

THE DIMINISHING COGNITION

OUR DOLLAR PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.
WHITFIELD & MITCHELL, PUBS.

BIRMINGHAM, FRIDAY, OCT. 1, 1913

HER VEINS. But the existing condition of things in Hawaii won't allow the blood to tell.

"Try not the pass," said the old man in the poem over his shoulder at the destination days. If he had it to say over again, he would doubtless remark, try not the Chilkoot Pass."

The last bomb fired for Faure re-echoed up the gun that always "blows off." Its own explosion triggered just before going to bed, and it went off just in time to shoot him awake in the morning.

Many ignorant people, and some not so ignorant, have supposed that weary was not regarded with disfavor by the Jewish religion. The famous English money lender, has been expelled from the synagogue for unscrupulous and religiously charitable institutions have been charned to accept no money from one whose dealing offends against Jewish morality, and brings ill-fame upon the House of Israel."

An expert in the matters of ink and papers says that the best of the best period are printed with such paper as on such prehistoric paper that for generations will not have an opportunity of reaching the eyes of the people in the case of some contemporary books our grandchildren will thus suffer a loss; but the total disappearance of such that passes for journalism in these days will be so great a gain that it may well be held that the balance is on the right side.

One evidence of the soundness of the English language appears in the ease with which it can be off-puttingly difficult when the need for them arises away. Already the Klondike gold craze has given the colloquial klondiker, or one who is mistaken as to the words of the sort will be sure to follow. We may read of a klondiker, who has gone to join his husband in that region of klondiker word, but who has who has the craze fully developed as a klondiker. When the mines are exhausted the words will die out, and the English tongue will be as pure as ever.

A pretty woman must first of all have clearly-cut regular features. She must have full, clear eyes. She must have a skin that is above reproach, untroubled by pores or powder. Her hair must be glossy and it has never been blown the touch of bleach and she must have a good figure, plump enough yet slender enough, though never excessive of an angle. She must have a white, expressive hand, preferred as the small one, but not of necessity, if it is well kept and white. She must have small ears and a throat that is as round as a marble column for her head. She must know how to put on her clothes, she must know how to wear them, she must understand the best way of hair dressing, and cling closely to it.

Some facts as to the conduct of the management of public bathhouses in Europe are given in the current monthly bulletin of the department of labor. It shows that the department of labor bath and washhouse facilities, which originated in England in 1842, has spread widely in Great Britain and on the continent, and has not only established its focus. It notes that the establishment of public bathhouses in connection with bathhouses of the combined swimming and ovalness is as common as in the early years of the movement. The success of the movement in Germany in establishing workmen's baths of the shower type is cited as evidence that the simpler and less expensive forms can be most profitably introduced. In American cities in their first attempts to provide working classes with adequate baths for cleansing and refreshment.

The Iowa Transmississippi and Industrial Exposition commission which has charge of the exhibit to be made by that state at the exposition to be held at Omaha next summer has issued a stirring appeal to the people of Iowa not only to advertise their agricultural wealth in the best possible manner, but also to the possibilities of developing a great manufacturing state. The legislature has appropriated only $10,000 for the Iowa exhibit, but the commission is appealing to the farmers and stockmen to raise $50,000 more as a matter of state interest, as well as state pride. At the Philadelphia Centennial exposition Iowa took the gold medal for farm and dairy products, and its splendid exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair will be well remembered. Its people ought to return a favorable and enthusiastic answer to the appeal of their commission, raise the required sum of money, and come to the front at Omaha.

Mayor Quincy of Boston refused to shake hands with Puggill Sullivan and therefore Mr. Sullivan put himself up as a candidate for mayor against Quincy, so that a fight will be pulled out—if that is the correct terminology, notwithstanding the omission of the usual military politeness. And the pugilist's platform is not bad. "I will give them work and fair wages, and give them a poor right-give the under dog a haec?"

The Indian side of the Indian question has been said to be the under side, as we are changing sides. The real rescuing, plunder side is now the under side, while the killers of Indians are most extensively in dime museums, and use imagination for ammunition."

