

Great Shoe Values

Reliable Footwear
at Clean-up Prices.

During August occurs our half-yearly clearing up sale of Summer Goods; preparatory to inventory and to make room for our large Fall Stock. Profit is no object, we want the cash. All odd sizes and broken lots at less than cost. Russet shoes, bicycle shoes, tennis shoes, they all go at the lowest prices ever quoted in Pontiac.

H. B. MERRITT,

17 N. Saginaw St.

Pontiac, Mich.

PICKLES

Yes we all like good pickles and to make good pickles it takes the best ingredients

WHITEHEAD & MITCHELL

Have a supply of the very best of spices, vinegar, etc., etc.

They also keep a full line of Drugs, Toilet Articles and School Supplies.

Prescriptions, a Specialty.

We solicit your patronage.

Whitehead & Mitchell.

I WILL SELL

AT COST

- 17-tooth Eureka Jr. Harrow,
- 15-tooth Horseshoe
- 2 Disc Harrows,
- 2 Horse Riding Cultivators,
- 2 Hand Cultivators,
- 1 Land Roller.

These Implements must be sold this season. Anyone in need can save money by buying now.

ROYAL OAK LUMBER YARD
G. A. DEWEY, Prop.

ROYAL OAK RIPPLES.

Arrivals and Departures—Illness in Our Vicinity—Weddings—Pioneer Birthdays—Anniversaries, Attempted Burglaries, etc.

S. J. Wilson is much worse at this writing.

Dr. and Mrs. Jathrop spent Monday, in Detroit.

Miss Wheeler has accepted a position in Detroit.

Mrs. J. Weaver and little son, Francis, spent Saturday in Detroit.

Miss Susie Allen has returned from her trip to Cleveland.

Edna Loucks, has returned from a six weeks visit in Detroit.

D. W. Nye and Ed Moran of Pontiac, Sunday at Wm. Fort's.

Mrs. Wm. Fisher and daughter Anna were in Detroit Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Hulse Sunday at Mrs. Geo. Green's in Birmingham.

Philip Ford and wife, of Battle Creek, are guests of relatives in town.

Mrs. Will Stott left Wednesday to visit her parents in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. C. Mow spent two days of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Kraus.

Mrs. J. Matthews and G. Benedict, of Detroit, Sunday at J. Benedict's.

Mrs. Warner is entertaining company from Oberlin, Ohio, this week.

Miss Peaslee entertained, this morning, who resides in Pontiac, last week.

Mrs. Anna Knowles, of Orchard Lake, visited at Mrs. Wm. Fisher's Friday.

Mrs. D. W. Matthews, of Ypsilanti, visited her sister, Mrs. Henry Ford Friday.

Miss Myrtle Nels, of Pontiac, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. N. Ford Tuesday.

Mrs. Rosalie Rose, of Clio, is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Ira Baum.

Misses Ma Brown and Minnie Klingham, of Detroit, spent Saturday at Mrs. Henry Wheeler's.

The T. O. F. picnic in Hendrick's grove last Friday drew a large crowd and a big time is reported.

Leona Stors returned this week from a delightful trip to New York and the Catskill mountains.

Mrs. Buckmeyer has purchased the Chas. South house and will soon take possession of her new quarters.

The M. K. Sunday School picnic last Friday on the Benjamin lawn was largely attended and greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Sarah Hitchcock has returned from an extended visit with her son, Horace Hitchcock, of Lincoln Ave., Detroit.

Wm. Fort received quite serious injuries in trying to raise a wheel. It is feared that he is internally injured.

Mrs. Frank McDowell entertained the Misses Lizzie Bugh and Lizzie McDowell, from Lowell, Michigan, at Detroit, Sunday.

Mrs. A. Sabrosa, Mrs. H. Kimball, little son Harrison and their guest, Mrs. Warner, picked on Belle Isle one day last week.

Mrs. Frank Richards, while visiting his daughter at Bedford, was taken seriously ill and obliged to remain there for a time.

Guests at the residence of Wm. Fort last week: Richard Parker, wife and two daughters, of Pontiac; and E. McKay, of Detroit.

