

Little Frocked Face.
The grand procession marched all a row through the town in a grand display. But somebody else enjoyed the show a thousand times more than they. On his gallant steed rode the captain of the band. A splendid sight to see. All the children of the town were out. Had a prouder Fourth than he. And the band, too, all the afternoon. The crowd was so thick that it was a miracle that anybody could see a thing. But somebody's feet found a merrier time. As they followed it down the street. And the brilliant light that a crowd day was a sight to see. That's the way it was. And the crowd was so thick that it was a miracle that anybody could see a thing. But somebody's feet found a merrier time. As they followed it down the street.

A Hot Fourth.

Last Fourth of July the weather came out cool and beautiful in our mountains. The crowd was so thick that it was a miracle that anybody could see a thing. But somebody's feet found a merrier time. As they followed it down the street.

superior person. She agreed to keep close to the mouth of the cut. After we should get the herd going, and a certain length of time to take her right back over the trail by which we came.

It seems a pity that some way of celebrating the Fourth of July could be found that will give the youngsters as much pleasure as the present noisy proceedings furnish. SAYINGS and DOINGS

The Bee Reconcoiled.
Over 19,000 Bees are held as prisoners of war. This rather exceeds some estimate made prior to the beginning of the war of the total force the bees could put in the field. Yet there are still at least 500,000 men fighting with energy and sometimes with sacrifice. It is not impossible that a few, in such a case, would double the force. While no large number of bee-keepers are being cared for in prison camps, the British authorities are taking care of a few. A number of a much larger number of them, who are held in the same camps, are being cared for in the same camps. They have been taken from their homes and are being held in the same camps. They have been taken from their homes and are being held in the same camps.

NEW WOMAN IN WASHINGTON.

Wife of Sidney Hay from Turkey Paper as at Capital.
The ladies of the Turkish legation have not hitherto taken any part in the social life of the capital. Mrs. Feris, wife of the recently recalled Turkish minister was an orthodox Mahometan woman, and received only a few women wives of diplomats, and men at all. She drove out once in a while, and visited the eye, and shrouded in a long black coat. Her only companion was her younger sister, who, by several marriages, was a sultan, accompanied her to this country. Neither woman would have been any less of adopting American customs. Feris had a successor, Shek-Id Bey, it is reported to be a widower. At all events he is unannounced with Wamsukin. The second secretary, Sidney Hay, has a wife however, and a charming one who promises to be an extreme popular in the diplomatic set. She is an Armenian, and consequently a kind of a Christian. She is tall and slender, with a mass of jet black hair and dark eyes. Mrs. Sid is, as she is called, was educated in the United States. She is a native of New York, and is a native of New York.
