To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form. Its use has proved a paying investment—through a thorough and speedy cure—to us and we are sure all who use it according to directions will find it to be what we claim. Prominent Labor Leaders Hold a Conference at St. Louis to Consider the Miners' Strike Situation—Over 300 Japanese Drowned by a Tidal Wave

Labor Leaders Talk of a Revolution.

The labor leaders of the country held a two days' conference at St. Louis, at which nearly every large labor organization was represented. The primary object was to devise means of abolishing the tendency of government by injunction, and of bringing the coal miners' big strike to a successful end, but the labor situation in general was incidentally under consideration. The conference meeting was productive of several sensational speeches and many resolutions, yet no decisive action was taken. Mr. Pomeroy, of the International Typographical union, chairman of the conference, was instructed to request President McKinley in the name of the convention to call an extra session of congress for the purpose of "defining the authority of judges in the matter of injunctions," but this was practically nullified by the adoption of the report of the resolutions committee which provides that "no more labor convention be called at Chicago, Sept. 27, unless the miners strike shall have been ended by Sept. 20." It is regarded as certain that some more important action will be taken at that time. The resolutions also specifically protested against governmental "injunction, which puts a juryless writ even such political liberty as workingmen have saved from the steady encroachment of capitalism, and declared that no law such as which labor people are totally disagreed to remain in force nation, and therefore urged upon all liberty loving citizens to remember and observe the principle of the constitution of the United States which reads as follows: "Every act of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

New Boom Town in Alaska.

Letters received at Seattle, Wash., from Skagway tell of the boom town of "Alaska" going to the dogs. It has failed him when he encountered the first hardships has turned town site boomer. Four weeks ago Skagway was not known; today there are not less than 1,000 people in addition to those who have gone to labor. They have surveyed off the town site, the first comers having first choice, Skagway has all the useful accompaniments of a frontier mining town. Dance halls, roulette, faro, stud poker and every possible device ready to beguil fortune's smiles. There is no danger of famine here, though there may be shortages at certain times. Great piles of hay, grain, flour, bacon, sugar and all the necessaries of life are in sight, apparently for some time to come.

Tidal Wave Drowns 300 Japanese.

Oriental advices state that a great earthquake occurred in Japan, lasting eight minutes and was followed by a tidal wave, which swept up rivers flowing into the sea, and causing great damage. Dispatches received at Yokohama show that our 5,000 houses had been inundated or washed away and 300 people were known to have been drowned or seriously injured. It was reported from Hoshin that coal mines there were flooded by an overflowing river, drowning over 100 miners. For several days before the earthquake rain had fallen almost incessantly and the rivers were already very high. The tidal wave raised from ten to many minutes from 12 to 20 feet in height.

On the third trip to the wire Star Pointer's driver got the word to "go," and away he went like an arrow, making the circuit of the mile track in 1:59¼. The first quarter was made in 30, the second in 29½, third 29¼, fourth in 29½.

45,000 VETS MARCH.

The Grand Army of the Republic in Camp at Buffalo.

The thirty-first annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was held at Buffalo and attracted one of the largest assemblages of veterans of recent years. The first day's program consisted of a reception to Commander-in-chief Clarkson, the opening of Camp Jewett, a city of tents on the bluff shores of Lake Erie at the mouth of Niagara river. Thousands of veterans and other visitors made the first day an opportunity to see Niagara falls and other points of interest.

On the second day the visit of the nation's chief executive, President McKinley, and his party, which included Secretary of War Alger, was an attraction drew the thousands back into the city. From the moment that the special train that bore the President arrived until he retired, there was one glorious and spontaneous demonstration. Even when with Mrs. McKinley and Gov. Black the President had entered his hotel and vanished from sight, there followed after him the cheers of the people until he was obliged to come to the balcony where, after order had been restored, he made a brief speech of thanks for the generous welcome given him. Later the day Columbia Post, of Chicago, arrived at the hotel and acted as escort to the President to the Elliott building, where the post entertained the President and his party. At the banquet which followed the President was the guest of honor of Columbia post, and many other distinguished guests were present. Among the latter was Mrs. Logan, who received a warm welcome when she entered the banquet hall as
