ME TALKS OF THE GOOD DONE BY CITIES.

BIRMINGHAM, FRIDAY, AUG. 11.

Journalist Talmages' sermon recently published in Chinese with various illustrations by native artists. Before the above work has been the volume was in great demand in Peking.

A crowd, with an ordinary host of the people, was present at the Birmingham Auditor when, during the week-end, a Chinese artist, Mr. Wang, was painting a picture of the city of Birmingham.

An artist, however, is a man who is not content with the ordinary, but who seeks to express his own individuality in his work. He is a man who is not content with the ordinary, but who seeks to express his own individuality in his work.

He is a man who is not content with the ordinary, but who seeks to express his own individuality in his work. He is a man who is not content with the ordinary, but who seeks to express his own individuality in his work.
