The ladies of the Library Society take great care to keep their hall neat and clean, and what wonder that they feel discouraged when the floor is defiled with tobacco spit and cigarette stubs! Don't do it, them.

Our Birmingham teachers were tendered a reception by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Bert Barr. Dainty refreshments were served and a pleasant time was had by general verdict.

While on her way to Sunday school last Sabbath Flossie Staley in a careless manner lost her Testament between the machine and the M. E. church. Any one finding the same please restore it to the owner and receive the thanks of the little lady, as it was a rare gift and underneath the cover was present to her and very much prized from without taking anything to ease the pain. Dr. Shaw took 35 stitches in the patient's arm and left him as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

Who says the Birmingham Seniors are not a success in the drama as well as in real life? On their second appearance in "Foxy, the Convict," at Library Hall last Saturday evening, they were greeted by a good house and their entertainment, as on the first occasion was a decided credit to one. The literary and musical program was also much enjoyed. The affair was a financial success, both receipts
