

Valentine's Day

A Valentine to Cupid. Ah, little boy Cupid, I know you well! You're not the poet's boy...

HER LAST VALENTINE.

They knew she was dying—the faded little woman in the faded little bed room. She had clung to life as long as she could...

THE GLORIOUS FLAG OF FORT SUMTER

What flag of the South now treasures the sacred in value of a national heirloom, the flag of Fort Sumter? It stands for the first movement toward the disintegration of the government...

THE GLORIOUS FLAG OF FORT SUMTER

Early in the day several vessels of the Federal fleet were observed off the bar, and orders were given to dip the flag to them. This was done, and the salute was returned...

There were many reasons why Southern soldiers had counted on Robert Anderson in Kentucky, already a distinguished veteran of the Mexican war, as one of the men who would leave the Northern army and become...

When Lincoln was elected, Maj. Anderson was in New York, and as the rumblings in the South grew more threatening he was ordered properly disciplined. I would consider myself invulnerable against any force not too superior.

OVER A TOWN.

Ship Jumped Back and Forth Without Damage. A most extraordinary incident happened to the corvette Moonshag at Santa Cruz in 1857. While at anchor in the harbor a tremendous tidal wave lifted her over her crest and carried her clear over the town of Ponce...

MRS. ANDERSON'S WASHINGTON RESIDENCE. Thirty-four hours, until the quarters were entirely burned, the main gate destroyed by fire, the gorge walls seriously injured and the magazine surrounded by flames and its doors closed from the effect of heat, four barrels and three cartridges of powder only were left available...

THE GLORIOUS FLAG OF FORT SUMTER. The Secretary of War to take command of the post in Charleston harbor, then located at Fort Moultrie. It was said at the time that this order was itself unreasonable and that the secretary member of the Buchanan cabinet sent Anderson to Charleston because they believed that in the event of a siege he could be expected to come out of the town with his own people...

MAKING HER VALENTINES.

By M. Louise Ford. "Tomorrow's Valentine's Day, mamma, and oh, you ought to see the big box teacher's got on her desk for us to put our valentines in! Can I make some more tonight? I know how to make lovely ones!" and an eager little face looked up into Mrs. Lane's.
