

THE MAID OF MADEN LALE

Sequel to "The Bow of Orange Ribbon"

A LOVE STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

Copyright, 1910, by Amelia E. Barr

CHAPTER VIII.—(Continued.)

Without a pause, without an exclamation, she had transferred from the letter to the maid of Maden Lale. With a gasp she felt the girl's fingers close about her neck, and she was aware of a hand upon her shoulder, and of a voice that spoke to her in the same manner as before. But she was not startled. Her eyes were fixed upon the girl's face, and she was looking at her with a certain respect, a certain reverence, a certain awe.

"Your letter has given me very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. It always will be so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

"Cornelia Moray," she said, "and while you are writing for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant. My dear and honored friend," she said, "I have given you very great sorrow. You must have known for many weeks, even months, that marriage between us was impossible. It has always been so. I grieve at your going away, I pray that your absence may bring you some consolation. Do not, I beg you, try to call on my father. I have written out explanations. I tell you very sincerely, such a call will cause me great trouble, for you know well a girl must tread somewhat of a thorny path when in her disposal. Please to give your father my love, as never written with a sad sense of the pain my words must cause you. I remain for all time your faithful friend and obedient servant.

Method of Treating Animals.

The discovery that the terrible "foot and mouth disease" has been its ravages among the cattle of the New England States every means has been utilized to stamp out the plague and prevent it from spreading to other herds, the state and national departments of agriculture co-operating with the farmers in this work. The apparatus now illustrated, the recent invention of Andrew Nimmo of Groton, Mass., may be of considerable service in the treatment of infected animals. The purpose of the device is to immerse the animal in a bath, thus destroying any over-parasitic growths may have found lodgment to the action of the liquid. This itself would destroy many of the bacteria, but the inventor goes farther in his work and applies the current of electricity to complete the treatment by destroying any parasites which may have found lodgment to the action of the liquid. This itself would destroy many of the bacteria, but the inventor goes farther in his work and applies the current of electricity to complete the treatment by destroying any parasites which may have found lodgment to the action of the liquid.

Wasp and Spiders.

In a very interesting account of spider life, the writer describes the ruthless destruction by the ichneumon fly and by certain wasps. The young of some wasps can give the host a very poisonous sting, but they can also give a very powerful sting. They therefore, render the spiders powerless by her sting—after which they can live a month—and then deposit their eggs in the spider. The wasp which has been placed here, on hatching out of the wasp grub, feeds on the bodies of the living spiders. Another wasp which has been placed here, on hatching out of the wasp grub, feeds on the bodies of the living spiders.

Electric Bath to Kill Disease Germs.

Which has survived the bath. The liquid probably need not be so weak as the good electric current, but the current without injury to the animal. In applying the treatment, the animal is first driven into the bath in a very small tank, which is then closed. A metallic pole or fork is then placed over the neck with a wire leading from the end of the fork back to a battery to receive the return current, the animal's head being forced under the surface of the liquid for an instant to allow the current to act on each part of the skin.

New Method of Observing Stars.

has now been devised to obtain steady images of the sun and stars was adopted by Prof. Langley with the reflector of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, which the inventor has also equally efficacious when used with refractors. Generally the point aimed at in previous attempts to obtain steady images of the sun and stars was the object itself, but the new method of observation is now being used to obtain steady images of the sun and stars.

PUT LINCOLN IN OFFICE.

Only Two Survivors of the Illinois Election.

As the Hon. William Pitt Kellogg, former Senator from Louisiana, and Judge Lawrence Welton of the Court of Claims, gave such a good account of themselves in the lobby of the Sherman yesterday, the interesting fact was recalled that these two men are the only survivors of the Illinois election. The other candidates were either killed or wounded.

Smoothing Device for Silk.

To the average person the silk hat is a mystery. It is not a mystery, however, to the inventor of the smoothing device, who has had the hat in his possession long that he can smooth it as well as the hat maker. The hat is smoothed by passing it over a heated surface, which is kept at the temperature of the hat.

ONE THEORY OF VOLCANES.

Scientist Publishes Book Concerning West Indian Outbreaks.

Dr. Tempest Anderson, who has been visiting in the West Indies, has published an interesting volume on the subject of volcanoes. He has given a very accurate account of the actual causes of the outbreaks, according to the London Convention, but he has also given a very accurate account of the actual causes of the outbreaks, according to the London Convention.

New Use for the Hot-Water Bag.

lasting gloves under this treatment and, too, without any danger of scalding. The hot-water bag, partially filled with rubber gas, can be used for a variety of purposes.

Why are the Feathers of doves and pigeons iridescent?

The explanation has been given by Dr. J. J. Langley of the University of Cambridge. He has found that the feathers of doves and pigeons are iridescent because of the structure of the feathers.

Real Estate Exchange

Of Whitehead & Mitchell at the Exchange Bank, Birmingham, Mich.

The following is a partial list of farms, city and village lots and real estate generally which we have for sale. As our list is constantly changing, we request that parties will write us if they do not see what they want in this list:

1. John McFarland has a fine little farm of 1/2 acre, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $1,000.00.

2. A farm of 10 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $1,500.00.

3. A farm of 20 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $2,000.00.

4. A farm of 30 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $2,500.00.

5. A farm of 40 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $3,000.00.

6. A farm of 50 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $3,500.00.

7. A farm of 60 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $4,000.00.

8. A farm of 70 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $4,500.00.

9. A farm of 80 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $5,000.00.

10. A farm of 90 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $5,500.00.

11. A farm of 100 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $6,000.00.

12. A farm of 110 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $6,500.00.

13. A farm of 120 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $7,000.00.

14. A farm of 130 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $7,500.00.

15. A farm of 140 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $8,000.00.

16. A farm of 150 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $8,500.00.

17. A farm of 160 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $9,000.00.

18. A farm of 170 acres, with a good house and a well, and a beautiful view of the city. Price $9,500.00.