SOME GOOD JOKES ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

A Variety of Jokes, Gibes and Ironies Original and Selected—Flotsam and Jetsam from the Tide of Humor—Witty Sayings.

His Parting Shot.

Tuffold Knutt pulled off his fatigue hat, coughed mournfully, and said:

"Ma'am, if it isn't asking too much—"

"Certainly," interrupted the woman who had answered his knock as she handed him a one-cent piece and shut the kitchen door in his face.

The mouldy old vagabond looked at the coin, put it in his pocket, and then spoke his mind through the keyhole:

"I know wot you are, ma'am. You're a anti-expansionist!"—Chicago Tribune.

Goes Him One Better.

His baby talked when eight months old
And so he blew his horn;
And yet the Bible says Job cussed
The day that he was born.
—Judge.

Single Exception.

"Oh, mamma, I'm miserable. I know that I'm not fully in Harold's confidence. Did papa ever keep anything from you, mamma?"

"Nothing—that is, nothing but money."—Detroit Free Press.

An Unpleasant Prospect.

Prospective Lodger—The main thing is that I get a room in a quiet house.

Landlady—Oh, this is a quiet house, sir! In the next room a singer lodges, and if it were not quiet he couldn't practice all day long as he does now.—Lustige Blaetter.

The Difference.

"So you went into the stock market yesterday and made several thousand dollars?" said the young man's uncle.

"Yes, sir."

"That shows how one may, with proper pluck and promptness, succeed if he will only take advantage of his opportunities."

"But I lost that and several thousand more today."

"Young man, how often have I told you that such transactions are merely gambling, and that you are bound to come to grief, sooner, or later, if you dabble in them?"—Washington Star.

One Less a Year.

"Why, grandpa, you used to say that you killed six Indians with one shot; then you cut it down to five; now you say it was four."

"Well, well, my child, I suppose that's because my memory's failin' a little every year."

Another Point of View.

"This really pains me, Willie," said the old gentleman as he picked the boy up and laid him across his knee.

"Well," replied the boy, resignedly, "at least I've never been fool enough to deliberately hurt myself."—Chicago Post.

Progressive.

"This army scandal appears to be going from bad to worse."

"That's so. I didn't think there could be anything more objectionable than General Eagan's beef till I heard his language."—Washington Star.

Those Philippine Names.

Some are coughed and some are sneezed,
And some are hoarsely rolled;
But Pasig is the best of all
For him who hath a cold.
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Had Anticipated Him.

Bronson—I suppose after winning the case you invited your lawyer to take something?

Johnson—Nowit was unnecessary. He had already helped himself to most of my possessions.

Cheerful Idiot.

"The bell," said the prosy boarder, "has almost superseded the knocker."

"And that is the reason," said the Cheerful Idiot, "why it is a knocker."—Indianapolis Journal.

Sorry.

Scrimble—So sorry I've none of my work to show you. Fact is, I've just sent all my pictures to the academy.

Mrs. Macmillions—What a pity! I did so much want to see them. How soon do you expect them back?—Punch.

New Peril in the Lake City.

So many popular plays were originally written by Chicago people of whom the public knows nothing that it is unsafe for an actor to go there with a play written since the time of Sheridan.—New Orleans Picayune.

House and two lots, Nos. 58 and 59, Merrill Place, Birmingham, on north side of Merrill st. Comfortable, cozy little home for some one who cannot afford a brown stone front on Fifth Avenue, but is willing to take solid comfort at a moderate price. Place is owned by Chas. G. Hunt, who has removed from this locality and wants to dispose of this place. The price shows that he is in earnest about selling, for he will take 1,300, and the terms will be all right.

No. 25.

The Toynton place, a nice little farm of 70 acres, with four acres of good orchard and buildings as good as anybody's. One mile west of Bloomfield Centre (Circle postoffice), five minute's walk from Long Lake. Basement barn which cost nearly $1,000. House has seven rooms and woodshed, cellar, cistern, well; tool house, chicken house, pig pens, corn crib. A never failing stream runs through the farm. This farm is on the line of the proposed Bloomfield and Orchard Lake Electric Railway, from Bloomfield Centre to Orchard Lake. The price which was $65 per acre before the new electric road was thought of, remains the same, although all the farms in the neighborhood have gone "kiting."

