

Way no one drove takes in the path of the happy couple who were married in an automobile.

On raising the lid of the Panama topot no tempest worth mentioning has been disclosed.

Young couples who are married in automobiles are always exposed to the danger of an early falling out.

Portugal has a new cabinet, but Portugal is too orderly to have any right to expect to attract public attention.

The woman who has posed as the late Jay Gould's widow continues to defecate frequently, and the mourners are few.

Reginald Vanderbilt paid $650 for a box at the Chicago horse show. He could have got a pretty good horse for that.

As a discourager of the toll worth the Guatemala ant is acknowledged to be one of the worst failures of the season.

Old-fashioned marriages were made in heaven. A marriage ceremony recently was performed over the telephone.

It appears that most of the nations are willing to have another Hague conference if it is possible not to interfere in their affairs.

A Chicago park visitor gave a monkey several drinks of whisky. The monkey should resist this foul attempt to make a man of him.

Now that Boston has set the seal of critical approval on "Parafal," the late Dr. Wagner has indeed good reason to feel spiritually encouraged.

Some scientist will happen along presently to tell us that the Japanese are so healthy because they take a form of salutation is unknown in Japan.

The women at the St. Paul party who allowed their hostess's husband to examine their stockings in search for missing money are not his stockings.

The governor of Guam announces that he will soon meet some monks. Over the mountains in the climate they will continue to get along without trousers.

Emperor William says art is partly a devious road that leads far away from the true field of geometry. He must have been looking over some horse show posters.

A scientist of Sicily announces that breathing coal dust will cure consumption. Why didn't he discover a cure that would be within reach of the patient of moderate means?

In accordance with his previously expressed wish, no women were allowed at the funeral of Col. Boyd at Narragansett. We wonder if any woman regrets that he is dead.

A wild rumor has gained credence to the effect that Gen. Paul Kruger buried a lot of gold somewhere in Africa before his banishment. No doubt the Boers will bore for it.

Jealousy caused a Nyack, N. Y., boy 2½ years of age to murder a little girl. Still some people don't believe that anything is the claim that a man is old and worn out at 25.

A man tells us that no great success is ever achieved in life by kicking. If he will accompany us to the football field in a few weeks we will compel him to change his tune.

Bandit Raisuli has caused it to be known that he would like to capture another foreigner. He will be happy to have a chance. The brevity of Perdiciari's case shows that it doesn't pay.

Our grandfathers used to claim that if they were a poison it was a very good one. But nowadays when the chief ingredient of whisky appears to be wood alcohol the action is somewhat accelerated.

Jacques Marie Joseph Maurice des Rovers de Balaine took out naturalization papers in New York the other day. He'd better cut a lot of it out if he expects to keep up with the procession over here.

The clergymen of the country have been asked to preach on the subject of peace, and many of them are coming. The sermons may stop the war, but they ought to have a good effect on the choirs.

Just as it is well that all men don't want the same woman for a wife, so it is fortunate that the man who is crazy about baseball doesn't make the same vivid interest in the game. Otherwise the work of the world never would be done.

The London Times reports that there is a serious overproduction of Scotch whisky, with a consequent depression in price. It is to be hoped, however, prevent the general sale of counterfeit Scotch whisky at the usual prices over here.

In announcing that a Toronto girl has received a proposal of marriage from a Toronto clerk she is not in her travels, a dispatch to that city says: "Needless to say that, though the offer was accompanied by a beautiful picture of the girl, it will not be accepted."

The Pennsylvania railroad, capital stock $100,000,000, has a dividend of 4 per cent for the year ending at the close of the year. We hope the loss of the croaker will not cause the company to pass a dividend.
