It would not be surprising if the name of Dawson City was changed to Seattle next summer.

It is said that the Swat tribes have laid down their arms. Somebody else probably has swatted a little, also.

As they are children of England the Indians are probably rebelling because they didn't get a piece of the jubilee cake.

The editor of the Macon Telegraph speaks of the "locum tenna" of an esteemed contemporary. His Latin must have gone on a "racket."

When wheat reached the dollar mark every steam whistle in Muncie, Indiana, tooted in unison for three hours. You can see how Muncie people feel about it.

The editor of the Nashville American gleefully remarks that "the ideally beautiful woman is born in Tennessee." Congratulations; what are you going to call her?

An enterprising Chicagoan proposes to establish a matrimonial agency on the Klondike. Divorce courts probably will be unnecessary there, as legal separations will be made with a six-shooter.

Dr. E. O. Crewe, Chicago, claims to know of a stream in Alaska that rises in a mountain of gold, and flows golden water over a bed of golden nuggets. But the doctor is not pointing it out on the map.

Chinamen are ingenious, especially when trying to get into the United States. Two of them were found in an old stove on a train last week running from Canada to New York. The conductor was going to start a fire, but the brakeman insisted that they would not burn.

In Shelbyville, Ind., a constable who called to serve a writ upon a widow was scalded with a kettleful of hot water, and ran away so rapidly that he entirely forgot that he had suffered for twenty years with chronic rheumatism which would scarcely permit him to walk. The hot water cure seems to be effective, but it may be a little too severe for the average sufferer.

A new commandment is abroad in the land: Thou shalt not hear an unkind story so long as thou hast heels to turn or hands to cover thine ears. At a recent convention of Second Adventists in Maine, a large number of men and women went forward to kneel on the penitent form, and there consecrated their ears to God. Ethics have prated long on the sin of scandal; there would be little of it if more ears were closed to its blandishments.

Concerning women's work and wages, the latest report of the department of labor offers the interesting fact that, out of seven hundred and eighty-two typical instances in which men and women work at the same occupations and perform their work with the same degree of efficiency, men receive greater pay in five hundred and ninety-five. And yet the old prejudice against the "inferior sex" is dying out, surely if slowly. In 58 of the almost 800 instances women received the same pay as men for the same work, and in one hundred and twenty-nine cases they even got more.

The chief judge of the Maryland court of appeals in a recent address before members of the bar of that state spoke earnestly of the moral obligations of members of the legal profession. The somewhat common impression that shrewdness is the chief requirement in a lawyer has been helped on by stories of "smart" legal tricks and by jests, put forth as though half in earnest, at the expense of the probity of the profession. A member of the bar is a high officer of the law. His duty is to assist in meting out justice as viewed by established laws. The profession, as much as any other, calls for absolute integrity founded on high moral worth, and it is a worthy ambition for any young student of the law to hope to prove himself equal to this supreme requirement. In his address Chief Judge McSherry favored the enactment and rigid enforcement of laws decreeing an invariable punishment for dishonesty in the practitioner, in addition to the exercise of every possible precaution against the admission of the morally unworthy into the profession.

A great many colored people in Gotham are masquerading in white people's hair. There stands outside of one of the speiler stores on Sixth avenue, not far from the shopping district, a glass show case which is filled, as it is marked, with "human hair goods." There is nothing unusual about any of these, except the color of the hair. It is all of an inky blackness and closely curled. The establishment does one of the largest businesses in the city in false hair for colored people. A white man presides over the destinies of this queer shop.

The merchants of Lena, Ill., have scored a great success in their boycott of the Standard Oil company. Nobody will sell or use the products of this company for love or money, and the little town of Lena has thereby become famous. You see it can be done.

As a matter of fact the assassin of Canovas was executed before his real name was known. Was it Golli, or Angiollilo or Angio Lillo? And who ares now? They do such things better abroad.

TWEEN THE LAKES.

MICHIGAN NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD FOR MICHIGANDERS.

