STORY OF SUNDAY-SCHOOL

From way out near Denver, Colo., comes the news that Frank T. Evans' health is gaining very rapidly and hopes soon to have regained his entire health.

Mr. A. F. Waino, brother of Prof. E. Waino, passed his last week at his estate at Pinetown college and preached a very fine sermon at the Presbyterian church last Sunday.

The people on the west end of Maple St. who are anxious to have the house removed from the present site, have agreed to give the lot to the city. The five years are up and it rests with the village board to see that the agreement is kept.

The electrical railroad is progressing rapidly. As possible locations are all appearances it will have the best surface electric railway in the country. The building of the tracks in the winter is no job.

Atchafalaya, a blacksmith of good game and fast, has opened a shop at John Bidwell's, where he will be more than pleased to see his former patron. He is a first-class workman and comes thoroughly recommended.

Monday Jan. 27, 1896. Mr. J. H. Smith, a blacksmith of good game and fast, has opened a shop at John Bidwell's, where he will be more than pleased to see his former patron. He is a first-class workman and comes thoroughly recommended.

as church was a joyous affair for the children and the evening was quite interesting. At the Methodist, Miss Mary Nicks gave a very interesting address proceeding that was entirely new for Christmas entertaining but none the less very profitable. At the Presbyterian the Decussers' Home in Detroit received a large donation of vegetables and stock articles as they used, which were distributed to them in Detroit the next day.

Frank Gravelin, of near Franklin, seems to be playing or working in unusual hard luck as the following will show. Several weeks ago, while hauling logs, he met with an accident in which his foot was badly crushed. Scarcely had he recovered from the injury and again begun logging, when he met with another accident. A log was passing the line from one hand to the other across a tree, which grew close to the track to admit of his going between it and the wagon, the log was wedged in but by attempting the log against his arm, breaking it off and stripping a large portion of it from the bone. The injury was caused from the young man is now only waiting for it to heal but he has many months to wait.

Young Camp, went out to Denver, Colo. a few years ago, a young lad with ordinary and in rather poor health. Today he is back visiting his parents, a great big, burly, stout fellow, who is healthy and happy, and he says own plenty of money or stuff that will procure cash. Brown, with a comfortable income, is a big, dandy business man, getting nearly $700 worth of stock daily to the restaurants and hotels of the western city. They collect each week and don't have any strike or disputes or any kind of a thing. They are as happy as a baby in the morning. The milk business is the one that pays and pays well.
