The Best Liniment for Strains.

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with quick relief and cure effected." For sale by Whitehead & Mitchell.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened to many of our subscribers in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of rheumatism and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using it a few days, I was cured according to directions and with such satisfactory results. This trouble was controlled much quicker than I had ever before experienced. I used other remedies, but they did not help me. I am now well and in good health. I can do my work as usual." For sale by Whitehead & Mitchell.

Mystery of Lost Sounds

An eminent scientist noticing the mysterious way in which sounds sometimes are lost in space recently undertook an interesting experiment in a balloon. He found that while still within talking distance of earth the sound of the human voice was quenched in the mere indistinguishable hum of the human life. Eals is a name that is used by many people, and it is important to know what it means.

Estates For Orphan's Benefit

The will of Dr. George W. Hamsey, who died in Washington, Pa., a few years ago, is one of the most remarkable documents of the kind ever placed on file in a court. A valuable landed estate is held in trust for his grandsons. At her death the estate reverts to the corporation of Washington county, Pennsylvania, to be held in trust for some such primitive orphan fund of 14 years of age who are descended from the father of the testator. After 200 years the orphan fund is to become beneficiaries under this provision, the same as literal descendants. The estate will undoubtedly be very valuable in 2102.