Brutal Murder of an Ionia County Veteran for His Money—Six Young Men Drowned While on a Drunken Outing on Lake St. Clair, near Detroit.

An Old Veteran Murdered for Money.

An old soldier, named Ludwig Herman, who lived alone 7 miles north of Ionia, in Orleans township, went to Ionia and drewhis pension money, $24, for three months' pay. He spent it freely, and exhibited bills at several of the Ionia saloons. He was last seen at 11:30 p. m. in an intoxicated condition trying to get into the American hotel. He was not admitted, however, and it is supposed that he started down the D., G. R. & W. tracks for his home. At 7 o'clock the next morning Isaac Waite, a neighbor, called at Herman's home and finding the back door open walked in, but was suddenly stopped by a horrible sight. Herman lay on the floor beside the bed cold in death, dressed only in his undershirt and drawers. He had hung up his clothes and was apparently about to get into bed. His skull was crushed the width of three fingers in the back of the head and just above the neck back of the right ear was a gunshot wound, the hole being the size of the muzzle of the gun. The weapon with which inflicted the first wound was an iron bar 18 inches long which Herman used in his workshop in making cane chairs. Herman kept his gun standing at the head of his bed. This the murderer had evidently grabbed and fired one cartridge at so close range that the flesh was burned. The shot went clear through Herman's head and lodged under the skin over his eyes. Whether Herman had more than the pension money is not known. All his papers were searched and strewn about the house. His watch and 13 cents in money were found in his room.

Herman was 69 years of age and had separated from his wife, who, with three daughters and one son, live at Zeeland.

Six Men Drowned by Yacht Sinking.

Thirteen men and boys from Detroit, while recklessly moving about, caused the foundering of the sloop yacht Blanche B. in Lake St. Clair, midway between Windmill point and Peche Island, causing the death of six of their number, while seven others narrowly escaped watery graves. Some of the survivors state that a majority of those aboard the boat had been drinking and were in an exceedingly gay mood and all were out for a good time. Witnesses of the accident from the shore say that at the time the yacht went over there were two men aloft on the spar and two or three men sitting out on the main boom, and that they caused the boat to rock violently. They also say that when those who were saved had been brought ashore they were very much under the influence of liquor.

Albert J. Voigt, of Detroit, was one of the men who witnessed the accident from the shore, and when he saw the yacht disappear he rushed for a rowboat and he saved three of the men. W. G. Miller, a baker from Grosse Pointe, took another boat, and although it was so leaky that it would hardly hold together, he managed to row out and pick up two more, while the other two swam to shore.

Nine Black Cats Concatenation.

Of all the peculiar organizations which made their temporary headquarters at Detroit during the time the city has been making its reputation as a convention center the most peculiar is the Order of Hoo-Hoos which held its grand concatenation in Philharmonic hall, but spread its jubilation over the entire town and surrounding in its own odd way. The order is composed of wealthy lumber dealers, originally, and has its birth in a backwoods Arkansas town where several lumbermen met by accident and spent a few days together a few years ago. Its object is merely a social good time and it has grown until it numbers 7,000 members. The emblems of the order is a black cat and the figure "9."

State Fair a Big Success.

With an attendance of from 15,000 to 25,000 people every day of the week the 97 effort of the Michigan state fair at Grand Rapids was a big success. Not only was the attendance large but everybody seemed to have money to spend and consequently the financial end of the affair was according to the association's desires. Gov. Pingree and Senator Burrow's who were booked as the big attractions for the "big day" failed to put in an appearance, but there was quite a bit of sport had over the presence of a Mr. Johnson, of Galesburg, who was said to be a splendid double for the governor and who was mistaken for the famous potato executive by many visitors, much to his own amusement.

The Michigan Agricultural college board has authorized the letting of a contract for a $5,000 electric lighting plant.

The freshman class of Michigan Agricultural college is the largest in its history, with 70 co-eds against 30 last year.

