uninhabitable and we were compelled to move somewhere and I am satinfied that our present campling ground is as good as he be found in Florida. The last two weeks we were at Tampa our camp was under water at least hair the time and you can imagine in what whape the ground would be in furing; the reas of that time would be induring the reas of that time continues the same of the satisfaction of the same and the same think of the stories he had read concerning the ellow jack, while the fact that is our divise on hospital there were from 20 to new cases of typhod mainrial per day was not pleasant to contemplate. Amy of the poor fellows were shipped to northern hospitals. But now that is a thing of the past and though our life at Tampa was not all sunthine, yet there and Tampa was not all sunthine, yet there and Tampa will long be remembered by many of the boys in the 281 Michigan. The camp we are now in is situated ener Fernandian on the island of Elmira, just of the coast of northeastern Florida. Fernandian is a strange little place as indeed one might expect from the fact that it is the second oldest settlement in the U. S. A. One of the most disagreements feat.
