

IN THE PORTRAIT GALLERY.

...from the window...
...the world has grown weary...

DICK'S DARLING.

By CLARENCE H. FERRELL.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

...CHAPTER XV.—Continued.
...With two hours after the marriage...

...Well, they were glad though to meet with the girl who had been so long away...

...Again Carmen paused, then looked up quickly.
...I suppose you have all recognized the fact...

...I loved my mother in a manner only equaled by her love for me...

...I was not successful as a teacher, not being contented for the work...

...What's that? she questioned, looking at him with a smile.

...I was then that George Kingley lawyer found her perfectly well...

...With a weary gesture Carmen shook her head and turned away.

...Then I foresaw another search for an heir, the lawyer muttered.

...I think I can save you the worry, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...from stern water to cool August's burning anger...

AT THE END OF A ROPE.

By CLARENCE H. FERRELL.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

...CHAPTER XV.—Continued.
...With two hours after the marriage...

...Well, they were glad though to meet with the girl who had been so long away...

...Again Carmen paused, then looked up quickly.
...I suppose you have all recognized the fact...

...I loved my mother in a manner only equaled by her love for me...

...I was not successful as a teacher, not being contented for the work...

...What's that? she questioned, looking at him with a smile.

...I was then that George Kingley lawyer found her perfectly well...

...With a weary gesture Carmen shook her head and turned away.

...Then I foresaw another search for an heir, the lawyer muttered.

...I think I can save you the worry, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I'm afraid that something happened!
...Frank had been here...

TABERNACLE PUPIL.

By CLARENCE H. FERRELL.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

...CHAPTER XV.—Continued.
...With two hours after the marriage...

...Well, they were glad though to meet with the girl who had been so long away...

...Again Carmen paused, then looked up quickly.
...I suppose you have all recognized the fact...

...I loved my mother in a manner only equaled by her love for me...

...I was not successful as a teacher, not being contented for the work...

...What's that? she questioned, looking at him with a smile.

...I was then that George Kingley lawyer found her perfectly well...

...With a weary gesture Carmen shook her head and turned away.

...Then I foresaw another search for an heir, the lawyer muttered.

...I think I can save you the worry, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...At one time that night it seemed as if a squadron of angels...

HOOD'S PILLS OR A BIBLE MON TEXT.

By CLARENCE H. FERRELL.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

...CHAPTER XV.—Continued.
...With two hours after the marriage...

...Well, they were glad though to meet with the girl who had been so long away...

...Again Carmen paused, then looked up quickly.
...I suppose you have all recognized the fact...

...I loved my mother in a manner only equaled by her love for me...

...I was not successful as a teacher, not being contented for the work...

...What's that? she questioned, looking at him with a smile.

...I was then that George Kingley lawyer found her perfectly well...

...With a weary gesture Carmen shook her head and turned away.

...Then I foresaw another search for an heir, the lawyer muttered.

...I think I can save you the worry, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...Hood's Pills cure...
...The combination, proportion and...

HOOD'S PILLS OR A BIBLE MON TEXT.

By CLARENCE H. FERRELL.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

...CHAPTER XV.—Continued.
...With two hours after the marriage...

...Well, they were glad though to meet with the girl who had been so long away...

...Again Carmen paused, then looked up quickly.
...I suppose you have all recognized the fact...

...I loved my mother in a manner only equaled by her love for me...

...I was not successful as a teacher, not being contented for the work...

...What's that? she questioned, looking at him with a smile.

...I was then that George Kingley lawyer found her perfectly well...

...With a weary gesture Carmen shook her head and turned away.

...Then I foresaw another search for an heir, the lawyer muttered.

...I think I can save you the worry, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...Hood's Pills cure...
...The combination, proportion and...

HOOD'S PILLS OR A BIBLE MON TEXT.

By CLARENCE H. FERRELL.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

...CHAPTER XV.—Continued.
...With two hours after the marriage...

...Well, they were glad though to meet with the girl who had been so long away...

...Again Carmen paused, then looked up quickly.
...I suppose you have all recognized the fact...

...I loved my mother in a manner only equaled by her love for me...

...I was not successful as a teacher, not being contented for the work...

...What's that? she questioned, looking at him with a smile.

...I was then that George Kingley lawyer found her perfectly well...

...With a weary gesture Carmen shook her head and turned away.

...Then I foresaw another search for an heir, the lawyer muttered.

...I think I can save you the worry, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.

...I have been thinking of you, she said, smiling.