Washington, June 2, in this discourse, Dr. Tailmage arraigns the spirit of wild speculation and gives an account of the financial ruin of other days. He says that it is certainly making them worse today. Money is a god, he said, and with it we have made a god of our own. Money is a god, he said, and with it we have made a god of our own. Money is a god, he said, and with it we have made a god of our own.

You have made a thousand. If at the end of 10 years you have no more than a thousand, you have lost a thousand. Now that is trafficking in fiction, that is gambling, that involves the spirit of gambling as much as anything else ever goes on in the lowest gambling hall.

Historical Gambling Scheme. But France must have its gambling expedition and that was in 1716. John Law's Mississippi scheme, it was called. The French had heard that this American continent was built out of speculation and the project was to take it across the ocean and drop it in France. Experiments were made and it had not yet been done when the French government was ruined. Five hundred millions were lost to accommodate the people until they had lost the opportunity of introducing the spirit of speculation into the world. It was not until the year 1816 that the American continent was built out of speculation.

The children who attend the free kindergarten in New York City often come in with their mothers and grandmothers but they do not have time to give them any breakfast before starting out for work. It is a sad sight to see the children who come to school with their mothers and grandmothers.

stand close by you. The greater the temptation the more magnificent the reward. The stock market is like a lottery. What will he do in the judgment? That day will settle every thing. That to the stock gambler will be a "break" at the very least. "collateral" all in that to trade your way in. Go in through Christ the Lord of your way. You will never stay out. God forbid that after you have done your last day's work on earth and the hushed assembly stands around with bowed heads at your obsequies God forbid that the most appropriate text for your funeral oration should be: "As a partridge setteth on oaks and hatches them not, so shall he that seedeth the wind, and shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at the end he shall be a fool." That is the most appropriate funeral oration for the man who has died a gambler.

Nutmegs grow on little trees which look like pear trees, and are generally from twenty feet high. The flowers are small and green. The fruit is like a nut, and is about as large as a peach. When ripe it breaks open and shows the little nut inside. The tree grows on the islands of Asia and tropical America. They have fruit twenty or thirty years, having ripe fruit upon them all the season. In Java and Sumatra there are over 4,000 nutmegs on it yearly. The Dutch used to have all the nutmeg trade, but since they discovered the islands of the East Indies and conquered all the other islands and destroyed the trees. To keep the price up they at once burned three piles of nutmegs, each of which was as large as a church. Nature did not sympathize with such meanness. The nutmeg pigeon, found in all the Indian islands, did for the world what the Dutch had determined could not be done. It carried those nuts, which were their food, into all the surrounding islands, each of which was as large as a church. Nature did not sympathize with such meanness.

Conduct Your Son. Sumner, N. J., June 15. Mrs. J. H. Hampton of this place, had suffered with dropsy for fifteen years. She was unable to get up and down and for three years she has not been able to wear shoes. She had doctored all the time but was gradually getting worse. Mr. J. H. Hampton had been told to buy Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he bought six boxes. His wife used the first of the pills before she was entirely cured. She was now as active as ever and had gained twenty pounds in weight. She had been bedridden for years. She had been bedridden for years. She had been bedridden for years.

Carolina at Chickamauga.

South Carolina a monument to her dead heroes was dedicated at Chickamauga a few days ago with military ceremonies. Gen. Boynton as president of the commission was present to represent the national government. Governor McSwain also was present. Without detracting one iota from the credit due to all who have been members of the commission, permit me further to say, and all veterans who have visited the field will know, indeed, me that the significant results obtained here are chiefly due to the courtesy, the patience, the noble persistence and thorough impartiality of the present chairman of the commission, General Henry V. Boynton. This is one of the places owned and controlled by the United States government.
