Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which sometimes afflict us, we are more willing to use the means which promotes internal cleanliness, and without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, the use of other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skilful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed, everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Drunken Screenders' Dastardly Deed.

Sheriff Kerns, of Saginaw, was notified by Mr. Russell, of Thomas township, that his daughter Nellie's home was a crowd called to serenade the couple. Beer was frequently passed and they became very noisy. Mr. Russell kept cool, but made some enemies in the crowd and about 3 a. m. when he saw three men coming toward his home he fired his revolver into the air to frighten them. It failed to do this, threw a bomb against the house, blowing the door in and smashing the side of the house and windows.

Michigan Gold Democrats Organizing.

The sound money Democrats of Michigan effected an informal organization at Grand Rapids with John S. Lawrence as secretary, and have issued a manifesto bolting the Chicago ticket and platform. It is proposed to form other organizations effected in all parts of the state, and, if a national sound money Democratic ticket shall be put into the field, to nominate a full line of sound money electors in the state. The manifesto was signed by about 90 well-known Democrats.

Elk Rapids officials chased Sam Bemus, a young man who skipped out with a horse and buggy belonging to Elrey Bunn, a saloonkeeper of that place. Bemus took the rig after being refused the use of it by the owner, and threatened the lives of any who might pursue, although he was under the influence of liquor. He resisted arrest at the display of two revolvers and a Winchester rifle. Bemus started for Kalkaska, but was intercepted at Williamsburg by Deputy Sheriff Thacker, upon whom he fired, but missed his aim. In the commotion which followed he made good his escape with the rig. He was captured later at Kalkaska.

THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

NATIONAL CONVENTION HELD AT ST. LOUIS.

The Name of Sewall Prevented the Indorsement of the Democratic Ticket—An Account of the Convention Proceedings Told in a Concise Manner.

Convention hall at St. Louis, the place where a few weeks ago Wm. McKinley was nominated as the Republican candidate for president, was the scene of another national convention, the outcome of which was quite the opposite to the former one.

The delegates to the national People's party convention were slow in assembling. It was half past 12 when Chairman Taubeneck of the national committee called the 3,000 delegates and spectators to order. Rev. W. L. Smith, of St. Louis, offered prayer, and then Gov. Stone, of Missouri, made an address of welcome. Ignatius Donnelly, of Minnesota, responded. Senator Butler, of North Carolina, was present as temporary chairman, and that gentleman delivered a catching speech, which was heartily applauded and then a recess was taken until 5 o'clock.

The evening session was inaugurated by the electric lights being disabled, leaving the auditorium almost in the dark. The delegates spent almost an hour singing, whistling, talking, singing and shouting, but finally Chairman Butler ordered the session to begin. In the following day.

The chairman was a few minutes late in calling order, but he might as well have been hours late as no business was transacted. Committees were being appointed on permanent organization, and on resolutions, and the convention finally took a recess until 10 a. m. Monday, the committee on resolutions having asked for more time.

There were several skirmishes over the report of the committee on credentials, the fight being between the faction desiring to indorse Bryan, the Democratic nominee, and the faction working for a straight-out Populist ticket. The latter faction had been finally settled the report of the committee on credentials was taken up, and after much debate the first real test of the strength of the two factions at the Democratic convention when Bryan was nominated. After a few minutes debate it was rejected and the selection of Allen was made unanimous. Allen's election as delegate-at-large to the platform by Cyclone Davis, who placed in nomination Donnelly, of Minnesota, and Mr. Pence, Mr. Allen's address was eagerly sought, but held the interest of the delegates and he brought forth frequent and loud applause and cheers, especially by his denunciations of gold, Bailey and Cleveland. When he had concluded a motion was adopted to appoint a committee of one from each congressional district to act as a committee of the whole on the platform and resolutions. The committee then retired to the platform committee room and for the consideration of the platform and resolutions.

After prayer at the opening session the next day Chairman Allen introduced Mrs. Marion Todd, of Buffalo, a leader of Populists worker, who spoke briefly and paid a tribute to the memory of the late Lucy Emory. A. A. Noe, an Ohio delegate, introduced Mrs. Lockwood, a lady representing sixteen ounces of silver and one ounce of gold. She was received with much enthusiasm. After this introduction came a novel incident occurred. Gen. C. H. Lloyd, of Rockville, Ind., and Gen. Pennington, "the sweet singer of Arkansas," marched down the hall dressed in the full time of Uncle Sam and Columbia. They made their way to the platform and the gentleman Howard and Harney Gibbs, of Alabama, delivered a speech in favor of the motion. The plain purpose of the delegation was to help Sewall's strength. The proposition would show the state delegations the strength of the anti-Bryan men. There were a number of refusals to second the motion, and preliminary squabbling, and the delegates were brought up to the highest pitch of excitement when the roll call began. The roll call of the states was taken, and it was found nearly two-thirds against it when it was announced that the minority report had been defeated. The applause broke loose and the anti-Bryan crowd held a jubilee for a few minutes.

Gen. J. B. Weaver, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was then recognized to read the platform, as agreed upon by the committee. He was received with applause. The enumeration of the different planks was heard with frequent applause, which would evidently have been greater but for the fact that Gen. Weaver declared that he would not read the platform in its entirety, hence. The applause was repeatedly broken into by the reiterations of the prayers from the anti-Bryan men.
