

Mrs. Kate Berg, Secretary Ladies' Auxiliary of Knights of Pythias, No. 58; Commercial Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., After Five Years Suffering Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Whatever virtue there is in medicine seems to be concentrated in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered for five years with profuse and painful menstruation until I lost flesh and strength, and life had almost turned to bitterness. Only three bottles of your Vegetable Compound cured me. I became regular, without any pains, and hardly know when I am sick.

Some of my friends who have used your Compound for uterine and ovarian troubles all have the same good word to say for it, and bless the day they first found it.—Mrs. KATE BERG.

$5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE. When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, nervous depression, or irritation of the bowels, that bearing down, dizziness, headache, backache, bloating or flatulency, general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or any of such symptoms, and, besides, faintness, lassitude, irritability, instability of nervous system, "hot flashes," "hot spots," and "wants to be let down" feelings, these, and, besides, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and once removed such troubles, let us to the health of the future.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health.—Address Lyric, Mass.

DESICATED VEGETABLES. MISTRESS OF SCIRO CASTLE.

Desicated vegetables are coming on the market for use especially by professors and hunters, who are obliged to consume every ounce of the weight of the provisions they carry. Necessary compels them to select such food as combine the maximum of nutriment with the minimum of bulk and weight. This simple water food, potatoes, sweet potatoes, and vegetables are especially adapted for the purpose. Of late the War Department has been experimenting with products of this kind, it has found them wholesome and in all respects desirable, and is likely to use them largely in future years.

White potatoes, carrots and sweet potatoes have been found particularly available for desication. The sweet potatoes are cut up into little cubes, while the white potatoes and carrots are sliced. When wanted for use, they have to be soaked in water, before cooking them, as, soiled they are supposed to be absolutely water free. What a saving in weight and volume, this represents will be realized when it is understood that fresh white potatoes contain 80 per cent of water and fresh carrots 90 per cent.

Experiments have proved that the drying process causes no loss of nutriment and that the product furnishes a most valuable addition to the food of people who are unable to get fresh vegetables. The desicated white potatoes are as rich in most life-forming element as the best of our potatoes, consisting mainly of the starchy material which is so useful as fuel for the body machine. The same thing may be said of the carrots and sweet potatoes, but a notable fact is that dried eastern vegetables are richer in starch and poorer in muscle-forming material than those grown in California.

When Visiting Coronets the Public May Be Bored. Coronets are a delusion and a snare. The gold and silver smths of London are now busy making headbands for the peers who will be present when King Edward is crowned. In popular imagination a peer is supposed to wear his coronet frequently and hang it on his helmet when he goes to bed. As a matter of fact the majority of peers found, when the subject of the coronation came up, that there was not a single coronet about the house. So they gave orders for the making of these ornamental appendages to rank and file. They do not propose to sweat their cash money on them either. Ordinarily a peer can wear jewels in his coronet. But if a peer not of royal blood appeared before the coronation, he would place gleaming with precious stones nobody knows what would happen, something awful, no doubt, to the British constitution, such a catastrophe is averted by wearing on occasions such as a coronation, coronets studded with bezels of gold to represent diamonds and other stones, and studded with pearls. The dukes will have a lot of these little gold bezels in their coronets and the marquises will call upon those lesser dukes to represent their little silver balls on the spikes of their official topknots to be pearls of great price. A viscount will demand still more, and the baronets will have their fourteen silver knobs around his coronet and will ask that he be considered as wearing a circlet of gold on his head with a crown on top. A really first-class coronet warranted to wash, like those which are being prepared for the coming coronation of King Edward, are being bought for £100, which is being paid for them now in London. New York Prices.

On good authority soldiers like best to have their choice of the type. Of the right kind was General Crawford, the leader of the Light Division. An incident in his career during one of the Wellington wars shows him to have been rich in that justice which commands respect from equals and loyalty from inferiors. In a word, he kept discipline without regard to rank. His divisions was crossing a ford on one of the Spanish marches, and an officer, to keep his breeches dry, rode through on a soldier's back. Crawford observed the thing with disgust, and in a minute was splashing through the water after them both. "Put him down, sir!" he shouted. "Put him down!" I desire you to put that officer down instantly." The soldier dropped his burden and went on. "Return back, sir," Crawford said to the officer, "and go through the water like the others. I will not allow my officers to ride upon the men's backs through the rivers, all must take their share alike." Youthful Companion.

One of the most attractive features of Swedish life to strangers is the politeness of the citizens. As soon as a boy is able to stand on a leg he is taught to make a bow and to shake hands, and a little girl must be able to make a bow and to shake hands. As soon as the right hand is known from the left it must be offered in greeting or when a gift or favor has been received, and one of the first words learned by the children after "papa" and "mamma" is "tack," the Swedish term for "thanks." It is heard more frequently than any other word in the language.

The McKinley of Colorado. Bernard Houston, County Attorney, the home of the McKinley family in Ireland before their emigration to America, is still standing. On an old stone slab in the hall show the initials of the McKinley of a century and a half ago are thus inscribed: W. M. K. 1760. In the inscription of 1760, arms and armor were found by the military in Ireland. Houston and a William McKinley, a noble and grand uncle of the late President, was appointed to the position, where he was tried by court-martial, convicted and sentenced to death. He was sent in the market place of Co. Wick and was buried in the churchyard of Donk, where there is a local stone still in good preservation over his grave—London Morning Leader.

Curiosity satisfied. An old colored woman was "taking on" yesterday afternoon over the death of her baby as she was going from church to the back. A white woman who knew her happened to be passing and said, sympathetically, "Oh one of your children is dead. Aunt Eliza?" "The one in the house," moaned the negro. Atkinson Daily Globe.
