NEW YEAR REVERIES.

Two rich men were sipping wine in the exclusive dining room of a New York clubhouse. Each had been forty years. Each had a private income of not far from that figure of...

There are thousands of men and women in old and younger countries and hundreds in young America to whom it seems almost that a real new year can come. Life is so receptive they have already seen and felt it all. But there is a new year life to them. It is to touch the heart with a new love for the poor...

There is an old tradition that says that long ago the mistletoe was a big tree, nourished from mother earth as other trees are, and that the mistletoe hung in the castle hall. The holly branch shone on the old oak wall.

FOR WOMEN AND HOME.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FOR MAIDS AND MATRONS. A Gown of Gray Cashmere—A Recommendation for a Winter Evening—Women of the Orient—Some Notes About Tea Gowns.

THE MISTLETOE. Love of the Little Plant So Popular at Christmas. A most curious thing is that the little plant to study is the mistletoe. It is an evergreen. We seldom see it, or hear much about it, save at Christmas.

The picture shows a gown of gray cashmere, having the ever present bloused front of the same material, which acts as a girdle for the blouse with Spanish and bolero fronts of black velvet overlaid with white that garnish and jet, which are edged with narrow plating of black liberty satin.

able black skirt to wear with the fact that it is put on more often asked than any other by the woman who makes the skirt answer for many occasions. It is a very simple and elegant dress, and is a very good one for the winter.

Women are often accused of becoming careless about their dress, and style of hair-dressing after marriage, and the reason for this speculated upon. Here is the other side of the question.
