THE FISHERMAN'S KIT.

A Complete Angling Outfit for only 50 Cents! There are two reasons why we sell it for. Champion rod. It has never been attempted before to put up a fishing kit of this kind. No fisherman can afford to pass this offer by, because when you have got such an outfit for double or more money.

Read the description carefully.

No. 1. One Fine Polished Brass Reel. This is a perfect, riveted brass reel, which works admirably, and will last a lifetime. Any boy will send any line in first-class style. This reel alone is worth the price we ask for the entire outfit.

No. 2. One Linen Trout Line, strictly first-class, made in the most perfect manner, and the strongest line that can be produced. It will safely land the heaviest trout or fish of equal size.

No. 3. One Linen Bass or Salmon Line, of the same high standard, but larger, suited for bass, pike and pickerel. Any angler will like black bass. This line will land the biggest fish caught with bait and sinker, or trolling from boat.

No. 4. One Long Cotton Line, dark colored, nicely cross-barred on a stick, and a hook for every day fishing after perch, catfish, sunfish, rock bass, etc.

No. 5. One Line Furnished Complete with Hook and Sinker. This is a whole outfit in itself, composed of a fine, strong line, with medium-size hook attached, and lead, invariably hook and sinker. Any boy at hand and this line in his pocket, the fisher man can start right out to try his luck.

No. 6. One Dozen Best Steel Ringed Fish Hooks (assorted sizes). These are best grade of hooks, very sharp, suitable for all points and baits, and handy to use, anybody be glad to buy this line for this item of a ring of hooks. With this set of hooks the fisherman can try his luck for any size fish, from minnows to weak fish.

No. 7. Wyo Improved Trout Flies. The finest and most perfected style of fly. Every trout trout from deep pools when finer flies fail. They are natural, brilliant in color, strongly fastened round the hooks, and will give satisfaction.

No. 8. One Improved Bass Fly. This is the best assorted fly for black bass fishing. The best artificial fly on the front flies in excellence of material and artistic position.

No. 9. One Improved Salmon Fly also accompanies the outfit, and of the best quality and perfect shape and color, sure to raise and catch the fish.

No! 10. Two Snell Hooks and Gut. These go hooks are cut on long cuts, and where fish cut the lines, one of these hooks will be used safely until the gut cannot be severed, and lands the fish every time.

Why, then, is a complete fisherman's outfit a low nominal price of half a dollar. To excuse now—the pic ut buy or man can afford this complete assortment, and ought to keep his family in fish by the year round or catch enough to sell. As much sport can be had with this outfit as with a two-dollar one, and the quality of every thing is as represented.

Price of the complete outfit, including every thing herein described, only 50 cents, postpaid, or by mail, postpaid. Send to

Unfortunately for the chief's dignity, the investigation immediately adjourned till the next day.

The United States consular representative at Matamoras, Mexico, reports a prosperous condition of affairs there. "Crops of all kinds are more abundant than they have been for six years, while manufacturing increases rapidly every line. There has also been a marked increase in exports, due to the new tariff. Among the articles in which there is the greatest activity are the wool, cattle and hides, and large advances in prices were made. All but about 20 per cent of the imported goods sold at Matamoras last year came from the United States. Exports of fruit were largely increased in consequence of the Florida frosts."

There is great excitement in Washington because Miss Flagler, who shot and killed a colored boy who reached over the garden fence and nipped a green pea, is summoned before the coroner's jury. Now one of the jurymen says the verdict was not what was intended, and Miss Flagler, therefore, will likely be indicted for her fatal activity. Some have been much more humane had the young lady invited the boy in and filled his pockets. His death would probably have been as certain, but it would have been easier for her.

An Albany young man broke off his engagement just as soon as he saw his sweetheart's picture. That's what he says. She says that it was not the reason at all—she simply found somebody she liked better, and she will soon tire to wear what she chooses.

Here we are at last. Not being able to exhibit the genuine article a Chicago museum has on exhibition this week H. H. Holmes in wax, as well as many interesting relics of the wholesale murderer and his supposed victims. And a dime is all it costs.

It might be advisable for the American board of foreign missions to send a few devoted missionaries to Spring Valley, Ill. The foreigners in that unhappy region sadly need christianizing influences. As between China and Spring Valley the latter place seems to offer a more promising field for converts than the Ki-Cheng district.

MICHIGAN MENTION.

BRIEF ITEMS ABOUT MICHIGAN PEOPLE AND THINGS.

