

THE MODERN FARM AND GARDEN.

ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.
WHITEHEAD & MITCHELL, PUBLS.
BIRMINGHAM, FRIDAY, SEPT. 30, 1909

THE TRUE URBANITY OF GARDENING.
An acre of performance is worth the whole land of promise.

An Alabama farmer put cotton off in his field and broke up a camping.

Covetousness, like a candle lit-made, smothers the splendor of a happy fortune in its own glare.

A man that sturdily reeve keepeth his own wounds green, which otherwise would heal and do him good.

It is often easier to justify one's self to others than to respond to the secret doubts that arise in one's own bosom.

Theodore Roosevelt will soon be mastered out of the rough riding service into the rough riding department. There'll be fun then.

The American people still have lots of ginger in their observations, an enthusiastic contemporary. Then why all this talk about annexing Jamaica.

Those people in Oklahoma who turned out and lynched a judge of the court must be very fastidious concerning the quality of justice in that territory.

We should manage our fortune as we do our health; enjoy it when good, be content when bad, and have a goodly violent remedy even in case of extreme necessity.

Lillian Russell is playing to crowded houses in Berlin and the prospects are good for a German husband. A German delegate in the next international convention of nations will be a man who would give variety to the proceedings.

A reaction against political bossism is setting in. The system which has ruled in the crowded cities has grown and fruited in every stratum of American politics. The people are disgusted with bossism. They are making ready to pull it by the roots and cauterize the wound. They will begin in the ward-politico and finish in the white house.

It is reported everywhere that Cuban flags are a drug on the market, and dealers who have loaded up with them from the dead loss of Cuba will find itself a matter of small moment, for there is no special reason why Americans should buy Cuban flags, but it is true that the Cuban flag is a thing that people seem in danger of doing. The most serious part of the problem which we so high-heavily took up is yet to come.

Sir Hugh Nelson, premier of Queensland, Sir George H. Reid, premier of the South Wales, and Mr. J. G. Turner, premier of Victoria, recently met in conference and discussed plans for a Pacific cable. They decided to send their respective legations to Great Britain and Canada collectively would guarantee five-ninths of the cost of laying the new cable they would reimburse their respective legations to contribute one-ninth each, asking New Zealand to contribute the remaining one-ninth.

While the really brave and true women of the country have been working and suffering for the boys in blue, cheering them through every trial, and trying to make their life and their burdens as easy as possible, other ladies, of a more hysterical and self-satisfied mind, have done their best to make the soldiers aware of every ill the camp life bore for them, and have even tried to stir up mutiny and desertion. It is a very good thing that ladies of this temperament are decidedly outnumbered by the good sensible women, who not only know how to suffer bravely themselves, but can teach and help others to bear it with the same fortitude.

"I'm a holder man than you sir," said an English laborer to his master, not long ago. "I durst spend my last farthing, and you durst not." The laborer had a clock for a watch, and the other day by her terms she learned that she sold about twenty five-cent bunches each school day, with two on Saturdays and holidays, and that she raised a lot of money for her father. "You must be a great help to your father," was the comment. "Oh," was the reply, "I do not need to do that. Father earns enough for me, but I am doing this to go to college. I have three hundred dollars in the bank grade, reading that a Harvard graduate, realizing that the child could draw a larger check than himself went away thoughtful.

The close intermingling of ways of peace and ways of war is seen in China, where two rival alien powers are preparing, each by the right of the other to construct railroads and develop the resources of the country. Their opposition is based on the knowledge that such extension of appliances of civilization is a means of political control and a source of advantage in war. Cultivate peace and go to war for the sake of the peace; go to war for the sake of the peace; it is the paradoxical rule of modern statesmanship.

If a man builds, nature straightaway sets to work to undo his building. Rust eats into the iron, and decay into the wood, and little by little ravages and destroys. But if a man plants, nature proceeds to complete his completed work. He sows the seed, and behold whither he plants a cutting, and a tree grows. He sows a seed into the head, and there is a long time hidden; sprouts, pushes forth the blade and ear, and finally the full corn. Not once, often only after long delay, but it fails not.

be careful, who plows chords down deep into the soil and leaves them there for a year, is really a very slowly and sure way of increasing the plant food from the root zone, and it would be better if he never plowed his land at all.

