CONDENSED NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE STATE.

The Trial of Attorney-General.
Charged With Forging Election.
Returns of Gambler Court. Ends in a Triumph of the Jury.

After listening to nearly three weeks of testimony, the jury in the case of the attorney-general returned a verdict of guilty in the charge of forging election returns in the Indiana circuit court.

The many points in the case were in dispute. It would be superfluous to recount them here.
Judge Pennington charged the jury to find the case for the state unless they were satisfied of the defendant's innocence.

The clerk of the court of the jury returned a verdict of guilty. The defendant was sent to the state prison for three years.
