HOW DISHES GOT THEIR NAMES

The sandwich is called for the Earl of Sandwich.

Mulligatawny is from an East India word meaning pepper water.

Waffle is from wafel, a word of Teutonic origin, meaning honeycomb.

Gooseberry fool is a corruption of gooseberry foule, milled or pressed gooseberries.

Hominy is from anhuminea, the North American Indian word for parched corn.

Forcemeat is a corruption of farcemeat from the French farce, stuffing, i. e., meat for stuffing.

Succotash is a dish borrowed from the Narragansett Indians and called by them m'sickquatash.

Blanc-mange means literally white food; hence chocolate blanc-mange is something of a misnomer.

Charlotte is a corruption of the old English word charlyt, which means a dish of custard, and charlotte russe is Russian charlotte.

Gumbo is simply okra soup, gumbo being the name by which okra is often known in the south. Chicken gumbo is soup of okra and chicken.

Macaroni is taken from a Greek derivation which means "the blessed dead," in allusion to the ancient custom of eating it at feasts for the dead.—Grocer's Review.

It is thoroughly practical and up-to-date is of especial interest to members of the Grange and the Farmers' Clubs Association as it has departments devoted to each.

The Michigan Farmer will be sent on trial and the ECCENTRIC for the rest of this year for only 25c. The Michigan Farmer will stop Jan. 1st, '99, unless ordered continued.
