BUNCOED, POUNDED, ROBBED

Was a Wealthy Well-Known Branch County Farmer.

EXPERIENCE COST HIM $5,000.

The Secretary of the State Board of Health Warns and Advises the Public About the Prevalence of Typhoid Fever During the Present Month.

Branch County Farmer Buncoed.

W. E. Sexton a wealthy and well-known farmer living 4 miles from Coldwater, was buncoed, assaulted and robbed of [illegible] three [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] Detroit [illegible] Last Heard [illegible]

[illegible] Being Buncoed

[illegible] Officers Shy of Notes

[illegible] Precipitated by a Switch Engine

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS.

[illegible] Burned to the Waters Edge

[illegible] Robbers Get $30,000 at Centerville

[illegible] Unworthy the Hospitality Received

[illegible] Burglars Get $10,000

[illegible] Eugene Wagner of Iosco county, while [illegible] fighting. The ball struck [illegible] accident and has since died from the [illegible]

[illegible] Clare's public school building was destroyed by fire on the night of the 20th. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $14,000.

How to Avoid Typhoid Fever.

In view of the fact that typhoid fever is more prevalent during October than any other month, and as this disease is prevented by the destruction or avoidance of the germs of the disease, the office of the state board of health is just now redoubling its efforts to warn the public of the presence of this dangerous communicable disease, which might easily be restricted, but which still annually destroys in Michigan about 1,000 lives. In addition to the weekly bulletin, showing the prevalence of this and other diseases, a unique map has been prepared and sent to local health officers and others. This shows the places in the state in which typhoid fever has recently been reported to exist.

[illegible] has requested reports [illegible]

Detroit now has another daily paper, the first issue of which appeared on Oct. 1. The name of the paper is "Today," and it is sold for one cent per copy today, tomorrow and for every issue thereafter.

While mixing sulphur and lard near a gasoline stove, Fred Bailey, of Jackson, was severely burned about the head and face by the combustion which occurred. His eyes were also injured, but it is believed the sight will be preserved.

Isaac Rossell, the boy who abducted the little son and [illegible] daughter of Mrs. Martha Haines, of South Stockbridge, was captured on the 27th on a fruit farm near Shelby, and he and his [illegible] were lodged in [illegible] county jail.

The Michigan [illegible] convention [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]