The Aitchison Globe remarks that Professor Kauer will deliver a lecture on the Luther-Ran church tomorrow night at Miss Ellison will speak. Admission cents straight; two for a quarter, this for domestic or imported only.

Last Thursday a bad runaway started in front of L. B. Peabody's store. A span of horses, one of which frightened and pulled the driver and a lady out of the wagon over the dashboard and away they went kicking the buggy, but not harming seriously the occupants of the vehicle.

Congressman Samuel W. Smith of Pontiac left for Washington with his family on Thursday last week. Mr. Smith will remain a short time to establish his home and start his four young sons in school when he will return to his legal duties here in the convening of the next session of congress.

A Partridge, who was a member of the building committee when the school house was built here years ago, says that no public building in the state is more safely built than our own school building and that the walls are strong enough, and the floor too, to hold up all that can be piled into the rooms.

An island in Lake Orion sets very funny appearing and disappearing at regular seasons of the year. The fact is not caused by the raising and lowering of the water in the lake because now the island is unusually high and the island has bobbed up as usual on time. When clear away up there is nearly an acre of it.

Miss Esther Marsh left this week for Ann Arbor, where she will take post-graduate work in the University. She received the degree of Master of Arts from the degree of B. A. from Alma College in '94. Clarence J. Cowles is the leading architect of Saginaw Valley. He changes his advt this issue and what he says is directly to the point. Read it. He furnishes the plans for H. A. Pappillier's beautiful new home and it is handsome, cozy, comfortable and homelike. If you are going to build a home or overhaul the old home, this architect will save you money.

The frame is already up and shothed of H. A. Pappillier's elegant new home on Maple Ave., and judging from the present indications it will be the pride of the village and a handsome addition to the Poppleton subdivision. Willis B. Carter, builder, is pushing the work as rapidly as possible and expects that H. A. and family will be settled before winter sets in.

One of our brightest and best young men has his eye in making a day or so last week, the result of a lively scrap he had with a passenger on the electric going to Detroit. He didn't take many words before, the mill was on and it was short, sharp and victorious for Birmingham. Women fainted, wrong their hands, crying for the car to stop, but the car went on just the same.

Bert Fuller, of Franklin, slugged young Roy Ford, of Royal Oak, last Saturday night in front of Thos. Thurlby's blacksmith shop with a stick of stove wood and Ford fell dead, and it was thought for a while his spirit had flown but it had not. After making his strike Fuller ran like a deer with Marshal Judge second, but failed to catch his man.

Mr. Fuller it is said has settled the matter with Ford by paying $10.35.

F. Rundle is a lucky man and again has made a most satisfactory deal in selling and trading his farm near Island Lake for a $12,000 piece of property in Detroit and has made a pretty little sum in the deal. He has sold his farm to A. F. Klen, who will at once take possession of his new property. Mr. Rundle had a big auction sale on Wednesday of this week and cleaned up all his farm stock, tools and everything. We heard a man say the other day speaking of Mr. Rundle's good luck: "B'gosh! he can buy and sell anything and make a profit each way every time."

Dr. Shaw was called to see a man who had fallen in a fit at the hotel one night last week. The Doctor brought him around all right and the next day in Pontiac he fell down on the street in front of his home. He was taken to Dr. Loseg's office and later on to the Northern Hotel, where he died, it is said, of heart trouble. At latest reports he could not be identified, but it is supposed his name is either Brown or Smith. He was about 25 years old, had light complexion, smoothly shaven face, wore a right side and was about five feet 9 inches tall and weighed 140 pounds. He was dressed in a suit of blue jeans and wore a straw hat.

BELL'S SHOE HOUSE, 35 Saginaw St., Pontiac, Mich.

Anything Wanted in SCHOOL SHOES?

We have a large stock, perhaps the largest in town, we don't care to enter into any controversy on that point, however, suffice it to say that we have a good assortment both pointed and otherwise, just a pointer, see the point? Our prices are right, too. That's another important consideration. Our trade on dollar shoes is very thriving. People know a good thing when they see it. Our stock of colored shoes is large and were simply unobtainable without regard to price. Where?
