INDIGNANT DANIEL.

He Denies the Allegation and Tells What is What.

He Gets the Usual Reward of a Man Who Works for a Public Good.

During the past 10 days gossip has been circulating the story of how D. L. Davis had converted the financial end of the state on proposition into a private snipe, and was the other, by at least $100 for having got out and hustled for the cause. The report had acquired such circulation by Saturday that Mr. Davis could no longer remain quiet, and gave to the public daily the following communication, which makes his position plain to all.

Editor of Press: It is seldom one should be compelled to use the press to vindicate character or to state gossip and news. I have characterized it would remain silent. It is this case, however, that some persons seem to have been busy the past week in circulating a story that I had been endeavoring the state funds, and that I presented a bill for the same to the legislature. I have no such bill, and I have no such funds. I have no such bill, and I have no such funds. I have no such bill, and I have no such funds.

When I presented a bill to the legislature, it was not for the purpose of bettering the condition of the state, but for the purpose of bettering the condition of the state. I have no such bill, and I have no such funds. I have no such bill, and I have no such funds. I have no such bill, and I have no such funds.

Good Painter--Good Paint.

Wes Faunt and his partners have just finished painting the state fair, grand stand at Pontiac Fair grounds. The Detroit White Lead Works are furnishing the paint for the buildings and proposed to furnish labor on painting the grand stand at they could pick up their pointer to do the work and that is how Mr. Faunt was given the job. The building is 184 feet long, painted inside and out and a sign on the most prominent side of the building, calling attention to the fact that the building is painted with the Detroit White Lead Works Best Liquid Paint. We say that he has used this brand of paint for 10 years and that it is the best in the world. He has a facility of making everyone he comes in contact with think the same as he does in reference to this particular point. The building looks fine white as marble, and the glass is enough to knock you over.
