"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Hayder, of Patuxent Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me. It is the house all the time for it went in.'" For sale by Walbehead & Mitchell.

KNOW WHEN TO QUIT.

Judge Promptly Saw the Point in Politician's Lot.

One of the most hospitable citizens of Blount Falls was Judge Fuller of the Supreme Court. He was introduced to the following incident of his career:

The judges made a strong campaign to get the legislature to raise their salaries. The bill met with great opposition. Judge Fuller, who had no small political influence, went up to Pierre to see about it. He was met by one of the leaders of the party.

"How about this thing?" said the judge.

"Judge," said the other politician, "you better drop this salary business. I tell you as a friend, you don't want to go through it. It is not to your interest."

"Why ain't it?"

"Don't you see, Judge," explained the politician, "that if we put the salaries of the judges up to the figure you want, the lawyers will turn around and elect real lawyers to the bench."

The point of the story is that the judge dropped this amendment at once.—New York Sun.

A REMNANT OF OLD NEWGATE.

Where Savage Torture Was Inflicted in Ancient Times.

The part of the wall of the main structure—and which yet remains—was the press yard. Here it was that pelme forte et dure was inflicted upon prisoners charged with felony who, with the view of saving their property from confiscation, refused to plead at the bar. This dreadful punishment, being pressed to death, was, however, abolished in 1772. A Major Strangways, who was indicted for murder, having refused to plead, was pressed to death, and died in eight minutes, and many of those who witnessed the dreadful sight threw stones at him to hasten his end.

Bear Worshipers in Japan.

The oldest and perhaps the oldest order of the earth are the Ainos, the bear idolaters, who are found in the Japanese islands of Koriyris, Sakhalino and chiefly in Yezo or Honshu. They number not more than 18,000 souls in all and they are fast disappearing. They have the broad nose and the oblique eyes which characterize the Chinese and Asiatic races generally, but there the resemblance ends. The Ainos are a large and powerful people, after which they are called. Those about them, who All the Ainos declare they sprang from the Great White Dog—the bear—and a princess of the south. The bear is their chief god.

An Old Lady's Discovery.

Garnett, Ark., 18th.—For 18 years Mrs. Mary Dunlop of this place has suffered with kidney trouble, which she had at times in the Ainos, made her life a burden. She tried much medicine and many treatments, but got no better.

She had, however, a perfect remedy, and she is so pleased at the wonderful cure she herself has received, that she is telling it to her friends and praising the medicine to everyone she meets.

The name of this medicine is Doan's Kidney Pills, and it does wonderful work for Mrs. Dunlop.

Everybody is talking about it, and some people are claiming to have been cured of Rheumatism by it.

A Mrs. Garrett who lives in Brazil, this state, was at the point of death with some terrible kidney trouble and was saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

It is certain that no other medicine ever introduced here has done so much good in such a short time.

Had Missed Him.

When a shot was fired in the wings of an opera-house during the third act of "Carmen" on Zelle de Lusan's night in San Francisco a disappointed spectator, who considered Tenney's Don Jose about "the limit," remarked with a sigh of relief, "Thank God." Those about him, who shared his feelings, snickered sympathetically. But their smiles were turned to peals of laughter when Don Jose presently looked up, serenely, and the talkative was exclaimed triumphantly: "Ye gods, her aim was bad. She missed him!"

Why There Are So Many Masons.

A little girl tells what she knows about King Solomon in the following essay: King Solomon was a man who lived over so long ago and in the country in which he governed he was the whole thing. King Solomon built Solomon's temple and was the father of all the Masons. He had 700 wives and 2000 children and that is why there are so many Masons in the world."

J. Pierpont Morgan is reported to have lost heavily in a Havana gambling establishment. This only emphasizes the fact that it is useless to try to beat a gambling house at its own game. If Morgan can't do it what hope is there for a dry goods clerk?
