Having now found in me a family for some time it gives me pleasure to testify to its true worth. My little boy, four years of age, had been suffering for some time with catarrh of the lower bowels. Other remedies had failed.

When I said that I did not like to go to the city and hope they would never find my lady, she turned to me with an expression of tenderness in her great blue eyes that filled my soul with joy. "And you love me, Madeline?" I asked.

"I have loved you with all my heart for a long, long time, John," she whispered. "There we plighted our troth. The birds were singing, the sun shone brighter, the lake and the sky were blue and the air was perfumed as we slowly paced along. We forgot that danger lurked and did not care for it."

It was late in the afternoon when we returned to the hotel. We were sitting in the dining shade of the porch when Madeline said to me: "John, I have a confession to make. I have loved you with all my heart for a long, long time, John."

She gave a gasp and then burst herself into a fit of weeping. "I have loved you with all my heart for a long, long time, John," she whispered. "There we plighted our troth. The birds were singing, the sun shone brighter, the lake and the sky were blue and the air was perfumed as we slowly paced along. We forgot that danger lurked and did not care for it."

What does this mean, Newark? I demanded, as amazed as I could be when I saw a part of me smog with me. "I have loved you with all my heart for a long, long time, John," she whispered. "There we plighted our troth. The birds were singing, the sun shone brighter, the lake and the sky were blue and the air was perfumed as we slowly paced along. We forgot that danger lurked and did not care for it."
