Burglar Kills a Prominent Citizen of Adrian—Two Young People Killed by Passenger Train on the D. G. H. & W. Railroad at South Lyon.

Adrian Man Killed by a Burglar.

Mrs. Lafayette Ladd, of Adrian, was awakened about 3 a. m. by a slight noise in the room. She saw a man searching the bureau drawers. She aroused Mr. Ladd, who arose partially and asked what the man wanted. The intruder would have to pass Ladd nearly in order to get from the room. He sprang to his feet as Ladd spoke, fired his revolver and escaped. The bullet struck Mr. Ladd in the left breast just above the heart. The alarm was given, officers and a physician summoned and every effort made to locate the miscreant, but without avail. He had gained entrance by prying up the bay window in the front room, using a "jimmy." The ball could not be found by probing and as opening of ten inches was made which disclosed the course of the ball to be downward through the liver, kidney, spleen and bowels, making eight perforations of the intestines. Mr. Ladd died the following afternoon. The burglar got about $70, and a gold watch.

Mr. Ladd has been one of the prominent business men of Adrian, was proprietor of a large canning industry, and has served one term of two years in the council.

The horse, being just over the rails, escaped serious injury. The bodies were carried about five rods. Miss Fisher's legs were both cut off, and her body otherwise mangled and she died instantly. REVIEW OF TRADE.

The most conspicuous improvement in trade conditions is in the weather throughout the central and western and northwestern states, where country roadways are more nearly impassable than ever before. Retail building materials, particularly lumber, in staple articles there is very dull, and prices. There is no sign of trade revival in the southern states, where the farmers trade is in one-half of the usual cotton crop may be raised in Arkansas and Mississippi this year, but the outlook is not promising. Demand for dry goods is slow and the mail order jobbers remain at work without profits, as the lesser of two evils. Woolen and cotton manufacturers are working actively, iron and steel continue dull, although a slight improvement is noted in the price of staples. Hides, furs, jute, leather, coffee, cotton and woolens have advanced.

The railroad committee of the House is apparently working hand in glove with the railroads. The committee decided to report unfavorably bills providing for the repeal of the Michigan Central special charter, to prevent special stops and to prevent making low rates between points, even on commutation tickets, which they do not grant all other points on their lines. The committee reported out favorably the bill permitting railroads incorporated in other states to consolidate in the state of Michigan, and permitting railroad directors to hold meetings in any part of the state.

THE 55TH CONGRESS AT WORK.

SENATE—22d day.—Mr. Morgan concluded his long speech on the resolution declaring that a state of war exists in Cuba and granting belligerent rights to the Cubans. He announced that he intended to secure a final vote on the resolution at an early day. Mr. Chandler introduced bills empowering the secretary of the navy to lease the Bethlehem and Carnegie steel plants for the manufacture of armor plate for cruisers now in course of construction, returning the plants to the companies after the completion of the ships. The bankruptcy bill was taken up, Mr. Lindsay, of Kentucky, defending the measure. House—No session.

SENATE—23d day.—The first test vote in the Senate on the tariff bill was on a motion by Mr. Morrill, Republican, of Vermont, chairman of the committee on finance, to refer a resolution by Mr. Vest, one of the Democratic members of that committee. This made the issue between representatives of the two leading elements in the Senate. Aside from this the resolution was in the nature of a criticism of Secretary of the Treasury Gage and declared that during his ownership of bonds or goods imported after April 1, when according to the retroactive clause of the pending Dingley bill, the new tariff rates are to apply. Mr. Morrill's motion prevailed by the close vote of 31 to 23. Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, endeavored to have a time fixed for the final vote on the Cuban resolution. Mr. Hoar objected and Mr. Morgan gave notice that the resolution would be pressed daily until a final vote was reached. The Indian appropriation bill was then taken up and was still under consideration when the Senate adjourned. House—The session was exceedingly brief, lasting only 10 minutes.

SENATE—24th day.—The day was spent considering the Indian appropriation bill, but it was not completed. The pending question was on the committee amendment opening the Uncompahgre reservation in Utah.

Resolutions of inquiry were agreed to asking the secretary of state as to the operation of the reciprocity treaties negotiated under the McKinley act. Mr. Vest introduced his resolution declaring illegal the recent order of the secretary of the treasury relative to imposing duties on goods in bond. In executive session it was agreed to vote on the arbitration treaty May 5. After the executive session the Senate went into secret session over the Bering Sea matter. Mulliken, of Maine, deceased. House—No session.

There was no ceremonial and beyond the attendance of a guard of honor, the removal was accomplished very quietly. Several thousand people were present.

Honolulu advices say that the Japanese immigrants who have been pouring into the Hawaiian islands under the guise of students are in reality well trained soldiers. When their baggage was examined at quarantine in each case there was found a military uniform. Aside from this their gait and movements on the streets show their training. The Hawaiian government fears that Japan has designs upon Hawaiian territory.

The Spanish authorities have again shown their brutal cruelty to a dying man. Gen. Rivera, slowly expiring of gangrene caused by his wounds having been neglected, lies in Cabanas fortress, and a few days ago he asked permission for a telegraphic message to his wife at Central Valley, Orange county, New York. That message has never reached the sorrowing little woman for whom it was intended. It was suppressed by the officials.

Col. John Hay, the new U. S. ambassador to the court of St. James, has sailed for England accompanied by his wife and eldest daughter.