Gov. Rich Sends the Fifth Regiment, Michigan National Guard, to Jahpeming to Protect Mining Property. -- Strikers Don't Like It.

Marquette Miners Still Striking.

The day following the arrival of the troops at Ishpeming there was great excitement among the men. The leaders of the strikers headquarters, but whether it was accidental or incendiary is not known. The strikers were greatly excited over the ejection of a boy named James Finley from the Buffalo mine property by night. Quite because the boy made himself extremely obnoxious. Finley's father had, only arrested the boy's assailant and had it not been for the courageous stand of the city officials and the police in charge of the troops, serious trouble might have occurred. One company of militia was sent to Negaunee later to guard the Buffalo property.

The socialistic element of the strikers are very anxious to have the troops withdrawn from Ishpeming, but the sheriff has declined to do so. Rich to withdraw the troops, but with good success. Mayor Foley of Negaunee, objected to troops being sent there, but the strike leaders would not guarantee safety to property. Mayor Foley, however, placed a limit, for stroking the Finley boy. It is said that the men running the shovels are the ones who are over doing poor work. Ten more were added men arrived at Ishpeming and were escorted to the mines. The strikers admit fuses and jeers from the miners. Supt Pitch has asked for troops to protect the shanghai men. It is reported the Frederick Brassted, of the Winthrop mine, has offered his men a 10 per cent advance over the scale offered by the other mines and it will be accepted.

Lively at Ishpeming--Soldier Killed.

Since the arrival of the troops, the beginning of work with steam shovels, and the shanghaiing of men by the strikers places there have been no dull times at Ishpeming. One of the incidents which followed the arrival was the desertion of several of the new men from the working force at the Winthrop mine. The men employed by Frederick Brassted, of the Winthrop mine, has offered his men a 10 per cent advance over the scale offered by the other mines and it will be accepted.

A fierce thunderstorm passed over the mining section and camp Ishpeming was for a time deluged with the downpour. Trees were felled in every direction and flying branches filled the air. A falling tree struck and instantly killed Joseph Antoine Le Calumet. Eight trees fell in the encampment during the night, several falling between occupied tents.

Chapter of Street Car Accidents.

Detroit has been for a certain time with its street cars for some years, but unless something is done to stop this recently inaugurated slaughter of its citizens the city will be depopulated. Here is the history of one day's massacre. The first victim was Mrs. Daniel Laughlin, aged 86, who was taking to his brother while stabbing beside the track on Michigan avenue. The going of an approaching car evidently startled the old man as he stepped right in front of it and was fatally mangled.

At the corner of Woodward and Grand River avenues a little girl was struck and had both of the arms and chest. A little later at the same Mrs. Geo. L. Maltz and daughter were picked up more or dar, but were not seriously injured.

Cadillac avenue car struck and dangerously injured Martin Bowen in a buggy. Bowen was trying to board to sell papers. His skull was fractured.

Peter Johns was run into while driving his wagon and demolished. The horse killed and Burns so badly hurt that his life was despaired of.

Fred Hodges was fatally killed at Ecorse, a suburb, by being struck by a motor car on the Wyandotte & Trenton suburban line.

Michigan's Foreign Population Increasing.

Secretary of State Gardner has issued the annual report of the census showing the parent nativity of the inhabitants of Michigan, July, 1894, as compared with July, 1893, and 1890. The total population is 2,238,947, native, and foreign born. Of the native inhabitants, 50.26, or 50 per cent, were males, and 49.74 per cent, were females. Of the foreign inhabitants, 52.42, or 52.42 per cent, were males. The number whose parents are both foreign born is 30 per cent, the number whose parents are both native and the other foreign-born is 11.85 per cent of the total number reported. The number of the foreign inhabitants of foreign parentage was 42.21 in 1890, 43.85 in 1893, and in 1894, comparing the percentages of the census of 1890 inhabitants, the number whose parents are both native is in the northern counties, 53.12; upper peninsula, 33.3. The number whose parents are both foreign born is 30 per cent; in the northern counties, 30.9; upper peninsula, 29.3.

Port Huron Sore on the Grand Trunk Ry.

