THE FISHERMAN'S OUTFIT.

A Complete Angling Outfit for only 50 Cents! This is not a toy, but a practical outfit of this kind that can be used. It is short, being 24 inches long, but it is a good one for the money. No fishing tackle can be sold cheaper, because dealers can not sell such an outfit for double or even four times the money.

Read the description carefully.

No. 1. One Full Nickel-plated Brass Reel. This is a perfect, nickel brass reel, which works admirably, and when attached to the pole will wind and haul in the line with ease. This reel alone is worth the price we ask for the entire outfit.

No. 2. One Jointed Pole. This is a handy first-class, made in the most perfect manner, and the strongest made for the price, guaranteed to safely land the heaviest trout or fish of equal size.

No. 3. One Linen Bass or Salmon Line, of the same high standard, but larger, adapted for fishing for heavier fish, such as pickerel or black bass. This line will land the biggest fish caught with bait and sinker, or trolling from boat.

No. 4. One Long Cotton Line, dark colored, when soaked, for use on a bass hook, or for every-day fishing after perch, catfish, sunfish, rock bass, etc.

No. 5. One Line Furnished Complete with Hook, Bob and Sinker. This is a whole outfit in itself, ready for use. It is of strong line, with medium size hook attached, and lead, cork bob and sinker all ready to put on hand and the line in his pocket, the fisher man can start right in and try his luck.

No. 6. One Dozen Best Carefully Ringed Fish Hooks (assorted sizes). These are best grade of hooks, with ringed eyes, sharp points and barbs, and hands to use, anybody being able to tie their own hooks to the ring of the hook. With this set of hooks the fisherman can try his luck for any size fish, both minnows to weak fish.

No. 7. Two Improved Trout Flies. These are the most killing trout flies. They will draw trout from deep pools when other flies fail. They are natural, brilliant in colors, strongly fastened about the hooks, and will give excellent satisfaction.

No. 8. One Improved Bass Fly. This is the best improved fly for black bass fishing, and is the equal of the trout flies in excellence of material and workmanship required.

No. 9. One Improved Salmon Fly also accompanies the outfit, and is of the most perfect shape and color, sure to raise and catch the fish.

No. 10. Two Snell Hooks and Gut. These hooks are set on long guts, and when fish can be seen, and are very fine and sharp. Any salmon, and the gut cannot be severed, and lands the fish every time.

Here, then, is a complete fisherman's outfit at the nominal price of just a dollar. No excuse now—the poorest boy or man can afford this complete assortment, and ought to keep his family in fish the year round with enough to spare. As much sport can be had with this outfit as with a handsome one, and the quality of every thing is the same.

Price of the complete set of including every thing keeping in order, only 50 cents. Sent by mail, postpaid. Send to Man has natural wants—food, clothing, shelter; he consumes, he should produce; hence activity—labor. He thinks, he reasons, he learns, he progresses; hence science—learning. He has an enthusiasm, attachment, passion for beauty—hence creation—love. Labor, learn, love. Man must be able to do all these, or he retrogrades and degenerates. Any state of society which prevents a man from fulfilling his destiny, which is to do all these, is therefore false and incomplete.

WITH WOLVERINES.

BRIEF ITEMS ABOUT MICHIGAN PEOPLE AND THINGS.

Six Men Burned to Death at Detroit—Forest Fires in Various Sections of the State Destroy a Great Amount of Valuable Property—Wallin Burned.

Destructive Forest Fires.

Wallin, a lumbering town near Thompsonville, was entirely wiped out by fire. Forest fires were raging over a week. Seven mill plants, eight hotels, coal-kilns, warehouse and Sullivan Lumber company's saw mill, with about 2,000,000 feet of lumber, were all burned. About 20 people were badly burned. When a relief train arrived many of the people found on the ground with their faces on the moist dirt to prevent choking to death. The fires are still burning, and the towns of Clary, Morley and Olin-eden were in great danger.

