WAR RED LETTER WEEK

For the Lecture-Going People of Birmingham.

It is seldom our citizens have an opportunity of listening to two such interesting lectures as was their privilege on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. Major Schoof, the distinguished speaker, who stands six feet and three inches in his stocking feet, has an imposing and soldierly bearing, which was greatly enhanced by his military suit.

His second appearance here. J. C. Wilcox, the celebrated Detroit Baritone is coming.

Major Schoof's lightning sword drill was certainly a marvelous feat, and the Intercession Military parade was both interesting and amusing.

Mr. Wilcox's duties as a critic of the Detroit Tribune and the Concerto have prevented his appearing very often in public in Detroit, but whenever he has been here he has never failed to attract attention.

Mr. Wilcox is a young artist of exceptional ability. His voice is baritone, of unusual range, flexible, brilliant, sympathetic. He has vigor, dash, delicately clean-cut enunciation, and a thorough appreciation of the many nuances of his art.

Mr. Wilcox possesses a baritone voice of beautiful quality and extensive compass. His manner of singing is most artistic, and I am sure he cannot fail to give complete satisfaction to any musical audience.
