After Ten Years

By MRS. MOSES P. HANDY

There is REASONABLE reason in the saying

Pope's Stomach Regulator

taken on the first sign of indigestion. It prevents the food from fermenting in the stomach, thereby preventing sour stomach, belching, heartburn, headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, and all the miseries and discomforts arising from a disordered stomach. Pope's Stomach Regulator makes pure blood, and plenty of it. It makes the complexion clear and rosy. It makes the appetite keen and the digestion perfect. It makes people well, strong and happy. It cures when all else fails.

The front of the bodice is trimmed with an applique bouquet of guipure, and the square decolletage and the sleeves are trimmed with lace. The puffed undersleeve is of rose mousseline de soie.—Wiener Chic.

Jellied Apples.

Peel and core firm, tart apples. Put them over the fire in just enough water to cover them, sprinkling them generously with white sugar. Cook slowly at the back of the fire until the apples are tender. Take them out with a split spoon. Bring the liquid left from them to a boil and add to it a tablespoonful of gelatine which

Look Out for the Unused House.

About this time every spring and fall flocking home from the country from out for typhoid fever, diphtheria and the protean forms of malarial fever. Many will say they were acquired in the country. As a matter of fact, they are far more likely to originate in the city house, which has been shut up for weeks or months, with dust and darkness in the rooms and with woolen gas pouring in through traps from which the water seal long ago evaporated. Innumerable cases of illness would be prevented by taking the reasonable precaution of setting the water to flowing, ventilating all the rooms and using some simple disinfectant before the house is occupied.—New York Tribune.