The fires near Father Smoke "an Indian at Bay Shore, was burned, and several farm houses were burned in the clearings north of Detroit and fruit trains on the C. & W. M. were stopped.

The village of Kinde, Huron county, is said to be in danger. Many farms are burned and no particulars could be obtained.

Forest fires which had been burning nearly two weeks along the M. C. railroad came within a few rods of Mackinaw City, when welcome showers quenched them.

Dispatches from Thompsonville and other towns in that section say that the rains quenched the forest fires temporarily, when it seemed that Thompsonville and Clary, Mullberry and other towns would be wiped out. An appeal has been issued by the mayor of Thompsonville for assistance for the Wallin sufferers at once.

Every family is left without bed or anything to wear or eat. They just saved what clothes they had on. The people are very poor and we have given them all the assistance we can, but we are in need of help. Please give them enough to go to keeping house.

The settlement of Isabella county, was completely surrounded by fire. Hubbard & Ding sall's camp, the saloon and large amount of crops were destroyed, and the postmaster shipped the postoffice outfit to Midland and Clare. Hundreds are prepared for a hasty exit by rail if it becomes necessitive.

Trains were most thankfully received along the Muskegon river. In Emmet county crops were damaged fully $12,000 and buildings almost as much more before rain fell.

Welcome Rains.

The whole state is giving thanks for the rains which fell during the night of nearly two months' duration and quenched the forest fires which were threatening great damage in every part of the lumbering districts. Reports from all sections tell of the reviving effect of the rain. Corn, potatoes and fruit, and while other crops are beyond help it seems to be the almost general opinion that a fair yield of those mentioned will be secured.

Men and Horses in a Big Fire.

Case's livery stable, one of the largest in Detroit, was destroyed by fire which was discovered at 2 a. m. About eight horses were saved from the first fourth and or top floor, and about 100 horses were stabled in the basement. The building was an old one and a firetrap of the worst kind. The fire department worked most heroically to prevent the fire from reaching the block on the fourth story to the sidewalk and was probably fatally injured. He was identified as Jacob Cummings, of Jackson. At 4:30 a. m. the department had controlled the fire and on the fourth floor dozens of bodies of men who had been suffocated. Of the 100 horses about 25 were rescued by the firemen, the others perishing in the flames in their stalls in a terrible state of fright, but not badly injured. The floors were supported by heavy iron girders and this aided the saved from the falling timbers. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Mackinac Park Commission Organized.

The first meeting of the commission appointed to assume charge of the Mackinac Island State Park, was called to order by Gov. Rich, and the following officers were chosen: T. W. Palmer, president; Edgar A. White, vice-president; Editor Wm. Clark, of Lansing, secretary; A. L. Stephens, treasurer. Col. Wm. A. Throop, who was designated as acting superintendent, it was decided to advance rentals to those for four years at the old rates. Regulations were adopted prohibiting the sale of liquor. Authority to lease dock privileges was granted and Gov. Rich conferred and Jas. F. Keightley was given a 30-year franchise to operate telephones and an electric light plant.

Upper Peninsula Miners Strike.

The men employed at the mines at Negaunee, with the exception of the Buffalo group, went out on a strike. They demand a general advance in their pay, but as a majority of the companies has shown little disposition to grant it. The management of the Negaunee mines has not been stirred, positively refuse to give it, and say they will close indefinitely, about 250 of the 1,200 employes of the Ishpeming to induce the miners there to go out. The remonstrances of the men at work were of no avail and during resistance useless they laid down their tools. About 2,000 men are idle.

That Knights of Pythias Trouble.

The supreme lodge Knights of Pythias filed a bill of complaint at Detroit for an injunction restraining the so-called Improved Order of Knights of Pythias from using the name, title, emblems, badges, regalia, etc., of the Knights of Pythias. The supreme lodge of the Improved Order was in session at Detroit when the reason the suit was begun there.

The Improved Order is composed of Germans who prefer to hold their ritual meetings body because the supreme lodge refused to allow the work to be performed in any but the English language. A hot fight is anticipated.

Triple Drowning Off South Haven.

