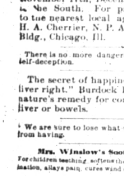
HESITATE NO LONGER.

Modesty in women is natural. It is one of women's chief charms.

No one cares for one who really lacks this essential to womanliness.



Women have suffered fearfully because of over-sensitiveness in this direction. They couldn't say to the physician what they ought to and consequently someone, Mrs. Pinkham has received the confidences of these thousands. Women open their hearts to her. She understands their suffering, and has the power to relieve and cure.

In nearly all cases the source of women's suffering is in the womb. In many cases the female physician does not understand the case, and the patient for consumption—indigestion—anything but the right thing.

It is under such circumstances that thousands of women have turned to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and opened their heart and lives to woman to woman—and received her help.

You ask how she can tell if the doctor cannot? Because no man living ever treated so many cases and possessed such vast experience.

Displacement, inflammation, torpid action, stagnation, sends to all parts of the body the pain that is to finish you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's "Vegetable Compound" is the sure cure for this trouble. For twenty years it has done the grand work and cured thousands.

TWEEN THE LAKES.

MICHIGAN NEWS RECORDED IN BRIEF ITEMS.

Schooner Waukesha Founders in a Gale Off Muskegon and of the Crew of Seven but One Man Escapes—Drunken Captain and Crew Responsible.

Schooner Sank—Six Men Drowned.

The three-masted schooner Waukesha, of Chicago sank off Muskegon at eight during a gale, and of the crew including the captain, were drowned and only one man was rescued. The survivor is Frank Dolack, aged about 30. He was a seaman on the ill-fated schooner, and had the life saving crew been 15 minutes later he would not have lived to tell the story.

Dolack tells a terrible story of this his first trip on the Waukesha. He says: "Capt. Duncan Corbett was in command of the Waukesha, which was loaded with 600 tons of salt in bulk and 25 barrels of apples, and bound from Ludington to South Chicago. We left Ludington with a slight wind, but the old ship sprung a leak and in a short time we were working the pumps with four feet of water in the hold. We ran as far south as Grand Haven, but the captain and mate were drunk and said it was not found. Having kept at the pumps all night, and in the morning were 30 miles off shore, I told the captain if he kept going that way we would sink in midlake, and urged him to keep well to the shore. The weather continued good and we reached Muskegon. My partner and I knew it was Muskegon, but the captain and mate said it was not. We started to run in but the captain was stubborn and would not do so. The ship was fast filling with water and my partner and I became desperate and told the captain we would make him run in. The mate advanced on us with clenched fists, and cussing us, said he would like to see us make him. At three o'clock my partner and I let the yawl over as that we might drift ashore, but it was too late. The ship commenced to sink and we all took to the rigging of the foremast. The sea was now running high, and it was 9 o'clock at night. The mast snapped and we were thrown into the water. One by one my partner and I saw the other members of the crew go down to death. We had managed to lash two spars together and tried to help them but as they were helpless themselves they were washed from the spars as fast as we pulled them on. At 8 o'clock in the morning my partner died and I was going to sleep myself when I awoke with a jerk to find the life boat coming from the shore. I stood up on the spars to let them see me and I was soon in the boat. Thank God."

Dolack was in the cold water for 12 hours. He says one of the men was a Swede, aged about 50; the mate was an American and the other four were Canadians about 45; the Negro cook was 26, and the other member of the crew besides the captain was a young Irishman, 22. The Waukesha was one of the finest fleet of "scanners." She was owned by F. H. Heald, of Chicago and was formerly known as the Naboff. She was built in Manitowoc in 1861 and was valued at $8,000.

Young Woman Whitecapped at Capac.

Miss Louisa Roy was brutally treated by about a score of whitecaps at Capac, because of her alleged fondness for the society of H. P. Jenney, a well-known lawyer. Louisa Roy has been a clerk in Jenney's office about six years. Mrs. Jenney became jealous, and frequent family quarrels resulted. Recently the fellow has spent much time at the Roy home and finally the citizens visited the house, ordering Mr. Roy to surrender both Jenney and his daughter. Upon his refusal to do so they hurled stones through the windows. Miss Roy came out and threw herself on the mercy of the mob, and they partly shredded the clothes from her, rolled her over in the mud and escorted her up Main street yelling, "Hang her," "tar and feather her." She was finally allowed to go home. Mr. Jenney left the Roy house and skipped the town.