To Grow Violets Successfully. One all-important item in the culture of violets is ventilation. They must have an air and plenty of it at all times. Good ventilation is easily secured by placing boards under the ends of the sash. They will require careful watching during the bright sunny days, to prevent the temperature from rising too high. The nearer the sun the better. Cooler temperature before time for blooming will be necessary. During severe winter weather it will be necessary to cover the sash with manure, straw litter or old carpets to keep out the cold. These coverings should not remain on during the daytime, unless it seems necessary. As to watering the grower, will have to use some judgment. Violets must never be allowed to dry out, and require considerable water. Allow plenty of water, but avoid daily soaking, whether under or out. It is rather a difficult matter to grow violets in the house, the hot dry heat of the ordinary living-room being disastrous to the health of the plant.—Woman's Home Companion.

Overfeeding. If you have been the suddenly, or your flock gets laying, you are at once told that you are overfeeding; that you should discontinue this, and that you should not feed more than a matter of fact, strictly speaking, there is no such thing as overfeeding poultry. It is not how much you feed that injures the hen, but the way you feed it. A poorly fed hen is a poor egg producer. It is food that makes hens lay, and if fed properly too much cannot be given. We are told that a very fat hen will not lay, which is most certainly true, but a hen fed as she should be will not get fat. Hens should be fed on a regular basis during the day, so that when night comes on their hunger is entirely appeased. No matter what you feed, make them work for it, and eat it.

School Gardens in Russia. Although Russia is behind in a good many things, she is trying to catch up to do something to teach the agriculturists of her vast domain better methods of agriculture. In this direction she has established the school gardens in the province in which there are 500 elementary schools 227 schools have gardens or kitchen gardens. The garden plots are from one to two acres and 285 acres in all. According to the report made in 1895 there were 1,820 fruit-bearing bushes (currants, gooseberries, etc.), young trees in nurseries for future planting 7,076. The total number of forest trees was 17,936, bushes not bearing fruit 38,459 young trees not fruit bearing 181,865, making a total of 238,290. It is evident that the work of horticulture is taught successfully in their schools.

They were given to peasants for planting, fruit trees 13,388, forest trees 41,750. In addition to these things fifty schools had apiries and ten had silk-worm culture. This work is of double advantage to Russia, as it is likely, in addition to teaching better methods of gardening, also start the cultivation of wild berries, for it is said that Russia is naturally destitute of wild berries. The culture of silk worms has proved a partial failure, owing to the scarcity of food for the worms. It is suggested to plant the mulberry tree for forest growth in Russia. If this be done and the trees prove a success it will without doubt greatly stimulate the growing of silk in the country.

In some of the localities much difficulty was experienced from the fact that many of the teachers, not being practical men or acquainted with any labor in connection with the soil, are better able to grasp a public lecture than to carry out practical work, and also from the fact that observations were made by the teachers, for it is said that Russia is naturally destitute of wild berries. The culture of silk worms has proved a partial failure, owing to the scarcity of food for the worms. It is suggested to plant the mulberry tree for forest growth in Russia. If this be done and the trees prove a success it will without doubt greatly stimulate the growing of silk in the country.

David had smashed the skull of one of these giants, but there were other giants who were not so easily subdued, and one of them lay in my text. He was not only of Alpine stature, but had a surplus of digits. To the additional finger, and the foot had also a superfluous addendum. He had twenty-four terminations to hands and feet, and he was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

Behold how superfluous are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a single man who was not a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word. He was not only a giant, but a giant in the most literal sense of the word.

countries in the southern hemisphere is bound to develop. The hope is that the ratio of consumption of meats in the European markets will continue to increase as rapidly as the supplies.

Who's Frightening Who? The Test is I. Chron. 20: 6, as follows: "A Man of Great Stature, Whose Fingers and Toes Were Four and Twenty, Six on Each Hand, and Six on Each Foot."

Malformation photographed, and for what reason? Did not this passage slip in by mistake into the sacred canon of the Bible, or was it inserted by some one who was utterly oblivious to the editor gods into his newspaper during his absence? Is not this Scriptural error? No, no; it is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

"ENOUGH BETTER THAN TOO MUCH." THE SUBJECT.

The Test is I. Chron. 20: 6, as follows: "A Man of Great Stature, Whose Fingers and Toes Were Four and Twenty, Six on Each Hand, and Six on Each Foot."

Malformation photographed, and for what reason? Did not this passage slip in by mistake into the sacred canon of the Bible, or was it inserted by some one who was utterly oblivious to the editor gods into his newspaper during his absence? Is not this Scriptural error? No, no; it is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

It is a fact that the text before me is a true and a part of the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put into the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning