THE RIGHTFUL HEIR

By M. T. CALDWELL

CHAPTER V. "My mother raised me on her shoulder to listen. Clear and distinct, in a peculiar tone, she said: 'Bernard, what is that?'"

There was a faint smile on her face as she looked at the still evening air four blasts upon a whistle. Bernard sprang to his feet with a rapidly changing face.

"It is your ivory whistle, certainly," said she, "you lost it long ago, we discovered."

Bernard was lost in painful agitation. "It must go," said he, "it is the key to the door."

"Be prudent, O Bernard, be cautious! I was never afraid of your discretion before, but alas! I have prayed so many a man, and returned so many other successful cases, I tremble now for ours."

"Quick, quick, this is the time for prying. I will take my pistols to my apartment. I am going to give an answer which my father's partiality shall not soften. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"Do not do that," said she, "do not do that. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

"I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer. I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer, I will give you my answer."

Railroad Economy

The Baltimore and Ohio West Virginia Railway has been experimenting with electric motors on turn-tables. Turning locomotives at divisional points and terminals is a service of much importance and no little expense to railroad companies.

Experiments were made with an electric motor on the 60-foot turntable at Chillicothe, Ohio.

After all that has been said in favor of the different methods of Bible study the fact remains that there is no better way to get at the meaning of the Bible than by trying to live up to it.
