

How Old are You?

You need not answer the question, madam, for in your case age is not counted by years. It will always be true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age so deeply on women's beauty as gray hair. It is natural, therefore, that every woman is anxious to preserve her hair in all its original abundance and beauty; or, that being denied the crowning gift of beautiful hair, she longs to possess it. Ayer's Hair Vigor is the answer to this gift or to preserve it, if already possessed. Ayer's Hair Vigor restores gray or faded hair to its original color. It does this by simply aiding nature, by supplying the nutrition necessary to keep it in a growing state. There is no better preparation for the hair than

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR.

People who have tried to keep the hair of a sickle bent, or a collar button will not be surprised to hear that the cotton tie trust is going up.

Head-ache Recurrence.
The great steamship company of the Detroit, Windsor and St. Louis line left Detroit on Friday last with a full complement of passengers, who were on their way to a week on board as nearly all the gentlemen said this would make the fourth time he had made the round trip and that he found some new enjoyment every time. "I go for rest as well as change of scene," said one, "and at the best outfit I have had for years. The line becomes more popular each year as the comfort-seeker finds it out."

It is looking for on this very delightful trip amidst the beautiful scenery and the cool breezes through the morning bay, and all along the route for that matter. Mr. G. W. Brown, secretary of the company, at Windsor, Ohio, will furnish all information to enquirers.

WE WANT TO TELL YOU

Why Your Back is Lame—Why It Aches and Pains, and How to Cure it.

No, you know what it is to have a back that is never free from aches and constant pains. A lame back, a sore back, an aching back, in fact, a back that makes your life a burden. What have you done for it? And does it still keep you from the happiness that good health brings to all? We know full well that if such is your condition you are sure for it will be. It is almost impossible to describe the pain which so often lingers. I have been so lame that I could not stand up after the morning, and required a great sorrow. Walking was a thing I could not do. My back was so sore that I did not rest, being forced to get up during the night. I heard of Dr. J. C. Kilpatrick, and soon after taking them began to feel their effects. I needed no other medicine. My lameness all left me. I have not felt it since. Dr. J. C. Kilpatrick Pills have done me good. Write for them.

CHAMPION OF ALL.

By Charles H. Day.

JOE PARDEES' attentions to Mary Ann Dickerman had been so devoted that it was the general remark that he "looks as if sun-tan was going to come over him." He was every body appeared to wish them well and hope for the anticipated. Joe was allowed his compensation and fair preparation, and the Dickerman girl's a right part.

Young Pardee was a carpenter, running his own shop and making $100 a week. He had a few dollars beyond his modest requirements, and putting aside the surplus for the proverbial rainy day, which the foreman of New England is always providing against.

To be sure there was never much new building going on in the old-fashioned town, but there was repairing and jobbing, and an alert and willing Joe Pardee made sure to capture a share of the business. If you wanted a job done right in a hurry, Pardee was the man to undertake it.

That was what the landlady at the Union house told the contracting agent of the circus, remarking: "Pardee will put up your boards on time and 'ordn' to contract, and won't charge you unreasonable, neither."

On the tavern keeper's recommendation, Joe Pardee got the job, and proceeded to put up his boards in quick time. Joe was a great worker, and it was just for to see him swing a hammer, and send the nail flying into the boards.

Mary Ann stopped at the partially erected board, on her way to the postoffice, and remarked: "Circus coming, Mr. Pardee?"

She is always called Jim Mister in the presence of others. Joe was equally particular in his reply, and she said, "You're going, Mr. Pardee?"

"Yes, Miss Dickerman, and the agent says it's the best show on the road."

"Of course he does," laughed Mary Ann, "his wife tells me, and she said, 'I suppose you're going, Mr. Pardee?'"

"Was that a hint?"

"The man stopped a little closer to the maid, so that the workmen and the ladies could not hear, and said in a low voice:

"I've got, Mary Ann, precisely that you go with me."

The maiden reddened, looked down on the ground, and murmured: "The man stopped a little closer to the maid, so that the workmen and the ladies could not hear, and said in a low voice:

"Goin' to see the concert, Joe?"

"Yes, to see the concert, Joe?"

"But I dearly want to see it; it's such fun," wheedled the girl.

The concert thought the tickets and remained to the "after show."

While the audience was passing out and the preparations were going on for the concert, the carpenter, who had his mental equilibrium, but his peace of mind was again upset when he saw the girl climbing up the seats that were suitable than any seat of the field."

The "Judas" Bible has a bad typographical error, substituting Judas for the Savior. "Then cometh Judas with them into a place called Gethsemane."

The "Wicked" Bible is of 1611, and the "good" is of 1613. The "Wicked" Bible makes the error of printing "Serpent" in the third chapter of Genesis, thus: "Now, the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field."

The "Pagan" Bible contains in its illustrations some terrible anachronisms. It was published in 1572, at the time the same wood cuts were used for many purposes. At the head of St. John's First Epistle, chapter I, appear Mount Olympus, Leida, the siren, Daphne and the Gorgon. The "Serpent" Bible said of the pictures is that they are good examples of old art.

The "Bible" Bible is exceedingly rare. Psalm xlviii, reads in the Matthew Bible (1551), "For that thou shalt be brought to the altar for any language by night." By change is meant "he," and a perfect "Bible" Bible will bring $300 or more.

Occasionally the "Bible" Bible turns up. In Genesis III, 7, the text reads: "And they sewed fig-tree leaves for themselves, and made them breeches." Covardice makes "aprons" and perhaps comes nearest to primitive fashions.

A queer mistake in what is called the "He" Bible. In Ruth III, 15, the compositor unused "Ruth and making" for "This" in the word "Ruth" in 1611. The edition in which the word is corrected is known as the "She" Bible.