A good roads celebration will be held at Greenville, Sept. 24. Col. John Atkinson, of Detroit, and W. L. Weber will speak.

Muskegon county made such a big success of the fair that there is talk of offering inducements to get the State fair next year.

Rev. D. D. McDonald, pastor of the M. E. church at Mosherville, has become a Presbyterian and accepted a call to Petoskey.

The plant of the Marshall Waterworks Co., at Marshall was bought at foreclosure sale by Geo. H. Southworth, for $40,450.

Miss Ammyett Smith, of Beaverton, died under peculiar circumstances, but a coroner's jury found she was the victim of a criminal operation.

State Senator Geo. G. Covell, of Traverse City, was robbed of $20 by a thief who went through his clothes in his room at a Grand Rapids hotel.

Frank E. Davis, aged 35, was killed by a Detroit, Toledo & Milwaukee freight at Battle Creek. Both arms were cut off and his body cut in two.

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS.

Fred Leeson banged himself in the woods near Jonesville. No cause known.

J. R. Hall's barn burned at Essexville, and Henry Buck was arrested on suspicion.

The barn of W. H. Crowell, of Maple City, was destroyed by lightning. Loss $1,000.

The Queen Mining Co. has closed its No. 1 shaft at Negaunee, throwing 200 men out of employment.

Cora Leidlem, aged 3, of Bridgeport township, Saginaw county, was drushed to death by a falling hay rack.

The house, barn and granary of Jacob Loffman, and two other buildings, burned at East Tawas; loss $5,000.

Drink and a fast passenger train caused the death of Ed Dumott, a Bellvue young man. He was horribly mangled.

Kalamazoo college is figuring on the largest attendance it ever had, this year. A new $30,000 building is being provided for.

Miss Hattie Boss, who graduated from Albion college last June has been appointed superintendent of missions at Bombay, India.

A yellow haired gal hit the pipe in Sam Lee's Chinese laundry at Kalamazoo and now Sam mourns the loss of his $40 gold watch.

Miles Ettler's house and barn, three miles from Marcellus, burned, at a loss of $1,000. This was the third fire near there within a week.

The Port Huron engine and thresher works has received orders for 100 threshers and 100 engines, which will keep the plant in operation all winter.

The new $15,000 Church of Our Father, Universalist, was dedicated at Lansing by Dr. George B. Stocking, of Bridgeburg, Ill., and Dr. J. S. Cantwell, of Chicago.

The salt trust has advanced the price of salt. In Michigan the price goes up 10 cents a barrel; to agencies outside the state, 5 cents. The last previous advance was on Aug. 18—5 cents.

Morgan Butler, of Three Oaks, was instantly killed by the caving in of a gravel pit in which he was working. He was buried alive, the force of the earth breaking nearly every bone in his body.

Harry Allen, a pickpocket arrested at Ann Arbor, became morose because he couldn't get opium, to the use of which he was addicted, swallowed probably fatal dose of soap and powdered glass.

Floral hall, at the fair grounds at Port Huron, was destroyed by fire, together with the racing horse Soleet, valued at $5,000 and several hundred dollars' worth of racing paraphernalia. The total loss was $9,000.

Miss Ella McCarthy, of Chelsea while visiting at Jackson was fined for masquerading on the streets in male attire. Just for fun, she donned the clothes and helped a traveling man escort two girl friends around town.

Fred Soehlein, of Monroe, froze his big toe three years ago, and it was amputated. Later the foot had to be cut off and a portion of the leg soon followed, and now it has cost him his life. He leaves a widow and several children.

The Michigan Central warehouse on the dock at Chebogan was burned with a loss of $7,000. E. E. Ayer, of Chicago, lost a lot of telegraph poles worth $2,000, and the Long Favorite saw worth of supplies. Tramps started it.

Nels Larson, charged with having set fire to his brick store building at Menominee, was arrested near Ingalls. A pile of excelsior, saturated with kerosene, was found in the basement and a fuse from the basement to a pail of oil above.

