The Kalamazoo Valley Electric Co. has begun work at Marshall on the electric road it proposes to build across the state. The franchise granted by the city council of Marshall provided that work on the line must be commenced within six months. The time is up on September 26, hence the present operations. Considerable grading work will be done all along the proposed line this fall, although little steel will be laid before spring.

All grand jury cases will go over until after election, as the circuit court for the county of Ingham on the 24th voted to adjourn until then.

Talk about foresight of some people. A Shelby cat takes the cake in that respect. She recently killed a rat, and after eating it found that a family of little ones had been left by her victim. Instead of serving them forthwith as she had the mother she nursed them for some time, until they were so large that each was sufficient for a single meal, and then she proceeded to live high for a couple of days without the exertion of hunting her food.

The Michigan Federation of Labor, in session at Muskegon on the 19th and 20th, report the past year a prosperous one for all kinds of labor.

CHINA WAR NEWS.

The refusal of the United States to accede to Germany's proposition regarding the Chinese settlement is prominently commented upon by the entire German press. In spite of the previous intimations through Washington cablegrams the refusal has come as a great surprise. Riotous Attacks Already Commenced—Three Dead and 15 Wounded.

The coal mine operators in the Pennsylvania districts, in Pullman fashion, say, "we have nothing to arbitrate," and they are preparing to use force to open up their mines. Heavily armed guards are being stationed at some of the mines. Coxe Bros. have 50 of them on duty. Detectives hired by the operators are thick in Hazleton and the surrounding country. The strikers deprecate this show of armed force. They declare that it is wholly unnecessary, and that the presence of the armed men [illegible]

PRICE ON HER HEAD.

SOCIETY OFFERS $1,000 FOR MISS JEWETT'S SCALP.

A Sequel of the Recent Riots—The Woman Who Denounced the Killing of Charles and Others by a Mob of Lawless Whites.

There is much excitement in two widely separated sections of the country over a sequel of the recent [illegible] scenes in the city of New Orleans, La., and as a result the states of Louisiana and Massachusetts are, so to speak, scowling at each other with unmistakable viciousness. The Green Turtle [illegible], a semi-political organization of New Orleans, has threatened the life and set the price of $1,000 on the head of Miss Lillian Clyton Jewett of Boston, who headed a mass meeting of Boston negroes a few nights ago and declared war on southern whites. A Boston dispatch says Miss Jewett has [illegible] 10,000 negro crusaders willing to march to New Orleans, and that $5,000 was raised to equip them and to send an advance agent.

Miss Jewett is president of the Anti-Lynching league of Boston and the recent killing of Charles and other negroes without trial by lawless whites excited the woman and her followers greatly. At the meeting in Boston Miss Jewett made a fiery speech, in which she denounced the whites of New Orleans in unmeasured terms and declared that she would head a crusade against them. Excitement ran high, and one of the speakers, the Rev. R. W. Farris, exclaimed: "If Robert Charles could hold 1,000 people at bay, what could 10,000 negroes do?"

One speaker recognized a man in the audience, who, he declared, was a former slave holder in New Orleans. This started a panic, during which all of the whites and half of the negroes left the church, but the negroes returned when quiet had been restored.

When the news of this meeting reached New Orleans the Green Turtle club, which is a representative southern club of over 100 members, was stirred to great anger. In a few days she received a letter postmarked New Orleans. It read:

"We would give $1,000 reward for your scalp in preference to any negro in your congregation. You may be white in the eyes of Boston people, but in our eyes you are blacker than Robert Charles. [illegible]"

Kaisar-i-Hind Medal.

According to the Westminster Budget Queen Victoria has issued a royal warrant establishing a new Indian decoration entitled the Kaisar-i-Hind medal, which has been instituted by her majesty at the request of Lord Curzon of Kedleston, who finds that the existing orders at his disposal are too limited to enable him to reward the public services of many natives and Europeans who merit some government recognition. Any person is eligible for the Kaisar-i-Hind medal, irrespective of race or sex.

Cruel Treatment of Bullocks.

During his rapid march from Rietfontein to Bloemfontein Lord Roberts noticed the sufferings of the bullocks as they toiled along with the transport wagons, their backs seamed with the cruel lash of the Kaffir drivers. When the army moved on from Bloemfontein he issued a written order forbidding the Kaffirs from flogging the oxen.

Walter Q. Gresham's Portrait.

A portrait of the late Walter Q. Gresham, secretary of state under President Cleveland, is to be given a place of honor in the galleries of the emperor of Japan. This is to be done as a tribute to Mr. Gresham's services in negotiating the treaty between the United States and Japan which was adopted during Cleveland's second term.