We can imagine we hear wedding bells not far away, and if frequent trips to market are indications, we are sure we can already smell the cake.

The Daughters of Rebecca held a very enjoyable picnic on Mrs. Merrill's lawn last Saturday. A bountiful repast was served to 25 guests and all enjoyed themselves hugely.

Next Monday will be a "good letter day" with little Otis Fisher, who will be entitled to a school for the first time.

The little fellow clasp hardy wait for the happy day to dawn.

Mrs. Frank Russell, Mrs. C. Jensen, Mrs. Frank Leech and Miss Laura Hartledge, visited the C. T. M. H. at Big Beaver Saturday. They speak in glowing terms of the hospitality of the Beavertons.

Next Monday we will meet more here the welcome sound of the school bell. The new teachers engaged for the coming school year are Miss Clara Erb in the H. T. intermediate department and Mr. Gardner, of Comstock, in the primary.

Dr. Erikson and family, of Detroit, who left for Los Angeles, Cal. about two months ago intending to locate there, decided that Michigan was good enough for them. They are now visiting at the home of Mrs. Mary Robinson, where they sojourned last summer.

The Detroit & Pontiac Railway Co. are giving a new track through Washington avenue out to the gravel. The object is to have a straight track and avoid so much delay and danger in going around curves. It was said Royal Oak is not going to date with her double track line.

Dr. and Mrs. Kildner celebrated the second birthday anniversary of their little son, Carl, last Monday by a small tea party on their lawn.

The Kildner's sister, Dr. Smith, of Detroit, accompanied by her friend, Miss Swan, were in attendance and seemed to be doing all in their power to add to the enjoyment of the youthful company.

The light of H. McDowell's countenance would illuminate the town as late as the age of his little son. We are somewhat afraid to send Mr. McDowell since his unpardonable error in last week's issue, where we stated that the little stranger had arrived at J. W. instead of L. H. McDowell's. We plead "guilty." Please forgive us this time.

Burglars entered the meat market at the rear of Wm. Lutenbacher's place of business last Friday evening between 9 and 11 o'clock. Nothing was disturbed, however, in that department and the intruders did not succeed in breaking into the grocery part and gaining access to the money drawer. It is thought their courage failed them before they had finished their job.

Money to Loan.

$600 to loan on mortgage security. Seven per cent interest. Address: HATTIE L. WATERS, 1693 1/2 Field Ave., Detroit.

250,000 ROLLS ---OF--- Wall Paper

WRITE FOR SAMPLES

Prices 1c to 10c a Roll.

Fine Paper only 1c to 4c a roll.
Gifts for Parlor or Sitting Room only 3c to 10c a roll.

Largest Stock of Latest Style Wall Paper in Michigan.

Warehouse and Shipping Dept., Pontiac.

Call in person or address all requests for samples to

WHITEHEAD'S WALL PAPER HOUSE,
Pontiac, Mich.

CLAWSON CLIPPINGS

Clipped by Confidential Clerk—Concerning the Clifford Colony of Clawson.

Chandler Moore is a guest of Layington. Mrs. J. J. Gould is busy at the home on Monday.

Mrs. Maria Ben is ill with tropical consumption. Mrs. Jack Lawson visited Mr. Beatty's friends Tuesday.

Mrs. H. J. Flowers spent last week with her sister. Geo. Hunt and wife were in Port Huron last week visiting friends.

Geo. Goldsmith, of New Haven, Conn., is a guest of Clawson relatives. H. Henderson and Jack Lawson are busy now shipping tomatoes to Detroit.

H. J. Flowers made a business trip to Cleveland and the fore part of the week. John Robinson is making an extended visit in England, his native home.

Several of our young people took in the excursion to Port Huron last week. Ed Phillips, wife and daughter are attending the Soldiers' Reunion at Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. O. Hunt and Mrs. H. C. Wilson attended the ball game at Birmingham last Saturday.