Tittsworth, of South Haven, took his new yacht Artist out for her trial trip in company with the builders, Bert Goodrich and Ed Bonsall, about four miles out a squall struck and capsized her. The life-saving crew went to the rescue and picked up after the tug McClure, but the yacht was so far away that the men were all drowned before the tug could reach them. The boat sank quickly because she had a great amount of ballast which could not be shifted, and being new they had not as yet put in any air cans to buoy her.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Dun's says: A business flood so strong and rapid that the country is almost taken off its feet is out of reason in any kind of weather, and the season's trade has not been without many drawbacks and friction; it is now evident kept back by the drought, but the volume of business has been finished before mids mmer and the do ainary trade is now expected to be large in many parts to begin a other on time. But the volume of business already done is enormous and is remar ably large for the months even in a year of prosperity. Since the drought has passed, the syndicate is believed both to protect the iron trade from further injury and the time draws near when the mar eting of the crops will begin to affect the volume of speculation does not under. The latest news from the agricultural districts is that the crops largest from. If the weather favors. The rapid movement of the crops to market is also a favorable factor, and the railroads are handling many additional tons and there is a rush to buy goods for delivery further. In finishing manufacturers are sending out warnings that the rise has not reached its limit, and orders for wool are about four times the weekly consumption, which indicates that the mar ets essentially speculative but the rise has set the country at work on a large scale of consuming even, higher prices than heretofore. But the volume of business is enormous and is reflected not at the prices now asked for wool some time ago, but in the rising of prices of corresponding value for goods can be realized.

DEAD COMES TO LIFE.

Remarkable Case of Suspended Animation Reported From New Jersey.

There is an excited but happy father and mother in Pittsgrove, N. J., and a wondering child and a number of astonished neighbors, says the New York Advertiser. The parents are happy because their baby was given back to them apparently from the dead. Not body to nothing ill the matter with her breast and cries over it half a dozen times a day, and the neighbors are astonished to think that a doctor and expert trained nurse should lay the child out for burial when it was alive. The case is a remarkable one of suspended animation. To all appearances the child died, and then, after being unconscious nearly three hours, it came back to life. The child belongs to Louis Erdner. Early Tuesday morning it was taken sick and a physician was summoned. The doctor treated the little one, but after some time pronounced it dead. The body was laid in a cot and covered with a sheet. The mother then sent word to her husband, who was at work a couple of miles from home. On his way to the house in the evening Erdner stopped at the office of Undertaker Evans and engaged him to care for the child. The father selected the coffin and made all the arrangements for the funeral. About two hours later the undertaker with a hearse arrived at the house. Instead of finding a little corpse awaiting him, he found an excited but joyful one. Shortly after the return of the father the child, which had been carefully nursed, showed signs of life, and again became warm. The doctor was summoned in haste, and he with but little effort restored the child to health, and pale all sleet, but very yesterday it seemed to have regained its health and was crawling about the rooms as though nothing unusual had happened.

ONE MAN'S SUFFERING.

The Trials and Tribulations of a Battle Creek Citizen—How He Comes to Tell This Story.

(Of Course the Reader Knows Already.)

Among the moulders at the works of the Michigan foundry company can be found Mr. Amos Maynard, for has lived in Battle Creek for 20 years and is highly honored and respected by all who know him; such is the man who makes this statement of his kidney trouble for years, and if his made my life miserable. The heavy lifting, nerves in my back made me worse. I have become incapable of lifting in a helpless condition for as long as nine days at a time, the greatest pain across my back, which sometimes felt as though a bayonet was being run through me in the region of my kidneys; many citizens of Battle Creek can vouch for me. I could not move without the greatest caution, for as soon as I attempted to stoop over, bend to one side, or rise up, the sharp pain was simply unbearable. I wore porous plasters constantly for the little temporary relief they gave me, but when ever I caught the slightest cold it went straight to my kidneys and made me worse. I had heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some. I have taken in all four boxes of them, and I now feel as though I was entirely cured. The pain has entir