Motorman Reilly and Conductor O'Brien, of the ill-fated Interurban car, which went through a bridge between Bay City and Saginaw several weeks ago, killing several persons, will be held for trial on a charge of manslaughter.

F. S. Persing, of Kalamazoo, a detective employed to ferret out the "blind tiger" saloons at South Haven, has been arrested there. Two girls under 16 years of age, charge him with having given them liquor and treating them improperly.

Samples of paper cottages for Klondyke and other miners are being sent out by the Portable Cottage Co., of Grand Rapids. The cottages will be about 10x15, of waterproof paper. They weigh 100 pounds and will be packed in convenient form.

John Barnhart, a young farmer near Alger, got married, and moved west of Greenwood. He soon became insanely jealous of his wife, when anyone, even a neighbor, came to the house. Her wife had tried to pacify him, but he went to a stream near by and drowned himself.

Much kicking is being done about the proposed governmental Indian school buildings at Mt. Pleasant. It is said the plans call for structures which would be architectual monstrosities and the way they were to be grouped would make them still less desirable.

Otis Algo, proprietor of the flouring mill at Ortonville, has been missing flour for some time past, so he set a trap and caught a well-known resident of the village. The fellow confessed and Mr. Algo and a neighbor ducked him in the mill race several times as a punishment.

The "Wilcox division," Ninth army corps, including famous sharpshooter, dismounted cavalry and infantry regiments from Michigan, New York and other states, will hold a reunion at, Lansing, Sept. 21 and 22. Maj.-Gen. O. B. Wilcox, commander of the division, will be present.

State Game Warden Osborne, of the Soo, says that while there are plenty of gold-bearing rocks in the Michipicoten fields, it is not a poor man's mining country, as there is no placer mining, and the gold must be separated from the quartz by the use of expensive machinery.

Mrs. George Lyon, whose husband cut his throat three weeks ago, attempted suicide at Owosso, by taking morphine. She cannot recover.

It seems likely that the Michigan Naval Reserves will be disappointed in regard to getting the U. S. cruiser Vantic for a training ship. It is now said that the final survey shows that it would be impossible to get her through the St. Lawrence canal.

Forest fires are burning fiercely in the northern part of the lower peninsula. Mackinaw City is almost surrounded by the flames, especially on the south and west. Bert Auble, a young farmer, four miles west of Petoskey, lost his house, barns and stacks of grain, by forest fires communicating to the stubble fields. The loss is about $3,500.

The abnormally warm weather of the past week has rapidly ripened corn, buckwheat and potatoes, but the drouth has greatly delayed wheat and rye seeding. Corn and buckwheat promise well and the outlook for potatoes is better than for weeks. A fine crop of beans is being secured. Grapes are ripening fast and are a good crop. Rain is needed, generally.

Stephen S. Hurlbert, Charles E. Lyman and Fred W. Gage, prominent residents of Battle Creek, have been arrested, charged with having polluted Goguac lake by bathing therein. The city obtains its water supply from this lake. The men arrested are among the largest property owners of land and summer cottages on the lake, and they will fight for their riparian rights.

E. J. White, an old soldier of the civil war, has threatened to commence suit against Galien township, Berrien county, for $200. He claims he paid $200 for a substitute and was afterwards drafted. The township paid him back $100, and now he wants the rest of the $200. The $200, with compound interest since 1864, would amount to a considerable sum, and the township officials fear it.

Ex-City Clerk C. P. McKinstry, of Ypsilanti, is to be tried in October on the charge of embezzling $1,000 city funds. The city attorney had been instructed to sue the bondsmen, but the bonds are now missing. Matters are further complicated by the fact that Mr. McKinstry gave bonds as city clerk and not as clerk of the water board, which reports a considerable sum not accounted for.