W. H. H. Colner returned last week from a trip to Western New York, where he has been making a two week visit.

W. H. H. Colner was in Detroit Tuesday on business connected with his starting out on the road in the near future.

Mrs. McRobert, of Grand County, and Miss Sarah Martin, of Warren, were guests of Mrs. H. C. Wilson a portion of last week.

Chas. Baker started about a o'clock Tuesday morning for Detroit with a load of potatoes. "An early bird catches the worm."

May Goldie Goldsmith supposed in his new enterprise a traveling merchant. He started this week with a general line of merchandise.

Pat Goldsmith visits Birmingham every week with vegetables. He makes his trip either Mondays or Saturdays and everybody is glad to see Pat coming.

While shopping in Birmingham last week Adam Reid lost his pocketbook containing $10. He thinks it must have been buried up in the grain or among the bags there at the mill.

On Wednesday occurred the marriage of Miss Colina McBride and Sam Groves. The ceremony was performed in the new house awaiting the young couple's occupancy about one mile northeast of this village, Nev. Orr, of Birmingham, officiating. Several guests were present from Detroit and many from the country. Congratulations are in order from the numerous friends of the contracting parties.

BIG BEAVER BREVIETTES

Miscellaneous Items Pertaining to the Proceedings of Our People in General—Disastrous Run of "Camp" Fever.

Camp fever is raging here—Lakes a sure cure. J. T. Harris is confined to the house by illness.

C. N. Travis is recuperating and able to be out again. Mrs. Emily Harris is visiting friends in Michigan.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson are camping at Island Lake. S. I. Robbins made a business trip to Detroit Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Madrigal has been visiting friends in Rochester. Miss Anna Quick attended the H. Y. P. Convention at Fenton.

Wm. Klingham and wife spent two days of last week at Island Lake. The Misses Quick, of Gibraltar, are guests of Miss Anna Quick.

Dr. and Mrs. John Taylor, who has quick consumption, is very low. Mrs. Emma Leech, of Royal Oak, called on her cousin, Miss Fannie Smith, Saturday.

Fossie Reeves, daughter of our former M. E. pastor is visiting among her many friends here.

The Sunday school classes of Mrs. Goodrich and Miss Carrie Bingham are picnicking today at Long Lake.

Floyd Smith is fast becoming an expert bicyclist, and a fine cyclist, quite equal to our best accomplishment.

C. S. Travis and wife rusticated at Island Lake a portion of last week, as guests of Dr. Anderson.

Duncan Buchanan and wife, of Detroit, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. D. M. Haight, a portion of last week.

Mrs. Almina Robinson, of Grand Rapids, and Chester, of Grand Rapids, were guests at A. C. Aspinwall's last week.

The name of L. H. Houghton appears over the door of the blacksmith and wagon shop formerly owned by S. I. Robbins. The deal was sold last Saturday.

S. I. Robbins and wife, Payson Halsey and wife and Mrs. E. M. Gibbs were guests at the cottage of J. W. Anderson, at Island Lake, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Horseback riding is a lost art in the average well-to-do country neighborhood. Even with the sterner sets, and a side saddle in the country, not moidly, rat gnawed and "skirt curled" would be almost as great a curiosity as a horseless carriage, says the Western Horseman. The buggy crash struck the country during the flush days of a dozen years ago, even one discarding horseback riding as the poor man's mode of travel, and every farmer, his sons and hired hands all buying bugles and throwing their saddles in the "ben houses," where many of them still repose. Even if the family doctor is to be hastily called, the average farmer's son or hired man would deem it a hardship if he were compelled to carry the message of mercy on horseback. Twenty or thirty years ago the proudest day of a country boy or rural maiden was the one on which the indulgent (very often disgruntled) indulgence parent returned from town with a new saddle. In those days the country young folks would canter away over the hills through the silvery brook valleys or across the breezy fanned prairies, for miles away, to church, Sunday school, "apple cutting" or "cousin's wedding," full of health, happiness and human vigor. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should presume to have her "ride a horrid horse" and furnish it herself to Sunday school. But not so now. A country young man on horseback, going to church or a party, would feel humiliated, while country girls would feel positively disgraced if her "feller" should