LI HUNG CHANG IS ILL

MAY NOT LIVE TO SEE PEACE IN CHINA.

Though a Physical Weak His Mind Is Bold to Be as Clear as Ever His Health Has Been Strikingly Waning for 1 Year.

The health of Li Hung Chang is now a matter of grave consideration for the millions of the governs. His health has been slowly and steadily waning for a year past and there has been fear for some months that he would die before the negotiations to which he goes so important a part. What effect his death would be upon the situation at present is a difficult matter to conjecture, as no other man in China has the influence with the Chinese court that he has.

Though he is a physical weak, he is not a mental one. He is an intelligent and energetic man who handles the affairs of the nation with great skill. He has many old men have passed his years with almost equal vigor. What would be able to take on his work, he has a strong feeling that Master Wang of Washington might succeed him.

Li Hung Chang and Mr. Wang have been a lifelong friendship and the former man has in many ways been an apt pupil of the latter. It is not probable that his death would be of advantage to the prospect of peace. It might however be opposed by Germany because of the fact that Wang is somewhat in the habit of being more than Li Hung Chang has been in the past. It is a serious matter that Mr. Wang is ill and that Li Hung Chang is old and feeble.