Hung in His Cell.

George W. Whipple, a butcher, living at 87 Twenty-fifth street at Detroit, has been away from his wife and family for some time, because he is not able to agreed with them. He returned and went to his home. Shortly afterwards he was arrested on an old warrant, charging him with being a tippler. He was taken to the Vinewood-ave. police station. About an hour after he had been in a cell Detective Copland heard a peculiar sound in the cell. He found Whipple hanging to the bars at the top of his cell by a cord. He died in a few minutes. He had taken off his shoes so that his movements could not be heard by the doorman. The cord he hanged himself with was one he had been using as a belt to keep his trousers up.

Creditors May Seize Niles' Waterworks.

The city of Niles is in a predicament. With an outstanding debt of nearly $240,000 there are prospects that some of the creditors may seize the new electric light and water works system. The council is unable to pay bonds long past due held by N. W. Harris & Co., of Chicago, who declare they will sue the city. As the treasury is empty and taxes not due until December, there is no way to meet the obligations except to hold a special election to vote bonds. Last June a special election was held, but the taxpayers voted the proposition down, and there is every prospect they will do so again.

Germans Bitter Against Bismarck.

Berlin: The Hamburger Nachrichten's reply to the press attacks made upon that paper, which is accused of making "Traitorous revelations," in having disclosed the existence of the Russo-German neutrality treaty during the period extending from 1884 to 1890, has not in the slightest degree pacified Prince Bismarck's enemies, nor has it stilled the clamor that the government take immediate and decisive action to suppress the revelations.

These seems now to be no doubt that the fall of Prince Bismarck was associated with the emperor's denunciation of the Russo-German treaty, and his majesty's appointment of Count Caprivi as imperial chancellor followed. Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, and Count Kalnoky, the Austrian minister of foreign affairs, had got wind of the secret convention between Prince Bismarck and the Russian foreign office, probably through St. Petersburg, and the emperor feared that Germany's implied infidelity to the dreibund would cause a rupture of the relations of the allied powers and leave Russia master of the situation, consequently he dismissed Bismarck and thus cemented the alliance with Austria.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

A great revolution has been effected in the condition of each central business. It will be in any fair degree reflected as yet in transactions or in records, but there is every evidence already that a crushing weight has been lifted and rolled away, and the business world has begun to adjust itself to a state of freedom and security which it has not known for years. A growing disposition appears among farmers to hold wheat for better prices than can be realized, although at present any advance checks buying for export. Speculative excitation was also excited on the theory that mills would now start up as many have done, who would meet a large demand for goods. But the reliance was met by retailing sales and a slight reaction. It will be all the better for business if bright hopes do not boost prices too fast. The election immediately suffered prices of pig iron, and low or relatively low prices for orders for buildings and bridges and other inlated forms would now become operative and flies some advance. Practically no change has yet appeared in woolens, but the reported purchases of wool, including eleven million pounds by a syndicate, amounted to 18 cl on goods in the past week, against 5,821, 0 the same week last year and 8,731, 0 in 1892. For the year past week were 20, against 28 the corresponding week of last year.

A Berlin correspondent says: "The czar has ordered all documents connected with the Russo-German secret convention (which Prince Bismarck has recently made public through the Hamburger Nachrichten) in the possession of the Russian foreign office or of the family of Count Schouvaloff, who was Russian ambassador at Berlin in 1890, to be submitted to him forthwith. Emperor William is also indignant at the disclosures made."

The Jacob Fisher pottery at Lyons, N. Y., is now running full blast for the first time in many months.

Cured By Baco-Cure and Gained Thirty Pounds.

From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of which are on file and open to inspection, the following is presented:

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 28, 1895.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., LaCrosse, Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For thirty years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, using Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt, and various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian To-bacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Cure" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved of all the distressing aches and pains of body and spirit. I could write a book of paper upon my changed feeling and condition.

Yours respectfully, P. H. MARBURY.

Pastor C. P. Church, Clayton, Ark.
