ah, love, I would like to listen to you all day," he said, as he rose to go. Six months after, only more married he chanced to stop out fifteen minutes after his usual hour of return, and his desire gratified.

William W. Newcomb, Kingston Springs, Conn., is the only American who ever married his mother-in-law. He was divorced from her daughter. He had children from both marriages. Anybody can figure out for himself the complication of relationships involved.

MANY MATTERS.

The fact was brought out in a Philadelphia court the other day that a certain money-lender of that city has been in the habit of charging 1,200 per cent. for the use of his money.

On the court roll of the Russian emperor appear the names of one chief hunting master, one chief stable master, seventeen grand masters, six hunting masters and eight assistant hunting masters.

AN OPERATOR'S STORY.

For Months He Masqueraded by Wire.

"Yes, I have had some awful funny experiences," said a well-known telegraph operator, to a Cincinnati Enquirer reporter. "One time I talked with a girl for almost a year nearly every day, and she thought I was a girl. Yes, quite a little romance.

"I was at Erie, Pa., doing commercial work for a big firm. I was green in the business. Never learned, in fact. My father was an operator, and my brother and I kind of grew up on the rudiments, but had no actual experience.

"I worked a good deal with the 'G'—that's Pittsburg, you know, about 140 from Erie. The operator at 'G' signed 'F. N.,' and I soon learned that the operator was a girl, and as I figured it out a mighty pretty one. I signed 'C. A.' from the first time I called 'G' 'F. N.' got the idea somehow, that I was a girl operator just learning, and she went slow and helped me out.

"She used to explain things to me and repeat messages. I used to get all tangled up with cable messages, but she would help me out. I don't know what I would have done without 'F. N.,' for I took the job on my gall.

"I sent her several boxes of flowers and had one of the lady clerks write letters from me to her. I directed my letters to 'F. N., W. U. telegraph office, Pittsburg,' and she directed mine to 'C. A.,' at the general office in Erie. The letters always carried. Then we used to talk girl talk over the wires. She would tell me about the balls she had been to and her new dresses, and I talked back to her in the strain.

"Well, I got to love the little 'F. N.'—I called her Fannie, though that was not her name—and was glad when in about a year, I had a chance to go to Pittsburg. It was with a beating heart that I entered the Western Union office and asked the head clerk who 'F. N.' was. He pointed her out to me as she was sitting at her desk pounding away at the brass, and she was a beauty, as pretty a little brunette as I ever saw.

"I began to kind of question him in a little offhand, and nearly dropped when he said, "We're going to lose 'F. N.' before long. She is going to be married to 'U. G.' He sits over yonder."

"I looked at 'U. G.,' an ugly old cuss, old enough, I thought, to be her father. I had never seen him, but I knew him by wire. He was a nasty sender — lightning from the word go. He used to call me 'Plug' because I couldn't take the messages as fast as he would sling them. I hated him and always cursed when he was on the wire, which was, thank heaven! not very often.

"Well, I looked at 'U. G.' and then at little 'F. N.' I suppose she thought she was doing well, because 'U. G.' was a crack brass pounder, but I pitied her for I knew he was a crank — and then I left the office without speaking to her, and to this day she does not know that 'C. A.' is a man. When I got back to Erie I changed my sig to 'J. M.,' and told her 'C. A.' had left and I was a man.

"One day she bade me good-by saying that she was going to quit. I did not need to ask the reason, but I left you, if I ever get that 'U. G.' in a tight place I'll make him sweat, for I can sling lightning with any of them now. Thanks to little 'F. N.,' for I believe I would have given up the job and gone into some other business if it hadn't been for her."

HIS FIVE.

The Memory of Them the Sweetest Thing in the Farmer's Life.

A gentleman who has five little boys took them to the country for a few weeks last summer. One day while out for a walk, they stopped at an old farm house and asked a mild-looking old farmer who was tilted back in his chair against the apple tree, if they might have a drink of water from the well in the dooryard.

"Certainly, sartainly," he said, "drink all yer want, an welcome."

He watched the sturdy little boys closely while they were drinking, says Yo'th's Companion, and when they were about to depart he said to their father:

"Is all them little fellers yourn?"

"Yes, sir," said the father, proudly.

"A fine little band they air," replied the old man, his face beaming with pleasure as he looked at them; "a fine little company, sir. I hope you'll be able to keep 'em. I had five like them once."

"They must be a great comfort to you now."

"The mem'ry of them is. I wa'n't privileged to see 'em grow up to be men, jest one of them, sir. So you see that little graveyard over there on the hillside? Yes? Add ye kin see, too, them five little tombstones all in a row over there in the southwest corner?"

