CASH IS KING

Credit a "HAS BEEN."

KIND FRIENDS--

For nearly 20 years we have tried to bring about a state of "A CASH TRADE" and altho' sometimes drawing very near the line, we are today practically doing a cash business. Our books today, compared with the same months two, three and four years ago, show a decrease in goods charged of more than 90 per cent. We are reaching for an all cash trade, and if low prices will bring it we will have it very soon. We are glad of it. Bring along your cash. We are doing a cash business now. We like it—you like it. It's better for all. You get more goods for your money now than ever before. Don't ask for credit—it's a "has been." Bring along your dollars.

OUR DARLING'S FAITH.

Our little Grace was a wee, winsome child for 27—she was a very frail child, held the sweet spirit, and so wonderful, as we recall the quiet thoughts and remember the supreme faith of our darling, that we could not see that the angels had called her.

She had cousins in the country of whom she was very fond, and it was during her last visit with them that the following incidents occurred. Upon finding her bosom somewhat nervous one morning from an excess of care and overtaxed strength, little Grace cried softly up to her aunt, stating her we had had the extended palm of her friend whispered—"Are you out of patience, Cousin Emily?" "Yes, I am, (Grace) was the weary rejoinder. "I tell you what I do when I am cross!"

"Ah, me, who had ever seen our darling impatient?" "Yes, tell me, Grace." "I just commence and sing a little hymn, Cousin Emily, something about Jesus, and then I am happy again."

And afterwards, when valiantly striving to recall some hymn which she had learned in Sabbath School, she ran to the same cousin for aid. After a short time, as neither could remember the closing stanza, our darling stood thoughtful for a moment and, as though surprised that she thought and not sooner occurred to her, said: "Oh, I know how I can remember it," and darted away to her own room. She soon returned and sang it all through, to the complete astonishment of her auditors: "Why, Grace!" she exclaimed, how did you learn it?" "I just asked Jesus to teach me and not sooner occurred to her, said: "Oh, I know how I can remember it," and darted away to her own room. She soon returned and sang it all through, to the complete astonishment of her auditors: "Why, Grace!" she exclaimed, how did you learn it?"