The members of the Port Huron chamber of commerce met Mr Charles M. Wilson, the new president of the Grand Trunk railway, and Messrs. Sargent, Gen. Supt. Spicer and other officials of that road at the tunnel depot and had a conference. Those present to the effect that their city had suffered greatly because of the insufficient accommodations and by freight charges on the part of the Grand Trunk. The railway people said they were in business for money and not to build up towns, and that they thought Port Huron's grievances were imaginary. The result of the conference was that freight rates and the penurious business had driven several large concerns to Sarnia, and that they would not stand for it. They believed Mr. Vanzy will recover but as the bullet penetrated Mr. Vanzy's brain death is almost certain. They pair had been living together for some time, but when the girl was visiting herself by working at Ottawa Beach, and begged her to return to him. She refused and the tragedy followed.

Steamer Burned on the Lake.

The steamer Queen of the Shore, which plies between Saginaw and Bay City, left Saginaw with quite a number of passengers and several tons of hay, but she caught fire when opposite Melbourne and burned to the water's edge. The steamer was commanded by Capt. Will Armstrong who succeeded in landing the passengers in safety. Many were terrified and attempted to jump into the river. The boat is a complete wreck. The loss is covered by insurance. The forbes is owned by Capt. Armstrong of Saginaw, and is said to be valued at $8,000.

Big Fire at Alpena.

The Folkert & McPhee shingle mill at Alpena, together with a large stock of piled and unassorted shingles, lath and bolts, and a portion of No. 2 engine house, was destroyed by fire. The loss will not be far from $45,000, with but $4,000 insurance. The wind was blowing a gale, and it was only the hardest work in the flames were kept from spreading to the business portion of the town. A half million of shingles were saved by throwing them into the river.

Severe Loss at Hermansville.

A large fire in the planing mill of the C. L. Meyer Lumber Co., at Hermansville destroyed almost every stick in reach. A strong wind was blowing at the time and it was feared that the entire town would be destroyed, but good work by calling firemen kept the flames from reaching the mills. The loss is about $85,000; insurance $29,000. The fire was caused by a spark from a passing locomotive.

Roesommon Had a Hot Blaze.

A fire was discovered in the main building of the O. B. Hoffman manufacturing plant at Roesommon. It spread to the sawmill and dry kiln and each standing on fire and destroyed the whole plant. The loss will reach $50,000, insured.

Thirty-three Miners Entombed by Fire in the Osceola Copper Mine at Calumet, Mich.--No Hopes of Their Rescue Alive --Indications Suggest Incendiaries.

Thirty-three Miners Killed.

The Osceola copper mine at Calumet caught fire, and 33 miners were imprisoned far below the surface of the earth. There was little hope of their escape, and in all likelihood most, if not all of them, were dead within a few hours. The fire started in No. 3 shaft, and investigation showed that the blaze originated on the twenty-seventh level. A shed was contained more woodwork than any other shaft of the Osceola mine and this, together with the fact that the blaze started in the spot where it was scarcely possible for it to have been accidentally set, is believe that some fiend started the fire in order to cripple the mine.

Nothing definite could be learned at work on the day shift when the fire was discovered. Of this number the men were all trapped in safety, although some of the men were cut off to reach the surface climbed out of the other shafts in safety, and in a fearful condition. A number of men had carried out by their companions. Reasoning parties were sent down the other shafts but without avail. They encountered themselves with difficulty. It was judged impossible to quench the fire by ordinary means, and the buildings at the mouth of the shaft were torn down and heavy timbers placed across the burning shaft which it was thought would smother the fire. This work was very difficult because of the great volume of smoke. As the fire had a natural vent was stopped the smoke and hot air forged its way along the course of the shaft. The fire continued and soon began to emerge from them in great clouds. It was now out of question to enter the mine, as the men ascended fifty feet. It will be impossible to enter the mine until the fire has subsided for which it will probably be several days. The Osceola fortunately has a smaller amount of inflammable material than the Calumet & Hecla mine, the largest copper mine in the district, using very little wood except in the shafts. The out put of the Osceola is one of the largest and most gloomy. It is probable that most if not all of them were overcome by the intense heat before they could reach their way out of the mine. If they are on any level above the twenty-seventh it is certain that they are dead. If, however, all or a portion of the number descended to the levels below the twenty-seventh they are undoubtedly still alive. If they are still living they can survive in the lower levels for a number of days. The scene about the mouth of the shafts began to be heartrending. Wives and children of the unfortunate miners gathered about the mouths of the poor little drill boys, relatives and friends, ag crowded about, weeping and wailing. No blame can be attached to the mine owners or managers.

Another Attempt to Dynamite Rothschild.
