HOLDS AN AMERICAN DEGREE

Leader of Chinese Rebels Educated in United States.

Letters received from Roy S. Anderson, son of Dr. David L. Anderson, the well known Methodist missionary to China, who now holds the chair of English in Soochow university, Soochow, China, states that great uneasiness is felt over the recent Boxer disturbances in the province of Kwangsi, where the rebels are being led by Sun Vun, a Chinaman who was educated in America, holding an M. D. degree from an American university.

Mr. Anderson writes:

"We are all in a stir out here in the Orient over the war and the recent disturbances in the province of Kwangsi. The Chinese in that province have rebelled against the government troops, and the government troops have surrendered right along voluntarily—so it goes in China. Here is a Chinese proverb: 'I am a soldier when I am a soldier and I am a robber when I am not a soldier.' This is the literal translation which, of course, seems crude, yet you can tell what I am driving at.

"The rebels are being led by Sun Vun, a returned student from the United States. He received the degree of M. D. while in the states. He was called to Kwangsi about three weeks ago, and the rebels elected him their leader by a unanimous vote. I really don't know what the outcome of it will be, but it seems now to be affecting a good many parts of China that seem to be 'raw.'"—Atlanta Constitution.

Had Laugh on Lawyer.

Our celestial friends are quiet and undemonstrative, but they often hit something besides the pipe, remarks the Boston Budget.

In one of our courts not long since a Chinaman was on the witness stand, and the lawyer who was examining him said:

"Who was with you when you made this visit?"

"Sam Sing," replied the heathen Chinee with a smile that was childlike and bland.

"Where is he to be found now?" was the next question.

"Light here," was the answer. "Me an Sam Sing."

The man of law had forgotten the name of the witness, and there was a general jitter at his failure of memory, which he good naturedly joined in himself.

Rage for Colored Footwear.

The rage for color has certainly grown much of late. Why, a few years ago we should have positively shuddered at the idea of wearing bright colored hose and shoes, even with evening toilets, but now for such occasions we may fairly revel in the choice of "chaussure," emerald green pale blue and bright red being all permissible. Of the bad effects of dyed stockings on the feet one hears nothing, yet I know in many cases they are productive of distinctly unpleasant effects, and even black stockings are always safer if having white feet.—London Daily News.

GROWTH OF EUCALYPTUS TREE

Shot Up Nearly Twenty Feet in a Year and a Half.

A tree which grew nearly twenty feet in a year and a half has just gone from the experimental station in Santa Monica Canon to the World's Fair to show what California can do when in a hurry for a place in the shade.

It holds the championship long-distance tree sprinting record of the United States.

It is a variety of eucalyptus. A small grove of these trees was planted on a shaggy cliff back of the experimental station, where it seemed as though no tree could grow at all. But the rate at which they have shot up under skillful attention almost staggers belief.

When this particular tree was about a year and a half old it measured four inches in diameter. They had to pull it up for fear it would break the Santa Monica speed ordinance.

In order to get it safely to the fair the whole tree was carefully packed in mosses and soaked cloths.—Los Angeles Times.

A Graceful Compliment.

Friends of Richard Mansfield are resting the graceful compliment that was paid to him recently by a Birmingham theatrical manager visiting New York.

The Englishman was describing to Mr. Mansfield a theater that had just been completed in Birmingham.

"How many will the theater hold?" Mr. Mansfield asked.

"I could tell you to a shilling," said the Englishman, "if you would play 'Napoleon' in it."

JULEP IS OF ANCIENT ORIGIN.

Fragrant Concoction Can Be Traced Back Many Centuries.

Julep is of very ancient origin, reriving visions of the great Haroun al Raschid, who quaffed from his golden bowl a distillation of gul—as, i. e., gul, a rose—ab, from a distillation of rose water which, after its transition through Latin countries is met again in France as Juleppe; then later, deprived of its double p and e by the Saxon, ever impatient of unnecessary luggage, it becomes plain julep, a concoction of brandy and water flavored with pungent herbs. Although mint julep has become peculiarly an American patronymic, it must have come from England. Some twenty-five years ago an Englishman near a Western city in whose nostrils lingered the memory of mint and julep, sent back to the garden of his boyhood for roots from his old mint bed in Essex, and soon had its rival flourishing about his cistern where by family law it received all the refuse water from libations for thirsty drinkers. The reminiscences inspired by this exotic combined with good old Kentucky bourbon or rye were hardly eclipsed by the mint juleps of Virginia's Sambo.

LITERARY CLUB MEETING.

The Literary club met with Mrs. Hemenway last Monday afternoon with 27 ladies present.

Mrs. Beardslee read a paper on Myth and Early Legends of Japan. Mrs. McClellan a paper on Shintoism—a religion of Japan. Miss Gillespie gave a paper on Women on School Boards and as Truant Officers. All of the papers were instructive and interesting. The odd Japanese devices on fans and screens take on a meaning when seen in connection with their legends and religious beliefs.

In the last paper the writer gave a sketch of the work done by women on school boards in the different towns and villages, and also an account of a woman as truant officer in the very worst district of New York City. How she worked for the children and with the parents, helping, encouraging, and making the unfortunates have faith in themselves. Colorado, too, boasts that the best truant officer in the whole state is a woman.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.