The subscriptions from various sources for the St. Louis fair have now amounted to $2,673,000 in addition to the $2,100,000 pledged by collecting committee. The amount so far actually raised is now close to the $5,000,000 originally promised.

At the sale of the Morrison cameos in London a Greek gold ring from Tarsus with an intaglio of Bacchus was sold for $1,150. Another ring with the figure of Bacchus brought $925. The signet of Asander, king of the Bosporus, from Kertch, brought $2,300.

Time wasted on little duties is no: often considered. A mill-owner not long ago issued the order that the girls in his employ should not wear laced shoes. The reason he gave was that each one's boot became untied at least five times a day, and took at least five seconds to retie. When these twenty-five seconds were multiplied by 300—the number of girls in his employ—the loss of time was, he said, too serious to submit to. Another mill-owner, talking over this case, said that he had forbidden visitors, because each of his "hands" turned her head to look at them. Computing twenty visitors a day and two seconds for the head-turnings of each of his 600 employes, made over six hours daily wasted in that gesture.

FLASHES OF FUN.

She—"No, I wouldn't marry the best man living." He—"Well, I'm not asking you to."—Columbus, O., State Journal.

"Here's a case of a man who went to law in order to get the girl he loved away from her parents." "Took out a writ of attachment, I suppose."—Chicago Evening Post.

Bill—"I met that fellow Boggs yesterday." Jill—"Did he borrow anything from you?" "Not in your life! Before he had a chance I asked him to loan me a dollar." "I see; you struck him in self-defense."—Yonkers Statesman.

"Do you know your orders, sentry?" asked the colonel. "Yis, sor." "If you face the rising sun your left hand will be on the north of you and your right hand to the south of you. What would be behind—The left leg, sir."

"I say," said the business man to the detective, "some fellow has been representing himself ah a collector of our firm. He has been taking in more money than any two men we have and I want him collared as quickly as you can." "All right; I'll have him in jail in less than a week." "Great Scot, man! I don't want to put him in jail; I want to engage him."—San Francisco Examiner

Damage done by water from an upper tenement owned and occupied by the lessor, where, because of defective plumbing, it runs down and injures the goods of a lessee on a lower floor, is held, in York vs. Steward (Mont.), 43 L. R. A. 125, to constitute a breach of an implied covenant for quiet enjoyment, in the absence of excusing facts, and when the lessor had refused, after reasonable notice, to remedy the defects in the plumbing which caused the damage.

HOME-MADE PHILOSOPHY.

Wun man in a hundred iz a thinker and wun outer that hundred iz thinking right; but we awl think weere that wun.

The rich wurry over thare last meal, the tramp wurreeze over hiz next one. Jist a matter of tense—past, present, and footyoore tenser.

The big daily paperze are no more than a reckord ov the crimze, frods, and outrages perpetrated by the men thay boosted inter publick office.

God seldum or never authorizes a man to carry out any special mezyoore on earth. We are awl Hiz employeeze, but num ov us are head klerks.

Men go too the country too farm the fields; other men go too the sittteze to farm the peepul; but thay awl expect too go too heaven to reap thare reward.

If awl the peepul cured ov catarrh by the kwack doctorze ware too stand up wile the band played, thay wuddent hev room on this earth to keep time with thare feet.

Thare are allerze too mental worlds—the thinkin and the slumberin worlds. If the thinkers wore only az onest az the sleeperze, we wuddent need so many jails.

You can't reform the man hoo iz allerz feelin good over the fact that he iz so much better than the common critters God has made to fill in the chinks ov nateyoore.

The laborin man iz too week to rob hiz master, and too poor to be plundered hisself. He compromizes by getin drunk and lettin the perleece jedge soak him for a big fine.

Corporashuns and trusts are the effects of zoological evolooshun—the anormal in man feastin on the weakness ov his nabor, and growing fat on the bread plundered frum the unfortyoonate.

