"I admit that I hit the plaintiff," said Subbuba, "and I'd do it again if I could."

"Come! Come!" interrupted the magistrate, "don't talk that way."

"Judge, I was down in my cellar last night, trying to coax the furnace to give out some heat. In the midst of my work the bell rang and I had to answer it. When I opened the door this man stepped in and tried to sell me a patent fire extinguisher!"

"What business is papa in, mama?" asked little Hobbie.

"Why, he's in the hardware business, my boy."

"And does he sell cockroaches, mama?"

"Why, Robb! What a question! Of course, he doesn't!"

"Well, he's got a sign on the store window which reads: 'We sell everything to be found in the kitchen.'"

Philosophy.

The Rejected One—Jilted, flitted, for broke with a penny cigar.

The Cynic—William, my dear Al, gordon, are all alike—Half Holiday.

Male Moon Gazers, Beware. "Ab!" sighed the sentimental maid, "I could sigh and gaze at the moon for hours."

"Would that I were the man in it," said the cold youth who was helping her to hold down the rustic seat on the lawn.

"Same here," she replied, wearily. "Then you would be nearly 210,000 miles away."

Of the Funny Man! "Klumsy," it always worries me to go into a china store. I'm always afraid of breaking something.

Jockey—Me, too. I went into one the other day to buy a wedding present and broke something worth $20. Klumsy—You don't say so? What was it?

Jockey—A twenty-dollar note.

Lacked Originality. He (after the engagement)—And am I really and truly the only man you ever liked?

She—Why, of course you are, you dear old lump of stupidity.

He—Why do you call me that? She—Because you are not original. At least a dozen men have asked me the very same question.

Sing Him Up. "Very well, you may make a suit for me," said Slopay, "but how long will it take you?"

"About a week," replied the tailor. "Positively! A friend of mine who recommended me here told me you seldom delivered suits on time."

C. O. D. "Real Nerve. Binkers—Could you lend me your racing auto for the afternoon, old chap?"

Tonter—Why—of—yes. He—Could you lend me the price of a couple of fines or so?—Puck.

Dissenting Opinion.

"Fleyleigh had hard luck with his sheep."

"How was that?"

"It was fine. As he layed to bed, he got up and went to the barnyard of a farmer who made him his sheep. He was worth for the flock he'd give it up."

"How was that?"

As it Should Be. He had just proposed, but his poverty was too much of a handicap.

"A man without money," she said, "might as well walk back and sit down."

"O, of course," he rejoined. "He naturally wouldn't be in a position to ride back."

BEWARE OF FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR. On account of the great merit and popularity of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR for Coughs, Colds, and Lung Trouble, several manufacturers are advertising imitations with similar sounding names with the view of profiting by the favorably known reputation of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR.

DO NOT BE IMPOSED UPON. We originated HONEY AND TAR as a Throat and Lung Remedy and unless you get FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR you do not get the original and genuine. Remember the name and insist upon having FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR. Do not risk your life or health by taking imitations, which cost you the same as the genuine. FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR is put up in three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00. Prepared only by FOLEY & CO., 92-94-96 Ohio Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Never in the history of this store, said one of the above druggists to a representative of a wholesale house, has there been so great a demand for a new remedy as there is just now for PEP-SIKO-LA.

Birmingham people are coming in every day inquiring if it is really true that we sell PEP-SIKO-LA with the understanding it will cure dyspepsia or pay back its money. Of course this guarantee plan is little unusual, but we do just as we agree and we will hand back your quarter without any argument if you are not decidedly benefited.

Apple Tree's Strange Freak. An apple tree in the garden of Van N. Buss in Plymouth, N. H., bears on one side half-wax apples and on the other russets, while in the center are apples grown of a mixture of both varieties, equal prices. This tree was never grafted with any kind of fruit.

Renounces Wealth for Sentiment. Michael MacMahon, of St. Louis politician who died there last week, was strenuous in his philanthropy last week. On arriving from Washington he was driven to the University club where he attended a luncheon in his honor. Immediately thereafter he proceeded to Temple college, where the degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him. In the evening he died at the home of Joseph Lindley and later attended a reception at the Penn club, where he greeted several hundred prominent residents of the Quaker city.

Smallest Dog in Kentucky. This black and tan belong to George Thies of Coryville. It is three years of age and weighs but a little over one pound.

Put in One Strenuous Day. Pastor Charles Wagner, advocate of single life, put in at least one strenuous day in Philadelphia last week. On arriving from Washington he was driven to the University club where he attended a luncheon in his honor. Immediately thereafter he proceeded to Temple college, where the degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him. In the evening he died at the home of Joseph Lindley and later attended a reception at the Penn club, where he greeted several hundred prominent residents of the Quaker city.

Millionaire Lumberman Dies. Saginaw, Mich., special: Isaac Bearinger, a millionaire lumberman of this city, who also had large interests in Nova Scotia and in the iron mining industry of Minnesota, died suddenly of heart disease at Imley City.