"My five was all put there before any of 'em got to be 10 years old, but we had all of 'em spared to live long enough to make the mem'ry of them the sweetest thing there is in this life to me and my old wife. We've never had no more, for I reckon we'll have them ag'in before very long instead of jest the mem'ry of 'em. I hope yours'll all be spared to you, sir, I truly hope so."

The Senate in Session.

Child, at Washington—Who are all those men lounging around outside the capitol?

Parent—They are United States senators, my child.

"Are there any more senators beside them?"

"Only one."

"Who is he?"

"He is inside making a speech."—Texas Sifting.

A Warning to Mammas.

Little Johnny—Oh, mama, folks say Tommy Dod's back is broke.

Mamma—Horrors! How did it happen?

Little Johnny—I didn't hear, but Tommy told me only las' week that his mamma was just as fond of spankin' as you are.—Mercury.

Sure Sign.

Watts—Tobson must be awfully afraid of his wife. He is always telling us how she will give him fits if he don't hurry home.

Potts—That's the best sign in the world that he is not afraid of her at all. The man who is bossed by his wife never say a word about it.

Not Wasted.

Mrs. Billus, after the company had gone—Johnny, you shouldn't have eaten those preserved fruits. They were not intended to be eaten. They were put on the table to fill up.

Johnny Billus—Well, that's what I used 'em for, mamma.

The custom of bottling tears is peculiar to Persia. There it constitutes an important part of the obsequies of the dead.

Onslow, N.C., woman caught a chicken thief recently by sinking a barrel in the floor of her hennery and filling it with tar.

Perhaps the poorest opinion of music as a vocation is attributed to a certain excellent master builder in an Eastern city. This man had sent his son to college, where the young man excelled in musical accomplishments. In the course of time he announced to his father his intention to become a musician. The father objected vehemently. The son begged and at last was affected to tears, declaring that he should never be happy in any other calling. This melted the father's heart, and he exclaimed: "All right, do as you like—but don't you ever come around grinding your organ in front of my house!"

A Michigan school teacher, notorious in his county for paying only such of his indebtedness as he was compelled to and getting credit wherever possible, had the arithmetic class before him. "Now," he said, holding up a silver dollar, "how much money is this?" "One dollar," answered the class as easy as rolling off a log. "And how many bushels of potatoes could I buy with it, potatoes being worth fifty cents a bushel?" Nobody answered, and the grocer's boy held up his hand. "I know," he said. "Well, my lad, tell the class how many." "Enough to last you all winter, cuntin' what you would git charged." And the school teacher knew better than to lick the grocer's boy.

ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?

We have made the study of the manufacture of Ready Mixed Paints our business for years, and have now by scientific application and a close study to a subject that is pleasing to us, furnished a product that is simply perfect in every detail for a house covering.

Paint, Paint, Paint!

House painting the past few years has been very discouraging to those who use lead and oil. Go where you may, buy any brand you please of either lead or oil, have it applied by the best painters on earth and the wear of that job is unsatisfactory. It checks off, it peels off, it becomes discolored, fades out, washes off and in the best of the best-title short space of time before one is ready for it the job has to be performed all over again at a great expense.

Read! Read!! Read!!!

How can you avoid all sorrow, discouragement and expense? The answer is plain. Use our Paint—Boydell Bros'. White Lead & Color Co's manufactured by us, to out wear, out last and out shine an other Ready Mixed Paint in the United States. We make Any Shade, Tint or Color Desired.

PAINT

Whitehead & Mitchell, dealers in Birmingham, have sold our Paints for the past 12 years and have yet to hear of the first complaint. Read what those say who have used it in painting buildings both outside and in:

Extracts From Letters.

Have used hundreds of gallons of Boydell Ready Mixed Paint and it is all right. It is as good as the maker's claim it to be and its staying qualities as good as any paint we ever used.
WAS PAINT OF PAINT & SEALEY,
Proprietors Model Block Planing Mill.

It think it superior to any other manufactured and better even than the best lead and oil for durability. It will never check or peel but always keeps its body and has a wonderfully good body.
ELIJAH J. MONROE,
House Painter and Decorator.

Myself and son have used 85 gallons and it gave us ENTIRE satisfaction.
SILAS B. WATTLES.

I would recommend Boydell Bros.' Paints to all those who desire a good, durable and lasting paint.
I am much pleased with the paint I have used of about 30 gallons, and never saw paint that held its gloss better. Would certainly use Boydell Bros.' Paints in preference to any other and can prepare them myself.
C. C. TRANSUE,
Painter and Decorator.

Boydell Bros'. Paint mixed will cover more surface gallon for gallon, and I find it to go further when I paint my house.
JNO. RATHBUN.

After using three gallons of Boydell's Paints will say that the best and that is, I believe, Boydell's Ready Mixed Paint.
J. W. CRAWFORD.

