THE POLE BROKE

Bad Fall.

Last Thursday aftermoon about five o'clock George Brown of Detroit, 306 Oligh Street, west, was at work at the top of a telephone pole is front of Châs. Mudg's house in this village, on Maple Are, when, without a sound of warning, it fell over, having rotted away at the bottom. The fall was 22 feet and the result disastrous to Mr. Brown, whose weight is 185 pounds. He was taken into Baunt's livery barra, where The Shaw and Campbell examined bin, after which he was taken to the hotel and both legs found to be foreign and the control one rib. The sext day, Friday, he was taken to Detroit to Harper hospital, where he now is, and is recovering as rapidly as possible.

Robt. Groves' Accident.

Lyst week Thursday while if the city with a load of live hogs, our Trojan friend, Robt, Groves, while crossing the Michigan Central R. R. tracks on Warren Are, near Grand River Are, met with a serious accident. Before driving across Robt, looked up and down the track and as far as he could see no danger was in sight. Standing freight cars on each side of the street hid his view and when right to the track and the right to the right Bob don't believe it. However, after a few days in the Hospitals he returned home the fore part of this week and will recover. Policeme gathered in the hoge and strange to say not a porker was and hurt, although the wagon was a complete wreck. Not a gateman was in sight to give warning, and Roht, will have a claim for damages.

This is one of the stores that never resorts to subterfuge of sensational schemes to sell Clothing.

Yet this store never fails to protect its austomers in low prices-as well as honest values.

Men's Suits--$10, $12, $15. Men's Overcoats--$10, $12, $15.

And you'll find by comparison that the same quality of materials will cost frm $2 to $5 more at any other store. Why? Simply the difference between honest methods and the "faker." Judge for yourself by comparison

A REUNION.

Charlie Schlaack, His Axe and His Clothesline All Meet.

This ought to be a warning to men not to split wood on Friday. Last week on this unlucky day our neighbor, Chas. H. Schlacck, took his trusty axe and started to split a little wood, never noticing a wire clothesline overhead noticing a wire clothesline overhead which caught the axe after a powerful blow and bounding back the back of the axe struck him on the check-bone crush, ing it and making a most painful wound. His yee closed by swelling immediately and all that medical skill and aid could do to help the sufferer was done. At this writing the damage is nearly all repaired and Charlic is himself again, nearly as good as ever.
