FOR WOMAN AND HOME.

of the past and the up to date girl must have as much fluffy lace around her neck as she can possibly get.

A pretty girl who wears a bright red ribbon high and tight around her throat wears over it a pretty piece of lace which she ties in a bow at the front. The lace is softening and the effect is stylish and fetching.

Now is the time for mamma to get out her short narrow lace "bars," which have been hidden away in the lace box for so many years, and let them to her daughter, for this is the time to utilize them.

She Was a Phantom of Delight—(An Old Favorite)—When first she glided upon my sight; A lovely apparition, seen; To be a moment's ornament; Her eyes as stars of twilight fair; Like twilight's, too, her dusky hair; But all things else about her drawn From May-time's and the cheerful dawn; A dancing shape, an image gay; To haunt, to haunt, to haunt, to haunt.

I saw her upon narrow view; A spirit, yet a woman true; Her household motions light and free, And steps of virgin liberty; A countenance in which did meet Sweet recreation, serious sweet; A creature not too bright or good For human nature's daily food; For transient lustre, simple virtue; For all that's true, she never knew.

And now I see with eyes serene The very pulse of the machine; A being breathing thoughtful breath; A creature not too bright or good For human nature's daily food; For transient lustre, simple virtue; For all that's true, she never knew.

DAIRY AND POULTRY.

of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, of the Duke of Saxe-Weimar and of the Duke of Saxe-Meiningen was the son of the Prince of Wales and his brothers and of Prince Charles of Portugal. Werrin, who died in 1164, was a descendant of one Willelmus, who was a companion of the great Charlemagne. The majority of the reigning princes of Europe claim to be descended from Werrin, among them being King Christian IX. of Denmark, King George of Greece, Peter Grand Duke of Oldenburg and the Czar and his family. The four rulers of Russia being a Romanoff nor yet a Holstein-Gottorp, as has been stated.

The queen prior to her marriage was entitled to the patronymic of Asoon—she was Miss Ason, in fact. Of the same name are the reigning Prince of Liechtenstein and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, as he is now. The founder of the house of Ason died in the year 1080 and was married to Margareta, a young son of King George III., who gave the name of E. Aste, after marriage, to his morganatic wife.

Health and Beauty. All girls who wish for a graceful, easy carriage should learn how to walk. The feet and forearms—all these things give an easy, springy, graceful carriage and teach one how to stand.

When suffering from nervous headache try walking backwards. The walking should be done very slowly; relief is certain and in most cases permanent. Physicians explain the cure and the reason of the cure. The body causes a reflex action of the brain. The remedy is very simple and is worth a trial.

When the head aches, relieve them by closing the lids for five or ten minutes. When stinging and red through crying they should be bathed in rose water and fanned backwards. The water and lay it over them for a few minutes. If they are bloodshot, you need more sleep or have been sitting too long in the draught. If they have a burning sensation bathe them with hot water to which a dash of white hazel has been added. If the whites of the eyes are yellow and the pupils are full strict attention should be paid to diet.

How to Wash Skirts. The long skirt, which has superseded the short, trim length women have so long enjoyed, and which is appropriately called, even by its advocates, "a street sweeper," offers an opportunity for the cynical observer of feminine ways to enjoy the renewed gracefulness of skirt holdings. Nothing has so long conducted to the disappearance of these long skirts, as well as their continued usefulness, than the correct handling of their over-long, to keep them clear from the sidewalk and yet not to be offered by oversteps.

Some women grab their skirts a short distance below the waist, lift them carelessly and continue their way. Others catch the skirt at one side, and the other side hangs down, and they suffer from their appearance. Others catch the skirt at one side, and the other side hangs down, and they suffer from their appearance.

How Successful Farmers Operate Their Department of the Farm—A Few Hints as to the Care of Live Stock and Poultry.

Pro for Washing Dairy Utensils. Prof. A. M. Soule of the Texas Agricultural College, writes to the Texas Stock and Farm Journal that he has formulated the following rules for the proper care of dairy utensils:

1. Rinse out all vessels that have contained milk with lukewarm water (70 to 80 degrees Fahr.).

2. If boiling water is first used, it cooks or sets the milk on the surface of the tin, making it greasy in appearance, and to the touch. A coating thus formed increases from time to time and this may be the first cause of abnormal fermentations that occur later.

3. A little salt soda added to the wash water has a beneficial effect. It is an alkali and is useful in "cutting" the greasy substance so often seen on improperly washed vessels.

4. A vessel is clean when no greasy appearance is apparent to the eye nor to the touch when the hand is passed over the surface.

5. After the condition noted in four is secured by "thorough scrubbing," in the cans over steam jet and sterilize them with steam for five minutes. Nearly all fermentations in milk are due to the action of bacteria. These can be best destroyed by the use of steam, fresh air and sunshine.

6. Many of them can successfully resist the action of steam for several minutes. The necessary to possess milk utensils to its action for some time.

7. Never use lye to cleanse vessels used in the dairy. They are simply injurious to the breeding of undesirable germ life.

8. Steam, in addition to destroying germ and fungus growth aids in drying the cans, thus preventing the formation of rust and obtaining the use of cloths to dry the several vessels.

9. If rust or accretions have formed on the tin, they should be removed at once by using sand-paper, spool, gold dust, etc.

10. "Soured" cans may be sweetened by