I have used over 70 gallons of Boydell's Paints with not much satisfaction that I can heartily recommend it to any one contemplating the use of paint.
J. W. CRAWFORD.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

TO BOYDELL BROS., Detroit, Mich.:
We think Boydell's Ready Mixed Paint the best to day. In our experience it excels the best lead and oil for beauty, gloss, covering, lasting quality and all desirable points that one wishes in paint, we expect to finish a satisfactory article, and we cheerfully recommend your Ready Mixed Paints.

"SONG OF THE INDIAN RIVER."

Kissed by sunshine, lulled by breezes,
Lies mine own, my native land,
With the waves from gulf and ocean,
Breaking on its shining sand;
Countless lakes and winding rivers,
In the arms of fair Florida,
Fairest flowers entwine to crown her,
Florida the Southern Queen.

Northern boatmen, leave your rivers
That the Frost King bridges o'er,
Here he rules not, I am ready,
Waiting for your guiding oar.
And the life within my waters,
Glittering with rainbow hues,
Far exceeds your wildest fancy—
All of these—yours to choose.

* * *

Warmer grows my heart, and warmer,
Glad my days and full of mirth,
Till, at last, my journey ended—
In the arms of Lake Worth
Do I lie, her shores caressing
Through the sun kissed happy hours
Let the Indian River basin prosper,
Tis the dream-like Land of Flowers!

fresh, new, high art patterns. No old, last season's styles. Carpets and curtains suitable for the humblest cottage or the mansion. Did you say prices? My, but they never were so cheap. Bring the measure of your rooms and let's reason and figure together."

How about a new Dress or a Jacket or a Cape? A Jacket at 99 cents; a Cape at $1.50.

You have no idea how pretty the dress goods are this season. Rich color, new weaves and novel designs. The making of a dress will cost more than the material, so our new dress goods don't have that old dress look about them. Let us sell you new material, and then bring in dress goods (colors the fairies rave about) and trimmings to match. If you are thinking of getting married we can save you a world of trouble by getting your outfit of us.

THE FISHERMAN'S OUTFIT.

A Complete Angling Outfit for only 50 cents! There are two remarkable things about that Champion Outfit. It has never been attempted before the quality throughout is of the best. No fisherman can afford to pass this offer by, because nowhere can he get such an outfit for double or more money.

Read the description carefully.

No. 1. One Fine Polished Brass Reel. This is a perfect, rippled brass reel, which works admirably, and when attached to the pole will count any line in first-class style. Fish feel about to search the price we ask for the entire outfit.

No. 2. One Linen Trout Line, strictly first-class, made in the most perfect manner, and the strongest trout line made, guaranteed to safely hold the largest trout or fish of equal size.

No. 3. One Linen Bass or Salmon Line, of the same high grade of material, and tapered for big fish like salmon, or gamey fish like bass. This line will hold the biggest fish caught with bait and sinker, or trolling from a boat.

No. 4. One Long Cotton Line, dark colored, specially cross-wound on a block, and good for everyday fishing after perch, rock, sunfish, rock bass, etc.

No. 5. One Fine Furnished Complete with Hook, Bob and Sinker. The hook is of whole cloth in itself, comprising a long and graceful shank, and a very fine hook and point, movable bob and sinker. With bait at hand and first line in the water, the fisherman can start right in and try his luck.

No. 6. One Dozen Best Steel Ringed Fish Hooks on gut snells, which are the very best in grade of hooks, warranted strong, sharp in point and barb, and of perfect shape. Every angler should have a dozen of these hooks in reserve, as they are liable to lose their line into the ring of the hook. With this set of hooks the fisherman can start right in and try his luck for any sort of fish, from the smallest to the largest.

No. 7. Two Improved Trout Flies. These are the improved style of fly. They will allure trout from any pool, and are very killing when other flies fail. They are natural, realistic flies, carefully fastened around the hooks, and will give excellent satisfaction.

No. 8. One Improved Bass Fly. This is the best fly in the world for black bass fishing, and is the equal of the trout flies in excellence of material and artistic position.

No. 9. One Pair Salmon Fly also accompanies the outfit, and is of the best pattern in regard to shape and color, sure to raise and catch the fish.

No. 10. Two Spell Hooks and Gut. The outfit is complete in every detail, and includes all that the finest, one of these small hooks can be attached to the trout line, and the fish easily landed.

Here, then, is a complete fisherman's outfit at the nominal price of a dollar. No excuse now—the poorest boy or man can afford this cheap and complete outfit, and the angling sport can be had by all. Any sport can be had with this outfit, as with a bonafide one, and the quality of everything is as represented.

Price of this complete outfit, including everything herein described, only 50 cents. Sent by mail,