The trammers at the Negaunee mine at Negaunee have struck for a raise of 5 cents a day. This prevents the miners from working and the mine closed. The strikers were getting $1.40 a day while the trammers at the Cambria and Lillie mines get $1.65, owing to their mines being so much wetter. It is feared that the trammers at the Queen, Cleveland Cliffs, Lake Angeline and Lake Superior mines will also demand an advance.

According to the annual report of the U. S. geological survey Michigan stands at the top of the list of great iron ore producing states. The output of the state for the past year was equal to more than one-third of the entire product of the United States, and exceeded 5,700,000 tons. Of this over 5,630,000 tons were red hematite, this giving the state first position as a producer of this character of ore, and the remainder was magnetic.

A delegation of prominent lumber limit holders of Michigan waited upon the Canadian government at Toronto to protest against the proposed prohibition of the export of logs. The deputation conferred with the members of the cabinet for nearly an hour, but received little satisfaction. The delegation included Gov. John T. Rich, Thos. Pitts and Albert Rook of Detroit; Senator Savage, of Grand Rapids; Frank Gilchrist, of Alpena, and others.

Joseph Menard, a carpenter looking for work, crawled into a box car at Lansing, Sunday night. Bad luck struck him. Some extra shirts, overalls, etc., found in boxes found him, struck him on the head with a heavy bolt and robbed him of his money and clothes, leaving him dead in a sort cattle. They then bound and gagged him and he was found in this condition. By quick work the Lansing officers secured the arrest at Battle Creek of three of the men, who had the plunder in their possession.

Too Lee is an up-to-date Chinese laundryman at Niles. He recently invested in a bicycle, and soon became very proficient. He accompanied the local clubs on country runs and "made 'em all go and run um feet off." He got to be a regular scorcher and recently entered a race. A big crowd turned out to see the heathen Chinee get beaten, but he won his race handily. Since then he is getting offers from all over to appear as the star attraction at race meetings. He will accept none of them.

Imposing ceremonies marked the dedication of the new M. E. church at Alma. The building cost $7,500. Rev. W. M. Puffer, presiding elder of the Lansing district, conducted the ceremonies. The dedication sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. H. I. Ives, of Auburn, N. Y., and he raised $5,000 to wipe out the church debt. In the afternoon a service was conducted by Rev. Joseph F. Berry, editor of the Christian Advocate, Chicago, and in the evening Secretary of State Washington Gardner delivered an address.

Fire at Oscoda destroyed a block of buildings in the central part of the town. Alex Bouchant's saloon caught and the flames leaped across the street to C. V. Hick's drug store. The village hall, jail, hose tower, Charles Ernest's bazaar stock, Marks' clothing store, George Smith's cigar store, John Gregory's barber shop, and the old Copper house were destroyed. Most of the merchants removed their goods in time and some of the buildings were unoccupied. Four dwellings also burned. The total loss is about $40,000.

John Watson, of Colon, was probably fatally injured by a falling scaffold.

The state board of health says that a party of swindlers are making the rounds of the state claiming to have been sent by the board to examine into the condition of the water supply on farms. They make so-called examinations, report everywhere the finding of microbes and bacteria and by thus terrifying the farmers make large sales of disinfectants. Secretary Baker states when a person is sent out by the board he will be able to exhibit credentials bearing the proper seal and that the persons referred to are frauds.

Bad Case of La Grippe Quickly Cured.

All Dangerous Consequences Avoided.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure Does the Work.

It Acts Like Magic—Speedy and Permanent Cure the Result.

PNEUMONIA PREVENTED.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the nature of the case it was necessary to procure the very best and most speedy cure. From the advertisement of Shiloh's Consumption Cure and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form. Its use has proved a paying investment—through a thorough and speedy cure—to us and we are sure all who use it according to directions will find it to be what we claim. Shiloh's remedies are all good—at least that is the reputation they have around here.—The Examiner, Vincent, N. J.

The great danger from the grip as well as a severe cold is from its tendency to result in pneumonia. Shiloh's Consumption Cure prevents this.