Every bad man haz got a little good in him, and every good man haz got a hull lot ov bad in him. We are not awl angels, nor awl devils, only a little lower than the one, and a little meaner than the tother.

If the avridge man knowde how many peepul live on the pludder they sweat outer thare fellowman, the avridge man wood think he wuz gettin robbed every time he began to perspire along the spine.

When a person gitz so plus that he can't smile on the unfortunate without takin time to say grace, and thankin God that he iz so much better off himself, heeze genrally afeared ov bein tutched for a dime.

If the averidge preecher but knowd how many dishonest dollars wun nestlin in the pockets ov the saints in the amen korner, heed kwit talkin to the burglar in poverty pew, and aim his remarks at the bald headed row.

TOLD BY FIGURES.

The public debt of Mexico amounts to $15.90 per capita.

There are 180,132 Indians, besides the 5,318 in New York and the 77,018 of the "civilized tribes."

in an improved waterproof hat for coachmen's use a shellac-coated body is covered with a layer of broadcloth, having a vulcanized layer of rubber on its under side and cemented to the body by the shellac and vulcanized rubber of the adjacent surfaces.

OUT FROM MOUTHS OF BABES.

Nellie (aged 5)—"Our family is awfully exclusive. Is yours?" Bessie (aged 5)—"No, indeed! We haven't anything to be ashamed of."

"I'll be glad when I get big enough to wash my own face," said little Willie, as his mother finished the operation. "Why so, dear?" she asked. "'Cause then I won't wash it," replied the precocious youth.

"I don't like this milk," said 4-year-old Mabel at the breakfast table one morning. "Why, dear, what's the matter with it?" asked her mother. "It tastes like the milkman had been eating onions," replied the small epicure.

Little Clara's parents often discuss reincarnation, and the small maiden has acquired some of the phraseology. "Mamma," she said one day, "my kitty must have been a paper of pins in a previous state of existence." "Why do you think so?" asked her mother. "Because I can feel some of them in her toes yet," was the logical reply.

"Tommy, you greedy boy," said a mother to her small 4-year-old son, "you've eaten every cooky there was on the plate, and I told you to take but one." "Yes, I know you did, mamma," replied the little fellow, "but there were three on the plate, and I didn't know which one you meant, so I just had to eat 'em all to be sure I'd get the right one."

ARE TATTOOED.

Tattooing is not confined to the South Sea islands, nor to the sailor, nor to the humbler classes of people of the world. Royalty has bared its arm to the needle that pricks in the colored inks and some of the crowned heads are carried above bodies that are works of art from a tattooer's standpoint.

Among European royal personages, the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia is the most elaborately tattooed, while the Prince and Princess Waldemar of Denmark, Queen Olga of Greece, King Oscar of Sweden, the duke of York, the Grand Duke Constantine, Prince Francis of Teck and Prince George of Greece have all submitted themselves to the tattooing needle, which is nowadays worked on a simple plan, aided by the galvanic current, the genius of the artist supplying the rest of the operation.

All the above named royal personages, together with the duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, have been more or less elaborately tattooed. Prof. Riley is the artist who has done the greater part of the work and his work has been pronounced by a celebrated Royal academician to be the finest work of that kind in the world, and no other artist has tattooed more distinguished people

The Veteran Dry Goods Ma

John Pound, Pontiac.

In 1870 there was established a new dry goods house in Pontiac which was destined to outlive all others then here. John Pound was the founder of that store, and its booming trade from the start suggested the name, "The Beehive," by which it has been known ever since. Some of Mr. Pound's competitors have failed, some have retired, still others are deceased. Of the half dozen dry goods houses here in 1870 none are now operated by the same proprietors except the Beehive.

This store has steadily kept abreast of times, and the very latest styles are always to be found in this store.

A CLEARANCE-

Just now Mr. Pound is giving exceptional figures on CARPETS of all kinds, and outside of the metropolis you will find no better selection. A cordial invitation is extended to all to call and see the goods and prices. Your judgment will tell you whether or not to buy.

Specially great sales every week during May and June. Call and see and secure these bargains. No bills or cards. Rare advantages.
